Mrs. Clark Stolid; Pastor Tells Story

Today

An Annoying Atheist.
Mr. Rosenwald's Gifts.
N. Y. to L. A. in 47 Hours.
Pictures and Voice.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

(Copyright, 1928.)

THE Rev. Dr. Straton complained of C. L. Smith, and he, who calls himself an atheist, convicted of annoying a clergyman, will be sentenced to fine or imprisonment. He might, but probably won't, be sentenced to three years in jail.

A FEW years ago he would have been burned alive, not for annoying a clergyman, but for insulting God.

We treat atheists more mildly now, perhaps on the theory that if God wanted them burned, He would do it Himself.

THE success of the individual is often the good fortune of the many.

Julius Rosenwald, who began with a public school education, courage and the desire to help others, has established a fund "for the benefit of humanity," recently adding $2,000,000 to other gifts, now in excess of $20,000,000.

Mr. Rosenwald gives the money to trustees for the public benefit, and imposes only one condition, "that all the money shall be spent, principal and interest, within 25 years of Mr. Rosenwald's death."

May that death be long postponed.

GEN. ATTERBURY, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, cooperating with President Storey, of the Santa Fe, will make flying a part of regular travel across the continent.

The plan, using airplanes by day and Pullman cars at night, mentioned in this column a couple of weeks ago, has been fully elaborated.

THE Atlantic to Pacific traveler will take a fast Pennsylvania train in New York at 6 p. m. and next morning at Columbus, O., change to an airplane, flying 100 miles an hour all day, with Fred Harvey feeding him.

At Wichita, Kan., he will board a Santa Fe sleeping car. Next morning in New Mexico another airplane will take him to Los Angeles, arriving at 5 that afternoon.

Two nights in a sleeper, two days in a flying machine. Next will come the 10-hour hop from the Atlantic to the Pacific, with no change.

MOVING picture enthusiasts will soon have sound with their pictures. Actors will talk and sing on the screen and news reels will enable crowds to see and HEAR what happens.

Moving picture actors will need good voices as well as beautiful teeth, faces, legs and hair.

Soon the actor without a good voice will be a moving picture actor no longer.

WILLIAM FOX and his "movietone," aided by Walter S. Gifford, of the big telephone company, and Mr. Bloom, of the Western Electric, have convinced the moving picture industry that moving pictures in future will require "sound and fury."

Various changes will come, actors with good voices will be imported to Hollywood or moving picture studios will be transferred to places where good voices can be found.

NEW YORK state has signed a check for $33,723,734, the biggest ever drawn by the richest state. The best part of it is that the money will be spent for public schools.

Not long ago every state spent more for prisons than for public schools, and nothing at all for public libraries. There is progress.

ART objects, from the bronze age, and pottery made by Philistines are dug up in Palestine.

It is impossible to realize what it meant to the human race when Egyptians discovered, probably by accident, how to get copper from ore, and went traveling over the earth in search of it.

A TERRIFIC conflagration in Rumanian oil fields includes seven wells and has caused many deaths. Forests are cut down, tunnels dug to carry away the oil. More waste.

A GIANT Japanese volcano on the island of Krakatoa, determined to attract attention, has made 7,000 eruptions in the past 24 hours.

THE British have bootleg troubles on a small scale. Whisky secretly made, costing less than $1 a gallon wholesale, is retailed at $15 a gallon. The bootleggers are Scotch. Samuel Johnson would have something to say about that.

BRITONS mourn because they have "lost $250,000,000 in antique art." They ought to rejoice because they have gained 250,000,000 modern dollars, and use some of that money to develop or revive art in their own country. They have plenty of art left, in museums and it doesn't matter whether Raphael's Madonna and Child stays in the private house of Lady Desborough, or moves to Millionaire John Snooks' home in America. In either case it is wasted.

SPAIN and Italy have a private agreement about fighting ships, and Spain votes 600,000,000 pesetas for a shipbuilding program.

OUR government will please notice that Spain will buy all materials, steel and everything else from Spanish manufacturers, not from foreigners. Uncle Sam should do the same.

MRS. HAZEL CLARK

Quizzed in death husband, Philip.

BREAKS DOWN

Mrs. Clark broke down as she answered questions about her relations with Fayette J. Tyrrell, church killer, who represented her in the divorce suit still on file in the courts.

LITTLE CHANGE

Other than her momentary breakdown, when she wept, Mrs. Clark showed little emotional change in her face during the interrogation. She retained the stolid look shown on her set features above, once-in-a-while tinged with wonderment.

FEARED TYRRELL

The Rev. J. G. Waters, pastor, First Christian Church, Munhall, feared Attorney Fayette J. Tyrrell, church killer, and until today was silent on his knowledge of incidents before the slaying. Today, he told county authorities that Tyrrell dashed from the pastor's study in the church and shot Clark after he said, "I will clean this thing up once and for all myself, and I will deal with Clark with my own hands." Thomas Thompson, the pastor's companion and chairman of the board in the church, corroborated the story.

ACCUSES TYRRELL

"I will clean this thing up once and for all myself, and I will deal with Clark with my own hands!"

With this declaration, according to the story told county authorities by the Rev. J. G. Waters, pastor of the First Christian Church, Munhall, Attorney Fayette J. Tyrrell, of Lincoln place, dashed out of the pastor's study Sunday morning into the church auditorium and shot and killed Philip Clark, of Homestead, who had threatened to expose Tyrrell before the official board.

The minister, accompanied by Thomas Thompson, chairman of the official board, who had called Tyrrell into the study for a conference on the charges Clark declared he would bring against the attorney, presented this evidence to District Attorney Samuel H.

Nobile Drops Flag

KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, May 16.—(AP.)—A steady stream of radio signals today linked Kings Bay with the dirigible Italia, now cruising in lonely majesty over the mysterious polar regions long so inhospitable to man.

The Italia has been sending hourly wireless messages to her base ship, the Citta Di Milano, at Kings Bay, telling of observations made by the dirigible.

General Umberto Nobile sent a message early this morning that the Italia had experienced an hour and a half fog and had to fly at a height of 150 meters in a 30 kilometers wind at a speed of from 30 to 40 kilometers.

At 7 o'clock this morning the Venezia flag was dropped over Tipliz Bay in honor of Francho Querieni who followed the Cagni polar expedition of 1900 and perished there.

At 8 o'clock, two-thirds of the flight had been made and the airship was then northeast of Franz Josef's sea. All aboard were well.

The dirigible was then proceeding to the east coast of Lenin land where an ice anchor will be dropped and three men put ashore on this little known land.

The Italia is expected to return to Kings Bay before Friday. Her third trip will probably be to the so-called Crocker Land, northeast of Greenland, the same land which Peary and other explorers had expected to see.

HAND IS LACERATED AS AUTOS COLLIDE

Charles Kappler, 24, of 1232 Biltmore avenue, Dormont, was injured slightly this morning when his automobile collided with the machine of Howard Bleckner, 25, of 2240 Brownsville avenue, in Wylie avenue, at Tunnel street. Kappler was treated for a lacerated left hand at the Mercy Hospital. Both men were arrested on reckless driving charges.

MRS. REA DIVORCED

Mrs. Margaret Moorhead Rea has been granted a divorce from Henry Oliver Rea, millionaire clubman, of Sewickley Heights.

Papers in the case are missing, but the words "divorce granted" were entered today on the prothonotary's record. A divorce recently was recommended by Attorney George E. Alter, appointed as master by Judge James B. Drew.

The Reas, leaders in society circles of Sewickley, were married August 21, 1921. Mrs. Rea filed suit for divorce November 23, 1927, alleging cruel and barbarous treatment.

ATTACKER GUARDED; WOMEN FAINT

Two women collapsed in Morals Court today during the arraignment of Stanley Martin, Negro, 17-year-old "terror" who confessed to attacking or robbing 44 women in the streets during the last 12 months.

A guard of 15 policemen and detectives was spread about the courtroom, which was crowded with relatives of Martin's victims. Two of them were ejected when they moved towards the prisoner.

Mrs. William Goulder, of 1535 Brighton road, fainted while her daughter, Violet Goulder, 16, was testifying of the attack Martin admitted making on her.

While she was telling how the defendant attacked her, Mrs. T. H. McDonough, of 4926 Glenwood avenue, collapsed in front of the bench.

Others who testified Martin beat and tried to rob them were Mrs. John Harvey, 28, of 2508 Wyandotte street; Mrs. Agnes Emal, 24, of 6034 Hoeveler street, and Mrs. Anna Glover, 42, of 164 Georgetown avenue, West View.

Martin was held for court.

Prohibition Here At Last; Probe Does It

If the federal grand jury inquiring into illicit liquor traffic here does nothing else, it seems to be "drying" up the city.

Pittsburgh's booze dives are closing. Instead of rum, the runners are running near-beer soft drinks or nothing. It looks, one racketeer explained today, like prohibition. Last week the cautious booze dispensers locked up shop and threw away the keys. Since, others have followed.

RUM PROBE HITS HILL, "STRIP;" SPREADS

The federal probe of Pittsburgh's booze boodle spread from the North and South Sides to the Hill district, East End, Lawrenceville and "The Strip" today, when government representatives started for the police stations in those districts to investigate liquor arrests.

This move follows by 24 hours the serving of subpenas on Mayor Kline, Public Safety Director James M. Clark, Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh and seven city magistrates calling upon them to produce for the federal grand jury police records which would show what disposition the city has made of booze venders.

MAYOR PROTESTS

With Clark, Mayor Kline surprised observers by appearing in Federal Court today and describing the subpena as "vague, indefinite and impossible of performance." A petition which City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt presented for the city officials stated "a truck would be necessary to bring in the records asked for."

However, friction was avoided when counsel for the city and the government agreed that the federal grand jury, which is hearing the inside story of Pittsburgh's rum ring, should have access to any police records needed.

FAILS TO EXPLAIN

There was no explanation from United States Attorney John D. Meyer's office as to why the city records were needed in the federal probe, which is said to involve politicians and police, but the presumption was that in the testimony of the several hundred North Side and South Side witnesses who have already been called there were allusions—at least allusions—to arrests of certain booze venders.

The grand jurors continued today to listen to the revelations of bartenders, proprietors of rum joints and other witnesses from the north and south ends of the city. Yesterday 75 witnesses, including several women, paraded in, most of them from the South Side, a few from the North Side.

Pittsburgher Berates Actor, Stirs Theater Uproar; Seized as Maniac

ALBANY, N. Y., May 16.

A MAN whom police termed a religious maniac was locked up last night on a technical charge of vagrancy after he had created a scene in the Capitol Theater. He gave his name as Vincent Frost of Pittsburgh.

MARGARET ANGLIN

The man arose from a seat in the rear of the theater and, walking down the center aisle, began abusing one of the actors. He demanded the appearance of Margaret Anglin, a member of the cast. Several men in the audience forced him into the lobby where he was placed under arrest.

Vincent Frost lives at 2428 Colorado street, North Side. At the home today it was stated he had left Pittsburgh several days ago looking for work. Members of the family had not heard from him and did not know that he was in Albany, but declared the man who created a scene in the theater there probably was the same man.

"He always did act a little queer," declared a sister.

Dog Bites Kind Hands

HIT BY BRICK

While rendering aid to their pet dog, struck by a brick, Mrs. Aida Voorhees, 315 Madison avenue, and her son, James, 8, were bitten. The wounds were attended at Allegheny General Hospital and the dog shot by police, who are searching for the boys who are alleged to have hit the dog.

WOMAN SLAIN IN HOME

Mrs. Mary Komatz, 45, known as Mary Thomas, was shot and killed in the kitchen of her home in Epton, Snowden township, today. Her body was discovered by her husband, John Komatz, who, finding the door locked, broke it down. Her assailant had fired a bullet into the base of her head as she washed bottles at the kitchen sink.

County Detective Michael Stablie, investigating the case, could find no motive for the crime. A neighbor heard two shots, but paid no attention to them, a short time before the body was found.

After killing the woman her assailant locked the door and fled without being seen.

24 DANCE IN 3RD DAY OF DERBY

UNIONTOWN, May 16.—Sixty-two hours after the start of the dance marathon in the Gallatin Gardens 12 couples were going strong at 3 p. m. today, only six couples having dropped out since the dancers began their task at 1 a. m. Monday.

The 24 seemed fresh and strong when the sixty-second hour was passed at 3 o'clock. Miss Cora Dean and Al Bonach, Pittsburgh, who danced a dead heat with two other couples in the recent marathon in Pittsburgh, were visitors here last night and danced for more than an hour with the contestants.

Samuel Wirkman, 62, the oldest dancer, was forced out of the race during the night through the illness of his partner, Miss Elizabeth Orabitz. Wirkman, a Waltersburg store keeper, had planned to dance with his daughter, Sara, but she failed to last through the first hour and a substitute was procured. Wirkman continued on the floor for two hours after his partner failed to respond to the bell, hoping that some other partner could be secured through the failure of a male participant to continue.

GIRL'S FIGHT TO SAVE SUICIDE IS FUTILE

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., May 16.—Miss Roselyn Pryce, society editor of a local paper, made a valiant but futile effort to prevent an unidentified man from leaping to his death from the Crawford avenue bridge into the Youghiogheny River at 1:15 a. m. today. She leaped from her automobile and grabbed him by the coat-tails but he fought her off and plunged into the stream. The river is being dragged today for the body of the victim, about 65.

PASTOR BARES SHOOTING

Gardner and Chief County Detective George W. Murren at the courthouse this morning.

PASTOR'S STORY

According to the minister's story, corroborated by Thompson, detectives say, Clark visited the church about a half hour before the shooting occurred and talked with Thompson. Thompson said, according to detectives, Clark wanted to get up before the Sunday school of which Tyrell was superintendent, and expose the attorney publicly.

Clark appeared at the meeting with a stenographer, and was angry when Tyrrel did not appear, detectives say the churchman told them. He left the meeting in a rage and efforts to get Tyrrel and Clark together failed until last Sunday when the shooting occurred, the churchman reported. At the conclusion of their statement to the district attorney both churchmen were subpenaed as witnesses for the coroner's inquest on Friday at 10 a. m. Mrs. Clark, widow of the man and eight others have been subpenaed. Mrs. Clark's 9-year-old son, present at the shooting, will not be called.

Thompson told the detectives he persuaded Clark to wait and bring his charges before the official board at a special session to be called immediately after Sunday school. The minister and Thompson then went into conference on the matter, they said, and called Tyrrell in to tell him of Clark's intentions.

Tyrrell flew into a rage, the minister and Thompson told the detectives, and accused them both of siding with Clark. The pastor said Tyrrell accused him of aiding Clark in bringing the charges, detectives say.

It was at this juncture that Tyrrell is alleged to have made the declaration that he "would clean this thing up." Mr. Waters told the detectives he attempted to leave the study and Tyrrell jumped to the door, placing his back against it and refusing to allow the pastor to leave.

The minister said he ran to another door and made his way to the basement, intending to go for a policeman, fearing trouble. Upon questioning by the detectives, he said he did not know for certain that Tyrrell carried a weapon, but he suspected that he did.

Both Thompson and Waters told detectives that Clark repeatedly had told them Tyrrell was unfit to be a church official and he was going to denounce him publicly, as he "had used undue influence as an attorney in breaking up his home and persuading Mrs. Clark to file divorce papers." They declared, according to detectives, that Clark never specifically mentioned any act of misconduct between Tyrrell and Clark's wife, but had repeatedly said he had "the goods on Tyrrell," but, when asked what "the goods" were, said "on the advice of my attorney I refuse to tell what I know until the proper time."

As fa back as the latter part of February Clark, cording to the two churchmen, had agreed to come before the official board and make his charges in detail in the presence of Tyrrell. A meeting of the board was held on the first Saturday of March in the home of Elder Thompson and it was the holding of that meeting that had prevented Clark from carrying out his oft-repeated threat to make a public denunciation of Tyrrell, the detectives say they were told.

Mrs. Hazel Clark, accompanied by her 9-year-old son, Philip, Jr., unexpectedly appeared this afternoon at the funeral of her slain husband at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Clark, 202 Ann street, Homestead. Services were held by Homestead Lodge No. 582, F. & A. M., with the Rev. Waters officiating. Mrs. Clark had sought a divorce.

FINE RICH WHEELING PAIR

Two prominent Wheeling, W. Va., business men entered pleas of no defense to possessing liquor and conspiring to violate the prohibition laws and were fined by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker in Federal Court today.

Harry W. Gee, millionaire manufacturer, was fined $1,000 and Joseph A. Meagher, industrial expert for West Virginia coal operators, $200.

Twenty-six cases of whisky labeled "syrup" were seized by prohibition agents December 22, 1927, while being transported on trucks to Gee's home in Wheeling.

SENATE TO GET COAL BILL

By MAX HENRICI,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The mine relief bill proposed by the United Mine Workers of America was introduced in the Senate today. Its provisions are far-reaching. Principal ones are:

Creation of a bituminous coal commission.

Co-operative marketing.

Regulation of interstate and foreign traffic in soft coal.

Permission for giant consolidations and mergers.

Regulation of railroads' fuel supply.

Licensing of corporations producing and shipping coal.

Drafted by Henry Warrum, union counsel, and his associates, the bill was presented by Senator Watson of Indiana. It will likely be referred to a sub-committee appointed by Watson.

BATTLE LINES FORM

Meanwhile Senators will study the text and form the battle lines for and against passage of the bill, generally regarded as one of the most important bits of legislation presented to the Senate in years.

The bill would create a bituminous coal commission of five members, to be appointed by the President.

It would provide further that "it shall be lawful" for coal operators "to form marketing pools and co-operative selling associations for the purpose of agreeing on the market prices of their coal," providing the commission grant a license for that purpose.

Under the bill, the commission would have authority to inquire into all matters touching the mining and shipping of bituminous coal by pools or associations, and "to fix the maximum prices which may be agreed upon or charged to the operation" of the pools or associations. The commission would also have power to change these prices from time to time.

P. R. R.-PGH. COAL FOES, SENATE TOLD

By MAX HENRICI.
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Charles D. Young, general purchasing agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad, admitted today that the road bought nonunion coal in Eastern Ohio and shipped it several hundred miles into Indiana rather than buy union-mined Indiana coal. The admission was made in testimony given before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, in its investigation of the coal strike, under cross-examination by John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers. Lewis asserted that with the cost of shipping the coal included the nonunion Eastern Ohio coal cost the Pennsylvania 28 cents a ton more than the union-mined Indiana fuel. This was not denied by Young, who declared, however, that the question was to whether the coal was produced by union or nonunion miners had nothing to do with the railroad's coal purchasing policy.

Answering the union's testimony indicating that the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Pittsburgh Coal Company worked together in many matters, Judge C. B. Heiserman, vice president and general counsel of the railroad, told the senators that if the Pennsylvania had any enemy or opponent among coal operators it was the Pittsburgh Coal Company—this, notwithstanding that the companies are interlocked through Richard B. Mellon being a director of each corporation.

At the insistence of Judge Heiserman the United Mine Workers retracted the charge that the Pennsylvania was standing 60 per cent of the loss sustained by the Monroe Mining Company in operating its Webb mine at Shadyside, O., on a nonunion basis.

In expectation that the investigation was to be concluded with Young's testimony, Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, chairman of the committee, thanked all concerned for their assistance in the inquiry and for refraining from exhibitions of animosity. After he had concluded his little speech, however, it developed that the United Mine Workers desired to introduce additional testimony concerning injunctions that have been issued against them. This announcement led E. L. Greever, attorney for the Southern West Virginia Coal Operators' Association, to say that he would want to reply to anything said on that subject by the union. Accordingly it was decided to hold another session tomorrow.

T. A. INGRAM OF INGRAM DIES

In the same room in his ancestral home in Prospect avenue, Ingram, in which he was born 74 years ago, Thomas A. Ingram, founder of the borough of that name, died yesterday. His father, Edward Ingram, settled there in 1818, and built the home in which Thomas was born.

Mr. Ingram was educated in the public schools of Ingram, Western University of Pennsylvania, now University of Pittsburgh, and Chambersburg College. He entered the City Bank of Pittsburgh in 1872, but left it shortly to engage in real estate, and two years later returned to his father's farm, where he had remained ever since. In 1922 he was married to Helen B. Killeen. He was a member of the Kennedy Episcopal Church. Other than his widow he leaves no near relatives.

Divorces Certain Prosperity Sign, Rogers' View

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal. May 16.—Somebody is always quoting figures to prove that the country is prosperous and it takes a lot of quoting, but the only real bona fide indication of it was in the papers yesterday. "Divorces in Reno have increased over 105 per cent in the last year."

Will Rogers.

Now that's prosperity. For you can't be broke and get a divorce. That's why the poor have to live with each other. There is nothing that denotes prosperity quicker than to hear that "so and so and his wife ain't getting along."

I maintain that it should cost as much to get married as it does to get divorced. Make it look like marriage is worth as much as divorce, even if it ain't.

That would also make the preachers financially independend, like it has the lawyers.

Yours for the downtrodden,
WILL ROGERS.

NEW DETECTIVE HEAD SWORN

HIS LEVEL BEST

Frank R. Boyd, 16 years a city detective, has taken the oath of office as inspector of city detectives by Director James M. Clark, Department of Public Safety. Superintendent Peter P. Walsh (center), Bureau of Police, witnessed the ceremony. Boyd succeeds Clyde S. Edeburn, becomes head of the detective force of a downtown store.

Pittsburgh AS OTHERS SEE US

"It (Pittsburgh) has seemed to me one of the places where the best of America's spirit was fully expressed."
—PRINCESS CANTACUZENE.

PRINCESS CANTACUZENE

PRINCESS CANTACUZENE, Countess of Speransky, granddaughter of Gen. U. S. Grant and author of books dealing with the Russian revolution, was born in the White House, June 7, 1876, during Grant's second term as president. Her father was Gen. Frederick D. Grant. She married Prince Cantacuzène, an officer of the Russian Army under the Czarist regime. She resides in Washington, D. C.

I appreciate very much your desire to have an expression of my opinion of Pittsburgh.

Having visited your city on various occasions, I have always felt an immense appreciation of its people, their kind hospitality and their intellectual development. It has seemed to me one of the places where the best of America's spirit was fully expressed, and it is good to see the material success of an industrial community progressing hand in hand with the exhibition of fine character and intellectual ability.

PEKING DOOMED; CHANG REPORTED FLEEING

LONDON, May 16.—The fall of Pekin is expected shortly by the Chinese Nationalists and there is every indication that the long rule of Chang Tso-Lin, the northern dictator, in Pekin, is coming to an end.

Advices from Pekin say that Chang was expected to depart from the northern capital within a few days while reports from Nationalist Shanghai even went so far as to say that he had already left Pekin in an armored car and had arrived at Tien-Tsin on Sunday.

Northern troops are withdrawing from Paoting-Fu, 90 miles southwest of Pekin, and many field guns are passing through Pekin and Tien-Tsin en route to Chang Tso-Lin's stronghold in Manchuria.

As the Nationalist troops were continuing their operations against the northern capital, important developments were reported politically between Japan and the Nanking government. The Japanese war office in Tokio today instructed Gen. Fukuda, commanding the Japanese forces at Tainan, to present the following terms to the Nationalist government:

First, a formal apology from Chiang Kai-Shek, commander-in-chief, in connection with the Tsinan incedent; second, punishment of Gen. Ho Yao-Tsu, the Nationalist commander, and others primarily responsible for the outrages; third, suspension of hostilities, propaganda and warlike activities within 20 Chinese miles from Tsinan, Tien-Tsin and the Shantung Railway; fourth, the Chinese negotiator must produce credentials from Chiang Kai-Shek.

At the same time in Shanghai the Nationalist government announced that an important conference would be held in Nanking tomorrow to consider "important internal diplomatic questions expected to arise following the expected imminent fall of Pekin."

Entry Made -:- 'PITTSBURGHER' IN BALLOON RACES -:- Pilot Named

CHAMPION!

Ward T. Van Orman, national balloon race champion, is one pilot The Sun-Tele Pittsburgher will have to defeat to enter the international race.

SUN-TELE PITTSBURGHER!

This is a replica of the balloon entered by Sergt. William Bennett, which he has named "The Sun-Tele-Pittsburgher." You'll see some 15 of these and a score or more types of planes at the national balloon derby, Bettis Field, Memorial Day.

CARRIES ON!

Sergeant William Bennett, cousin of the late Floyd Bennett, will pilot The Sun-Tele-Pittsburgher. He's from Wright Field, Dayton, O.

"THE BABY"

One of the Companion pieces to The Sun-Tele-Pittsburgher at the races will be this novel attraction, "The Pilgrim," smallest airship in the world. It's one-fiftieth the size of the largest dirigible in the states, the Los Angeles, and it's 30 feet in diameter and powered with a 60-horsepower radial motor. Goodyear interests have announced that they will fly "the baby" to Bettis Field for the air carnival.

"THE BOSS"

P. W. Litchfield, donor of the Litchfield trophy to the winner, is expected to attend. He's the Goodyear Company president.

Z-Ro-PaK Fruits Now Available for Home Use at McCann's

THE newest thing in food merchandising in a decade—a year 'round supply of fruits and berries that have never been cooked. For pies, desserts, ice cream and delicacies—ready to serve.

When fruits are most delicious, they are picked, hulled, lightly sugared and then frozen. When melted the fruit is exactly as it was the day it went to the freezer—retaining the same fresh flavor and fresh appearance.

This Z-Ro-PaK process has been used commercially for some time; now McCann's make this newest scientific development available for home use.

Luscious Michigan Black Raspberries, Oregon Gooseberries, Loganberries and Strawberries, and Mammoth Montmorenci Pitted Red Cherries now—with other fruits coming. A new section displaying these fruits has been opened opposite the fresh fruit department. A taste of these Z-Ro-PaK fruits will be a revelation to you.

Pie Baking Accessories At Low Cost!

Everything you need to complete the pie—crisp pie shells, baked ready to fill with fruit and serve. Egg meringue for the open-top pies. If you prefer to bake yourself, we'll supply rich pie dough, ready to roll.

FOURTEEN ENTER BALLOON RACE

The thirteenth and fourteenth entries in the national balloon race at Bettis Field on Memorial Day were received today by the National Aeronautic Association in the William Penn Hotel shortly before the entry list was closed.

Sergt. William Bennett of Wright Field, Dayton, O., entered the thirteenth balloon and named it The Sun-Tele Pittsburgher. The fourteenth was The City of Cleveland gas bag, to be piloted by Carl K. Wollam.

Sergt. Bennett has been a student of balloon flying since April, 1917, when he enlisted in the United States Army for the World War.

"Bennett should make a good race with The Sun-Tele-Pittsburgher," Lieut. Frank McKee, commandant of Wright Field at Dayton, said today. "He is thoroughly acquainted with balloon flying and knows air currents." Lieut. McKee yesterday took over his duties as operations officer for the races.

FILE FIRST GAS BLAST SUIT

Wheat is declared to be the first suit filed in Common Pleas Court as a result of the North Side tank explosion of the Equitable Gas Co., November 14 last, was placed on the record yesterday when Mrs. Mattie Scharf, Sewickley, brought an action for $50,000 damages against the company for the death of her husband.

Peter Scharf, 34, foreman for the Riter-Conley Company, engaged in repairing the 5,000,000 cubic feet gas tank in Reedsdale street when it exploded. He was killed along with 29 others.

Mrs. Scharf cites the finding of the coroner's inquest—that gas had leaked into the supposedly empty tank. She maintains that it was the gas company's duty to see that there were no leaks.

Hears Shot Fired; Finds Later He Is Victim

Justin J. Lubbens, 21, of Sixth street, Castle Shannon, was injured slightly yesterday when mysteriously shot in the left hip. He told attendants at the St. Joseph's Hospital, where he was treated, that he had been sitting on a fence at Cretstone stop, near his home, when he heard a shot. A short time later he discovered that he had been struck.

PROWLER STEALS $50 FROM FILLING STATION

Announcement has been made of a motion picture ball to be held at Syria Mosque on May 22 under the auspices of the Theater Owners and Managers of the Tri-States. The ball, which, it is stated, has the sponsorship of 75 theater owners and managers, will include a junior beauty contest and other features.

With the announcement of the ball, Fred J. Herrington, secretary of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of Western Pennsylvania sent the following letter to The Sun-Telegraph under the date of May 14:

It has been brought to our attention that there is to be a Movie Ball held at the Syria Mosque on Tuesday, May 22, 1928, and in order that the public may know where we stand in this matter, I, as secretary of the Moion Picture Theater Owners' of Western Pennsylvania was instructed to get this notice to the public informing them that our Organization is in no way interested in this so-called Movie Ball which is being advertised and conducted by the Theater Owners' and Managers' of the Tri-States. If that latter organization exists we have no knowledge of it.

With a membership of over 400 theater owners in this district we feel that the public should know our position in this matter.

ROBERT YOUNG

Horner Memorial medal, awarded annually to the University of Pittsburgh student who has made the best record in public speaking in faculty opinion, has been presented to Robert Young, a senior, by William M. Parrish, coach of the men's debating team. The presentation was made at the annual banquet of the men's and women's debating teams in Webster Hall.

SAMSON HEADS SOCIAL GROUP

Harry G. Samson was elected president of the Pittsburgh Federation of Social Agencies at the annual meeting of the federation held yesterday afternoon in the council chamber of the Salvation Army, Second avenue. Delegates from 40 of the leading social welfare organizations of the Pittsburgh district attended. The other officers elected were: The Rev. Dr. Percy G. Kammerer, vice president; Horace F. Baker, treasurer, and Mrs. Laura H. Macdonald, recording secretary. The following were elected to serve for three years on the board of directors:

Miss Esther M. Hawes, Dr. L. B. Bernstein, Miss Grace L. Stoakes, Miss Margaret Brooke, Mrs. S. B. McCormick, F. B. Shipp, Mrs. William B. Schiller and H. Lee Mason, Jr.

HELD IN DOUBLE LIQUOR RAID

William J. Butler, 28, of 350 Atwood street, whose $35,000 cargo of good liquor was seized two weeks ago an hour after it had been returned to him by a Federal Court judge's order, last night was held for court on a charge of illegal possession of liquor. State police made the raid when they learned the prohibition department was returning the liquor. The liquor now is in the county warehouse at Blawnox and will remain there until Butler's trial in the County Court.

GERMAN PREMIER'S ILLNESS TURNS FOR WORSE

GRAVE FEARS IN GOVERNMENT

BERLIN, May 16.—(AP.)—Grave fears were held today in official circles and by the family of Dr. Gustav Stresemann over the illness which confined him to his bed. As foreign secretary, Stresemann has led Germany back to good relations with her former enemies.

Kidney disorder caused a general decline in his condition and just before midnight the three attending physicians were called into consultation. While they issued no formal bulletin, a member of the family said that a possible turn for the worse would have to be reckoned with.

The effort of the physicians were directed toward maintaining the heart action, using stimulants in conjunction with a strict dietary regime. Dr. Stresemann's constitution has been undermined somewhat by his recent inability to take nourishment. Both kidneys were affected and this gave the chief cause of worry.

GAYLORD AGAIN HEADS C. OF C.

T. P. Gaylord, was re-elected president of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce yesterday at the annual organization meeting of the board of directors. Joseph B. Shea was elected first vice president and Thomas A. Dunn was named second vice president. Dr. Samuel B. Linhart, secretary of the University of Pittsburgh, was chosen as third vice president. W. S. Linderman and Arthur V. Snell were re-elected treasurer and secretary-manager respectively. The new members of the board chosen at the annual election last week are William G. Costin, Fred C. Heller, John H. Nicholson, William B. Rodgers, W. F. Rust and Lloyd W. Smith.

REMOVAL OF PENN TWP. VOTING PLACE DENIED

Judge Joseph M. Swearingen in Quarter Sessions Court refused to order a change of polling place in the Second district of Penn township, asked in a petition of 14 taxpayers and opposed by 41 others. Petitioners alleged that the district school house, where the polls are located, is dirty and without lights, and asked that the polls be located in the store building of Thomas Lamont in New Texas.

BARES TRIANGLE IN DIVORCE SUIT

Lurline A. Smith, 3621 Penn avenue, says her husband, Cash Smith, Meadville merchant, is in love with another woman, so wants a divorce.

"Who is, this other woman?" asked Judge Josiah Cohen, who heard the case.

"Do I have to tell that?" asked Mrs. Smith, then answered, "Mrs. Hearth of Beaver."

Mrs. Smith said she was married in 1917 and at that time her husband was 17 years her senior. She told the court she had done everything possible to please her husband, who informed her:

"I'm sorry; but I am in love and you know what that means."

50 Thousand Skinny Men

The Kind That Will Take Pride In A Manly Figure

How much better a man feels when his weight is normal.

He nearly always has plenty of energy; seldom gets tired and always looks like a real honest to goodness man.

There was an exceedingly thin man in Atlantic City—he was all in, rundown and needed a lot of flesh. He took McCoy's Tablets and within two months wrote that he had gained 28 pounds and felt like a new man.

If you are underweight McCoy's offer ought to interest you.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty-cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

The name McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets has been shortened—just ask for McCoy's Tablets at May's Drug Stores or any drug store in America.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

STATE SPEEDS IMPROVEMENTS

"BE PATIENT," IS PLEA TO AUTOISTS

Please don't frown or say nasty things—it won't last long!

So said officials of the State Highway Department and County Road Department today, in announcing that they were going to do everything possible to keep roads that are now being improved or are scheduled to be improved closed only as long as absolutely necessary.

"Appealing to motorists to make the best of things," James Lyall Stuart, state highway secretary, told of the vast amount of road construction and improvement work scheduled throughout the state for this summer. Scores of detours, closed highways, plus constructural material and equipment will meet tourists on many of the roads when contractors get well under way.

"To build all of the new roads at the same time that our intensive traffic is moving and pleasure seekers are driving into the country without doubt will inconvenience and irritate many motorists," added Mr. Stuart.

"We feel we can rely upon the co-operation of motorists because after having undergone the inconvenience they will benefit materially by the bigger and better thoroughfares.

"I feel certain that the motorists who are forced to make a detour will do so with the knowledge that the time that is consumed in this detour will be amply made up when he can travel over good, level pavement rather than over bumpy, antiquated road. The motorists will find a comprehensive system of detour sign markers to assist them in traveling over roadways that may be strange to them."

EXTRA RACE ON SHORE CARD

The number of motorcycle events carded at the Atlantic City Speedway on Memorial Day, May 30, has been swelled by one. This at the special request of A. B. Coffman, Western official of the Motorcycle Racing Association.

The event will be for 20 miles, with 14 laps, and will be for machines of 61 cubic inch piston displacement or less piloted by professionals. The Western contingent has asked for this addition to the regular program of four automobile and four motorcycle events.

FORERUNNERS OF NEW ROADS

Because of the large amount of highway construction and improvement work scheduled for this season, motorists often will be forced to travel over long detour roads to their destination. "Be patient," highway men plead, "for detours mean better roads to come." In the above pictures are shown the type of detour signs used by Allegheny county, a reason for detours in a group at work on surface reconstruction and a modern type of road surface.

DENMARK FIRMS USE DELIVERY BICYCLES

Bicycles are more numerous in Denmark than motor cars. An official of the Royal Automobile Club estimated that there were 3,000,000 bicycles in use in Denmark. This is considered surprising in view of only 3,000,000 people in Denmark.

TRICK HORNS OFTEN REQUIRE MUCH CARE

Many of the most striking horns to be heard on today's highway are not the simple mechanisms to which the average car owner is accustomed. Some of these horns are truly electrical masterpieces, which is not altogether unusual in the face of their distinctiveness. The motorist who adds such a horn or acquires one as standard equipment on his car should take the trouble to find out what it needs in the way of special attention. They are delicate instruments in many cases and require a higher type of care.

FAULTY IGNITION CAUSE OF JARRING

Faulty ignition causes jarring, and jarring causes other bad conditions. The ignition should be inspected frequently.

TOO MANY IN CAR IS PERIL

Street and highway safety is suffering from one practice that the individual car owner might well eliminate—that of overloading the car, according to Paul C. Wolff, secretary of the Automobile Club of Pittsburgh.

With spring weather renewing the desire to use the motor car to the fullest extent, numerous accidents will be traced to this practice unless the individual motorist sees its dangers and intelligently avoids them, Mr. Wolff warns.

"When cars made only 12 miles an hour 'wide open' it did not make much difference when they were overloaded," he says. "In those days construction took care of the problem. To overload a car meant that the engine simply balked, an axle or spring broke, or something else taught the owner that caution was the better part of hospitality.

"Today's car is much different. Its engine has power enough and its chassis strength enough to permit overloading without mechanical danger. But, there is the much greater danger of interference with the freedom of the driver to handle the car with safety.

"This club and others of the 1,046 that comprise the nation-wide chain of the American Automobile Association have analyzed many accidents which show the extent of this danger.

"The car manufacturer has made the driving controls much more accessible. They all are at the finger tips of the operator. This advance grew out of the very definite need for re-locating the controls in the interest of safety. Yet, when a motorist tries to carry three or four persons in a roadster or coupe built for two, he sacrifices every advantage that the car designer has given him in this respect.

"The cautious car owner will not invite guests to accompany him on a trip that is marked by a reduction of the safety factor, not to mention that it is certain to be physically uncomfortable for everyone."

ROAD LIGHTHOUSE TESTED IN ENGLAND

A new type of road "lighthouse" is being tried in Southport, England. The device gives alternate red and white flashes by means of a revolving cylinder, and also throws a light on the traffic policeman on duty.

AUTOMOBILES AND BUTTER

Nice, fresh spring automobiles, direct from the factory, for less than the cost of butter.

This is the offering of many of the automobile manufacturers and distributors. The comparison is presented not in an attempt to educate the public to ride instead of dine, but to show that in the face of higher living costs the price per automobile per pound has decreased.

According to figures compiled by statisticians of Dodge Brothers, Inc., received here by Frank D. Saupp, distributor, average prices on January 15 were 48 cents for coffee, butter 57 cents, tea 77 cents, Victory Six 40 cents and Senior Six 45 cents. The standard Six now may be had for 23 cents.

Other figures disclosed that 24 years of automotive progress have brought a steady increase in the buying power of the motor car dollar. The average man can buy five closed cars today for the price of one of the clumsy panting limousines on the market in 1904, if he purchases a car selling approximately in the $1,000 class.

TEN GOOD REMINDERS

On Automobile Row the safety problem is pictured as an individual problem. Motorists are advocating the memorizing of 10 reminders recently broadcast by the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce as an education in better driving. The reminders:

Good intentions are a treacherous substitute for good brakes.

The horn that is defective may yet prove very effective in plunging its owner into trouble.

Beneath the skin, the man who neglects his steering gear is blood brother to the bridge jumper.

There are many brands of danger, but only one kind of safety.

A dark tail light is no protection against the car thundering along in the rear.

Danger wings with lightning speed for him who puts his trust in greed.

All any bad brake asks is an opportunity to show what it cannot do in a critical situation.

It's a poor time to think of brake inspection when one is within 10 feet of eternity.

Hard luck takes many a wallop that belongs to faulty judgment.

The nearest American approach to the French guillotine is the exposed edge of a broken window of windshield glass.

FOUND IN AUTOS

What goes into an automobile is always of interest to the motor-car enthusiasts. But that all that gets into the motor is not of advantage to the owner is shown in research conducted by Detroit engineers. Abrasive material picked up by the oil in the automobile engine during a drive of 10,000 miles makes an effective sharpener for knives and other edged tools. Engineers burned several cloth oil filtration units and got an average of a pint of foreign matter, composed of iron particles and sand, that would otherwise have gotten into the cylinders, with resultant dangerous scoring and damage.

MOTORIZATION COMPLETED

The White House has now been completely motorized, news reports from Washington inform us. The last vestige of the once extensive White House stables, the horse and carriage of the housekeeper, Mrs. Riley, have been replaced by one of the lighter class of motor cars. This completes the cycle begun by President Roosevelt, the first of the nation's executives to adopt motorized transportation.

FIELD DAY FOR WOMEN

A field day for women, at which 37 different makes of cars will be exhibited, will be staged at Schenley Oval Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock by the Pittsburgh Automobile Dealers' Association, in conjunction with a driving contest under the direction of the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council and Inspector Ben Marshall of the Traffic Police. W. N. Owings, secretary of the Auto Dealers, will award a prize. A band will provide added entertainment.

CHICAGO PROTESTS

Chicago losses $1,500,000 a year that should go for upkeep of streets and for new paving because of tax dodgers, Alderman John S. Clark charges.

He produces figures indicating 160,000 "taxless" automobiles operate in the city.

Failure of the city to collect all taxes, it was pointed out, is unjust to conscientious motorists who pay the fees that are badly needed for street repair work.

15 Years On the Job

Anybody ought to get good at a job after 15 years of it, but when every year has seen added success it means something.

You can say to yourself, "This really means something to me. It means I don't run any risk of dissatisfaction in buying from this concern and doing what they advise about tires."

The proper tires for your car which we will recommend may cost slightly more, but they will run 50% to 100% more mileage with fewer flats. Don't be fooled by cheap tires' "low cost per tire" applesauce.

You can now buy the Strong, Sturdy, Beautiful, Long Lasting 6 Ply Lee of Conshohocken Balloons on a charge account or on easy payments, with such a small outlay of cash.

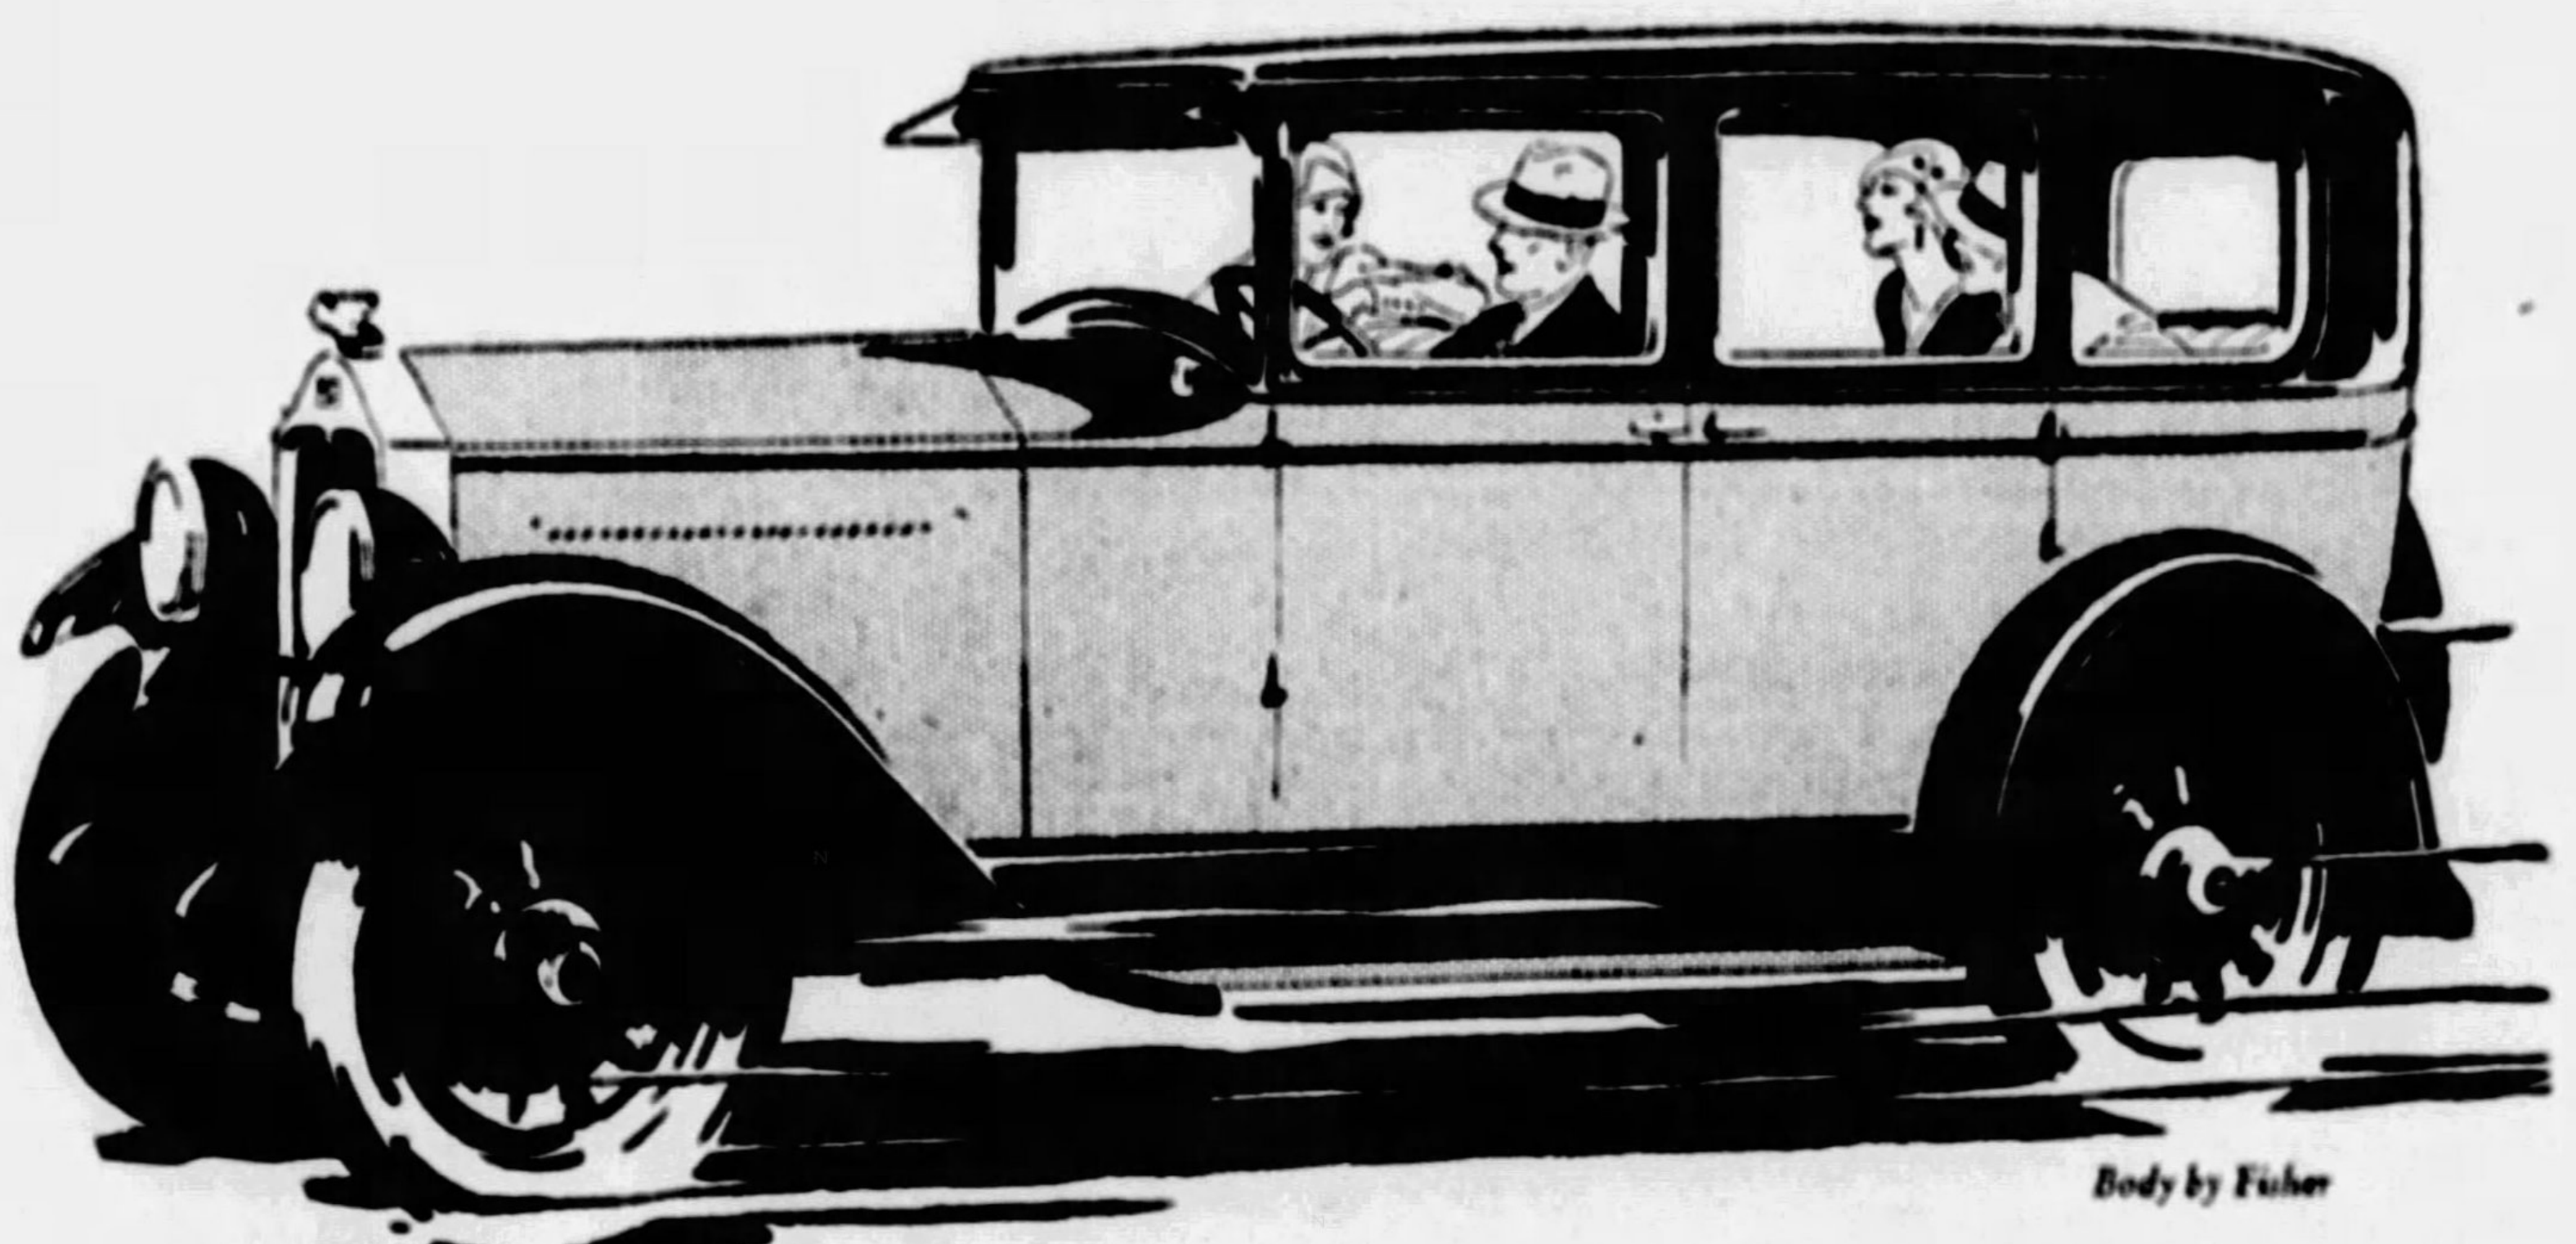
4 GREAT PROOFS OF BUICK SUPERIORITY



Body by Fisher

No. 2 Five years of service is only a starting point for BUICK-- Skilled engineering and rugged construction make it the *most durable of motor cars!

Keep in mind, when buying your new car, that more than three-quarters of all the Buick cars produced in the last twenty-five years are still serving their owners.

Buick endures—Buick stays young—Buick stands up and gives its best over a longer period than any other car—because it is designed, engineered and built in the better Buick way.

An extra-rugged double-drop frame—Buick's world-famous Sealed Chassis and Triple-Sealed Engine—and the most nearly perfect oiling system ever developed—endow it with an unrivaled ability to "keep on keeping on."

Day-after-day dependability is the normal thing with Buick. Flawless operation is a matter of course. 100,000 miles is only a starting point in Buick's long career of service.

You'll prefer Buick because it leads in beauty and luxury: and you'll prefer it, too, because it is the most durable of cars—and therefore the most paying investment.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

119 MI. AN HOUR TO "COOL OFF"

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 16.—"Just because the sun was warm and he wanted to cool himself off," Leon Duray, one of the star performers of the speed course, turned a lap in 116.1 or almost 119 miles an hour as preparation for the sixteenth international 500-mile race to be held at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, May 30.

The fastest lap of the training season, within a second of the fastest lap ever turned at the speedway, was made with Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker, now president of the speedway company and himself a former racing star.

Then Peter De Paolo, winner of the 1926 contest and holder of the 500-mile record with an average of 101.13 miles an hour, made his first solo flight in an airplane in which he has been taking lessons for several weeks. De Paolo announced that he enjoyed the thrill of a speeding race car more than the sensation of flying a ship.

Lieut. Gene Batten, Army flier, is here assisting his brother, Norman.

Tommy Milton, only two-time winner of an Indianapolis contest, has returned to the track to complete the Detroit Special which Cliff Durant, multi-millionaire sportsman, is listed to drive in the coming race. Durant, one of the most noted of the younger traders on the stock market, buys and sells all day long from a special broker's room in his garage. This annual pilgrimage to the Indianapolis Speedway is his vacation, but he works harder at it than even apprentice drivers.

Earl Cooper will have the three Marmon Specials on the track all this week.

BAD WEATHER PLEASES REO

It isn't often that an automobile manufacturer rejoices at an unseasonably late spring.

Yet tht is exactly what the officials of the Reo Motor Car Company are now doing.

"Even with unfavorable weather conditions prevailing in many parts of the country we are swamped with business that we cannot handle," said Sales Manager C. A. Triphagen in discussing the present situation. "Our production is increasing steadily, and even now it is at the highest point in our entire history; but the longer the sunny days hold off the better chance we will have to cash in on the unprecedented volume of business that is waiting for us.

"We started the month of April with the hope that we would reach the record-breaking total of 6,000 units—cars and Speed Wagons. Our production didn't run at that rate for the first half of the month; but it is now 'up there' and climbing steadily. We are virtually assured, now, of hitting the original objective—which means that for the last half of the month we will be shipping at a monthly rate of considerably more than 6,000.

"An indication of the tremendous reception being accorded the 1929 Flying Cloud is found in the fact that from every section of the country are being received urgent appeals for solid trainload shipments. Of course, we can't grant their request; but it is a gratifying fact, none the less."

"SPEED CURVE" PUT IN ROAD

VERMILLION, S. D., May 16.—A highway curve for which automobiles do not slacken speed but take the bend at 40 to 45 miles an hour has been constructed here.

It is scientifically banked like a race track and the tilt is such that a car is deflected from its straight path in accordance with the sharpness of degrees of curvature.

Heavy busses rock around the curve at speeds of 30 to 45 miles an hour.

The work was done under the direction of R. V. Newcomb, professor of civil engineering at the University of South Dakota, and was intended, he said, as an example of how the problem of high speeds on highways can be successfully met.

Principles of super-elevation, or tilting, and widening were followed in constructing the curve, which is on a corner with a 90-degree turn.

The widening is zero at the beginning of the spiral, 2.7 feet at the point of curvature and the maximum, 5.4 feet, at the end of the spiral.

A super-elevation of two inches per foot, totaling four feet for a 24-foot road, was used. The grade line was carried around the center line of the roadway, the outer edge being raised two feet and the inner edge lowered two feet. At the beginning of the spiral, the cross section of the roadway is flat; at the point of super-elevation, or one-half length of spiral, the amount of super-elevation is half the total, and a maximum, or full tilt, is reached at the end of the spiral.

The test curve, which is expected to be duplicated elsewhere in the state, has a 200-foot radius, and a spiral length of 150 feet was used, of which half was placed on the tangent (back of point of curvature), and half on the simple curve (ahead of point of curvature). A widening of 5.4 feet was used, plus an additional width of 1½ feet for convenience in placing the guard rail.

Such a highway must be surfaced with gravel or other cohesive material, Newcomb said, to prevent slipping when wet.

POOR BERMUDA HAS NO AUTOS

FLINT, Mich., May 16.—The people of Bermuda may know their onions—but certainly not their automobiles.

Such is the comment of E. T. Strong, president and general manager of the Buick Motor Company, following his recent visit there in company with R. F. Thompson. Mr. Thompson is general manager of the Howard Automobile Company, Buick distributors on the Pacific coast.

The explanation of Mr. Strong's comment is that automobiles are absolutely barred from Bermuda. Beautiful roads stretching in every direction—scenes of exquisite beauty abounding—yet not a single automobile.

Bermuda is a potential motoring paradise—perfect roads, delightful scenery and a population well able to afford investment in automobiles. Yet its stern law says in unmistakable terms that not a single automobile might be sold for use in Bermuda. Despite the incongruity of his situation Strong expressed himself as charmed by the island.

"BABY" AUTOS FAMILY CARS

Featherweight automobiles, rating seven or nine horsepower only, are the family cars of the future, according to a concensus of opinion among dealers of London.

Compared with America, motoring in Britain is still in its infancy. Yet in the manufacture of "baby" runabouts, British dealers claim, Britain easily leads the way with the possibility that the increase in popularity of this type of auto will, in five years, double the present million owners.

Statistics show that even during the last few years the advent of the featherweight car has almost trebled the number of motorists. And this despite a period of adverse trade.

There will, it is said, always be a market for the heavier cars, but for every one of these there will be thousands of seven and nine horsepower tourers and saloons carrying family parties of five all over the country.

The chief point of these featherweight cars is their price. In a country where, until last year, the lowest-priced cars cost $1,000 or more, everything has to be and is being done to develop motoring at the lowest initial and running costs.

These featherweights can now be had for a matter of $750 with correspondingly low running costs, of which $35 to $45 a year government tax is the most important item.

ACCIDENTS LAID TO CARELESSNESS

Reckless and intoxicated drivers caused 9,159 accidents involving either injury or death in California last year, according to state figures. Deaths in motor vehicle accidents totaled 1,651 during the year, while 4,277 persons were seriously injured and 14,091 received minor injuries. Records indicate that at least 90 per cent of the accidents were due to carelessness.

NOVA SCOTIA PLANS DEALERS' GAS TAX

The minister of highways has announced reductions in motor vehicle license fees in Nova Scotia approximating 10 per cent, at the same time giving notice that the tax on gasoline had been advanced by 2 cents a gollan without affecting the price to the consumer in any way, the 2 cents being absorbed by the oil companies from whom the tax will be collectedf according to a report to the automotive division, Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce.

NEW TRAFFIC LAW DEMANDS SILENCE

Cutouts and disconnected mufflers are forbidden under the provisions of the new motor vehicle act in the state of Washington. Sirens are banned except on ambulances, fire trucks and cars used by law enforcement officers. This section of the code will be strictly enforced, state officials have announced. Windshield wipers and mirrors giving the driver a rear view are required. Posters and stickers must be removed from windshields, the new act provides. No evidence based on the use of a speed trap will be admitted at any court trial.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Late May Weddings With Settings of Spring Hold Great Interest for Pittsburgh's "400"

THOSE who chose late May dates for their weddings instead the first ones of the month were surely wiser, if less optimistic, weren't they? The brides of late May will have all the exquisite beauty of the early northern spring as a setting for their weddings.

There are to be some notable weddings in Pittsburgh, and a few out of the city as well that will be of great interest to our "400." Of these out-of-town weddings there will be one next week, that will attract the notice of many society folks.

Emilie Wright, daughter of Arthur Wright, of New York and Utica, will marry Graham Johnston, son of the Norwood Johnstons, of Shady avenue, on Monday, you'll recall. The ceremony will take place at 5 o'clock that afternoon in the Chapel of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church of New York.

Mrs. H. C. Buckminister, of Boston, will be her sister's maid of honor, and Frances Johnston and Mrs. S. Davidson Herron, of Philadelphia, the former Louise Johnston, you know, sisters of the bridegroom, will be bridesmaids.

Norwood P. Johnston will be his brother's best man, and Edmonde P. Wright and Richard Wright of Boston will be the ushers.

Following the wedding will be a reception, of course, to be held in the Ritz-Carlton, New York.

Emilie went to Dana Hall and Pine Manor. And Mr. Johnston "prepped" at the Hill School and is a graduate of the class of '26 at Yale.

Another marriage of note has taken place in the month of May. Mrs. James Stephen Martin of Walnut street announces the marriage of her daughter, Beulah Martin Hosford, to Lieut. R. H. Rhoton, of the United States Navy. The ceremony took place on Saturday in Annapolis, Md. After a short trip, Lieut. and Mrs. Rhoton will be at home in Maryland avenue, Annapolis.

Navy lieutenants seem to be characteristic of the Martin family, one is inclined to belive. For Mrs. Rhoton's brother, Carl Kennard Martin, is a lieutenant commander in the United States Navy, you know.

No fortnight could go by without a benefit. Pittsburgh society folks have always supported or assisted many philanthropic organizations. The benefit of late May, you'll recall, is that to be given by the Woman's Auxiliary of Kingsley House in the home of Mrs. Herbert DuPuy, Morewood avenue, on Wednesday afternoon, May 23. And of course bridge will be played.

Mrs. B. Houston Hill is general chairman of the event; Mrs. William E. Schmertz III, is chairman of the tea committee, and Mrs. Walter A. Dearth and Mrs. Davis Gaston are co-chairmen of the ticket committee.

Helen Adaline Snively, daughter of Mrs. Harry Atkinson Snively, of College avenue, and Nevin Truog Brenner, son of the Ernest J. Brenners, of Ben Avon, were married last evening at 8 o'clock in the Rittenhouse. The bride wore a period gown of white satin, made with a long bodice and a long, full skirt with insets of tulle. Cloth of gold outlined the neckline, and a panel of the same material, embroidered with pearls, fell from the neck to the hem line. She wore a veil of tulle arranged with a bandeau of orange blossoms, and she carried brides' roses and lilies of the valley. Mary Irene Adelman, her only attendant, wore yellow and green chiffon, and carried a Dresden bouquet. The bride's mother wore a gown of sapphire blue lace, and the bridegroom's mother appeared in fuschia chiffon. Samuel Dunlap Brady, Jr., of Fairmont, West Virginia, was best man. A reception followed the marriage. After a southern trip the Brenners will be at home in North avenue, Emsworth.

Mrs. Clyde L. Hamilton will entertain informally at tea in her home in Denniston avenue in honor of Miss Janet Geer, whose engagement to her son, Alexander Hamilton, has just been announced.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Helen Bond Chapin, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Chapin of Brockway, Pa., and Thomas Martin Law, of San Francisco, which was solemnized in St. Petersbury by the Rev. Dr. G. W. Benn, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian Church. Miss Martha Gray of DuBois was her cousin's maid of honor and Howard J. Chapin, brother of the bride, was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Law will make their home in Oakland, Cal.

The marriage of Miss Violet E. Spence, granddaughter of Mrs. Jennie Spence, of Zephyr avenue, Sheraden, and George H. Chambers, son of Mrs. Lester L. Kaufman, of Hazelwood, will be solemnized Saturday night in the Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd, Hazelwood, by the Rev. R. E. Moore. Mr. and Mrs. Chambers will live in Hosach street, Greenfield.

* * *

The Ladies' Social Auxiliary to B. P. O. E. No. 949 will hold its annual card party next Wednesday night in the Elks' Temple, Sheraden.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Christ C. Brandau, of Oakland, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mercedes Brandau, to Dr. John C. Reichenbach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Reichenbach, of Mt. Lebanon.

* * *

A dance and card party will be given Tuesday night in the Carrick G. B. U. Hall, Brownsville road, for the benefit of St. David's Church at Willock, Pa.

* * *

Mrs. Eugene W. Watson, of Antietam street, entertained with a luncheon Saturday in the Garden Inn in honor of Miss Elizabeth George, of Holmes street, whose marriage to Charles N. Starr, of Stanton avenue, will be solemnized June 16. Covers were laid for 12.

PIONEER DAUGHTERS WILL HOLD LUNCHEON

Saturday's meeting of the Keystone Chapter, Daughters of American Pioneers, will take the form of a 1 o'clock luncheon in the home of Mrs. John G. Daub, in Brighton road, North Side. Assisting the hostess will be Mrs. A. C. Ellis, Mrs. Frank P. Sumney and Mrs. W. J. Askin. The speaker announced for the occasion is Mrs. Anna Marshall McCracken, of the fine arts department, Carnegie Institute, who will speak on "Pittsburgh as an Art Center." Music will be provided by Mrs. Ruth Bowers Gibson, violinist, and her small daughter, Helen Rose Gibson, is to give readings.

Important discussion relative to the educational and business interests of county work took place today at a meeting of the executive committee, Allegheny County Parent-Teacher Association. It was held in the offices of C. E. Dickey, county superintendent of schools, Union Trust Building.

Father's Heroism Orphans 10 Children

DONORA, Pa., May 16.—A fund has been started to provide for 10 Negro children, orphaned this week, the result of their father's heroism.

On May 4, Samuel Carter, an employe of the American Steel and Wire Company, risked his life in a futile effort to save Albert Ferraro, who had fallen into a vat of acid. Painfully burned Carter, contracted flu which developed into pneumonia and caused his death. He was buried on Sunday.

Mrs. Nettie Carter, his wife, contracted flue from nursing her husband and died last night.

TECH HEAD TO URGE CHURCH CO-OPERATION

Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of Carnegie Institute of Technology, will meet tonight with 20 local ministers to present a plan to establish a more active contact between the Pittsburgh churches and students at the institution. The plan will be presented by a representative of the Carnegie Tech branch of the Y. M. C. A. The meeting is to follow a dinner in Carnegie Inn. The plan proposes more co-operative work between the churches and the students for the purpose of interesting the students in church activities.

CHANGES IN CITY IMPRESS ZANDER

"The thing which impresses me most about Pittsburgh is the way you are rebuilding it. After a day spent here, I am convinced that Pittsburgh is indeed a city of 1,500,000 persons, and not of 600,000, as the census records."

So spoke Henry G. Zander of Chicago, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, addressing a large gathering of realtors last night at the Fort Pitt Hotel. Mr. Zander, and Herbert U. Nelson, national executive secretary, were guests of Pittsburgh realtors throughout the day.

The fight to remove a part of the burden of taxes from real estate was described by Mr. Zander, who has been active in fighting the battles of the real estate interests of the nation at Washington. He spoke of the repeal of the stamp tax on real estate and the legislation pending which will remove certain corporation taxes from the trust companies.

Mr. Nelson talked about the coming convention of the National Association at Louisville, Ky., June 12 to 22. Vigorous campaigns to fight fraud in appraisal work and in the allotment business are being carried on and will be discussed in the divisional conference at Louisville. James C. Wilson, president of the Pittsburgh board, presided at the meeting.

AHEAD OF SCHEDULE ON BOULEVARD WORK

HOOVER AND SMITH CAPTURE JERSEY DELEGATES

G. O. P. SENATOR RACE BECOMES SEE-SAW

NEWARK, N. J., May 16.—(AP.)—Herbert Hoover and Gov. Smith of New York won New Jersey's delegates to national political conventions in yesterday's balloting, Smith by the mere formality of an election and Hoover by defeating Lowden delegates in three districts.

Six of the 31 Republican delegates are pledged "Coolidge first choice, Hoover second," the others are out-and-out for Hoover. Hoover alone was entered in the presidential preference vote.

Gov. Smith gained 32 delegates and 28 votes, as New Jersey Democrats are entitled in their convention to a half vote for each of eight delegates-at-large and a full vote for each of 24 district delegates. The Democrats had only two contests on their hands and they were personal fights.

United States Senator Edward I. Edwards, Democrat, was renominated without opposition.

On the Republican side, however, a see-saw race developed. Hamilton F. Kean for a brief moment today lost his lead over Edward C. Stokes for nomination as the candidate for United States senator, only to forge ahead again on additional returns from Atlantic county. When unofficial returns had been received from all but 512 of the 2,917 election precincts in the state, Kean had a lead of 8,725 votes. A lead of 10,000 which Kean held earlier in the day had been wiped out by returns from Jersey City districts and at one time he was 440 behind Stokes.

For the Republican gubernatorial nomination, State Senator Morgan F. Larson was far ahead of a field of three contenders.

The Democrats named William L. Dill, state motor vehicle commissioner, as their gubernatorial candidate, without a contest.

The nomination of Republican candidates for both United States senator and governor was attended by charges that Democrats in Jersey City and the territory of Mayor Frank Hague had voted in the Republican primaries for candidates expected to favor the Democratic organization. Hague is leader of the state Democracy, a vice chairman of the national committee, and prominent in the Smith movement.

EVANGELICAL SOCIETY CHARTER IS AMENDED

Judge Josiah Cohen signed a preliminary order amending the charter of the Evangelical Society in order to enable that body to enlarge its scope of work in mission fields. When the petition was presented by the law firm of Gray, Thompson & Rose, Judge Cohen jokingly asked, "Is Palestine to be included." The court was informed that "Palestine did not need it as the Hebrews are all right."

Why Orange Blossoms Are Used for Brides

ORANGE blossom has always been the most used wedding flower, as it is supposed to bring luck and happiness. However, the rose often finds its way into a bouquet as the queen of flowers and an emblem of beauty.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

WHEN A WOMAN MARRIES THE WRONG MAN

WHEN a man marries the wrong woman, it is usually in a weak moment—when spring is dancing in his veins or the moonlight has gotten into his eyes or something has weakened his morale.

* * *

But when a woman marries the wrong MAN, it is always in a DESPERATE moment. She knows exactly what she is doing and why she is doing it.

* * *

In nearly every woman's life, there are certain "desperate moments," when she has to watch her step, to keep from skidding into a foolish marriage.

HELEN ROWLAND

There is, for instance, that bitter moment when a girl realizes that she is not going to get the man that she thinks she really loves and wants; when she faces the fact that his selfishness or his ambition or some other woman makes him unattainable, and when she is sorely tempted to accept the first man who comes along, just as a "consolation prize!"

* * *

And then, there is that dangerous moment in the late twenties, when she has waited overtime for Prince Charming to come riding by and is tired of "holding the bride's bouquet" at weddings, and foolishly tempted to close her eyes and say "yes" to the devoted old Dobbin who has been vainly begging her to marry him.

* * *

Or again, there is that tragic moment after a glorified love affair, when she finds herself lightly and carelessly thrown over by some gay philanderer, at whose feet she has been casting pearls; and when she desperately wraps her vanity around her and rebounds into the arms of some innocent suitor, whose middle name she scarcely knows, and the color of whose eyes she has never noticed.

And there is that foolish moment, after a hard day at the office, when she has had a scrap with the manager, and her nerves are stretched to the snapping point, and she feels that she can't stand the daily grind another instant! That moment, when the lure of a home of her own and a delft-blue kitchenette and the time to go window shopping tempts her to sink into the arms of the stodgy, middle-aged Boy Friend with the kind heart and the triple chin!

* * *

And lastly, there is that moment which comes so often at the height of a woman's business or professional career, when she has a prescient flash of the day not far off, when her friends and her teeth and her illusions will be falling away and she will find herself lonely in the midst of all her achievement. This is the insidious moment, when an otherwise-sane woman calls down the laughter of the gods, by eloping with a baby boy half her age, who will soon begin to look upon her kisses as an income tax!

* * *

These are woman's "desperate moments," when she ought to beg to be put in a strait-jacket, to prevent her from wrecking her own life and that of some innocent bystander. Because it takes about all the love you can hold, to weather marriage successfully; and it's not fair to short change yourself or the other fellow!

HOW TO KEEP WELL

by Royal S. Copeland M.D.
U.S. Senator from New York

Avoid the Danger Lurking in Unclean Puffs and Brushes

YOU should not touch your nose and lips with dirty hands or a soiled powder puff. Infection is carried that way.

When I see the way women treat their faces with grimy old puffs I wonder that one of them escapes trouble. Colds, influenza and other serious ailments may be conveyed by contaminated fingers.

When one member of a family "takes cold and goes snuffling around the place, it won't be long before the smeared door knobs and contaminated toilet soap will carry the germs to somebody else. In the course of a few days everybody will have the trouble.

An office, a factory, a Senate Chamber, will suffer if there is any failure to use the common sense measures of prevention. Failure to observe the simplest rules of hygiene will result in widespread misery.

A while ago I read about a bacteriological examination of a dozen tooth brushes. Twelve men had contributed their used brushes in order that this test might be made. Out of the 12 brushes 10 were found to be contaminated with pus producing germs.

Things which you handle every day are certain to become infected with agents of disease. At least they become so dirty as to be filthy, if not capable of producing a serious ailment.

When I see the black and grimy powder-puff of an attractive young woman, I wonder what germs are lurking in its dirty meshes. Really I would give a reasonably sum of money just to satisfy my curiosity as to the bacteriological contents of such a toilet accessory.

Please remember it is not safe to handle your face with dirty hands or to mop it with a filthy powder rag. Your nose and lips are avenues through which disease and death may travel to your vital organs. You cannot afford to take chances on your health and you do take chances by doing the things I am railing against. Provide yourself daily with a clean puff, if you must use it.

When you come in from outside wash your hands with soap and water. Scrub them thoroughly and clean your finger nails. Keep your hands clean and be ashamed of them if they are dirty. If your joints are grimy and black, it is because you are lazy and indifferent. You may be indifferent to your looks, but you must not be indifferent to your health. Cleanliness. Godliness and health are closely associated.

Answers to Health Queries

R. C. S. Q—What would cause sharp pains through my shoulders and back continuously. I am 18 years of age.

A.—May be due to gases or to neuralgia. Watch your diet and keep the system clear and if this does not bring about improvement have an examination to determine the exact source of the trouble.

B. L. Q—What would cause a heavy pain on the left side around the heart, accompanied by a fast heartbeat, choking feeling, short-winded, run-down and gases on the stomach, dull headache and general nervousness?

A.—May be due to autointoxication, but it would be wise to make sure that the heart is normal. Have it examined. In the meantime be sure to watch your diet and keep the system clear. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

* * *

E. F. D. Q.—I am a woman of 33 years and have a blood pressure of 128. Is this too high?

2.—What do you advise for overcoming insomnia?

3.—What is the reason for a person drooling at the mouth?

4.—When I have a cold, the mucus from my nose is more or less filled with small clots of blood. What is this caused by?

A.—No.

2.—You must first find the underlying cause. Many cases are due to intestinal disturbances, constipation, worry and overwork.

3.—This is probably due to excess salivation.

4.—This condition may be caused by nasal catarrh. A nose and throat spray would be very beneficial.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

Thursday, May 17

AN eventful day is forecast, from the important chain of planetary activities, with stirring transactions and movements in many lines of endeavor. The energies will be highly stimulated to action in new enterprises, in speculation, in regular channels and in employment. It is a time for forging ahead to cherished goals under a spirit of initiative and courage; but a mite of precaution is enjoyed against misrepresentation or deception in new affiliations.

Those whose birthday it is stand at the threshold of a year of golden opportunity and advancement in many directions. It is a time for bold enterprise and pushing to the goal of the ambitions, with progress and prosperity assured. A word of warning as to deception or subtlety is in order.

A child born on this day may be splendidly equipped with initiative, courage, and ambition to forge to high places of position and power in life.

Undeniably it is the inner life which is the master of the outer.
—MABEL COLLINS.

CONTENTMENT

"A loaf of bread, a jug of wine
And thou beside me in the wilderness."

Drawn by DOROTHY FLACK

WHAT a wise old Tentmaker! He didn't ask for the wealth of Araby; he sought neither fame nor riches. All he asked was the barest necessities of life, but with a condition—that his beloved be there to share them. That, in his wise philosophy, was wealth and fame and riches and, best of all, happiness and contentment.

For where two whose hearts are as one, know happiness and contentment with their lot, whether it be the mightiest or the humblest, there you have a bit of divinity. There you find the spark that makes this old world the most wonderful Paradise of all. For contentment brings more than wealth can ever buy. It brings happiness.

Lucky are they who are blessed with this greatest of all gifts. For in these busy, bustling, vying days, we're too apt to be impatient of contentment. We're too apt to let the Greed and Avarice sisters lead us from the ways which we have chosen. Don't listen to them, I pray you, for once these jealous sisters get you in their clutches you're done for. No more happiness, no more contentment, no more joy in life. You may for a time know the joy of acquiring material things, but what's the use of them after you lose your soul?

DRINK TO YOUR OWN HEALTH

FOR THE LOVELORN

Tony

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am coming to you for some of your excellent advice. I am engaged to a young man of my mother's choice. We are to be married in August. Now at first thought I liked this boy, but I found out that he drinks and gambles. About two weeks ago I met a crippled boy. Now I love this boy. I hate to break my engagement to the first boy because it would displease my mother. But I don't see how I can live with him, as I love another. What shall I do?

TONY.

Don't let anyone, even your mother, compel you to marry a boy you do not love. But don't be too sure that you love the other boy, either. Break your engagement if you have the slightest doubt of your affection.

Blue Eyes

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a constant reader of your section. Your advice is wonderful, so I am coming to you for advice. I am almost 20 years old and do not smoke, pet or drink. I am in love with a boy 18 who I know cares for me but also cares for another girl who is a friend of mine. How could I tell whether he likes me or Mary, as we will call her? Should I ask him or what? Please aswer this because I have no mother to go and ask like most girls do. All I have is my father, who doesn't care.

BLUE EYES.

Don't ask him, by any means, my dear. Since he likes you both, then he is not in love with either, so just accept his friendship.

Just Disgusted

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a stranger to your column but hope I am welcome. I met a very nice girl at a dance and think she is just as nice a girl as any fellow would want to know. She treats me just as nice as she can. But sometimes when we are in the parlor she doesn't seem to want to be near me and that hurts me very much when I think so much of her. I don't mush around her so she cannot have that against me, but I would like her to be a little different with me now. It didn't matter at first, but since I am going with her it hurts. And when I am leaving at night I feel like telling her I will never come back, but connot, because I like her too well. So what am I to do? I am 21 and she is 18.

JUST DISGUSTED.

If this girl didn't like you, she wouldn't let you come to see her so much. You should be glad she has so much dignity.

Vorlene

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a constant reader of your column, and I would like to ask you a question. When a fellow asks you to light a cigaret, should you put it to your mouth or his to light it?

VORLENE.

This is a question not included in any etiquette books because no man should as a girl to light a cigaret. But if you must light it, I should certainly say that the cigaret should be in his mouth, not yours.

"Two Wondering Pals"

DEAR MISS GALE:

We are two wondering pals who read your column every evening and think it is very good advice. We are aged 16 and 17 and both are considered good looking.

Pal No. 1 knows a boy friend who she things cares for her. He lives out of town, but she sees him pretty often and he always talks to her. He takes her home from parties and different places. He is three years her senior. She wonders why he never asks her for a date. And she wonders how she can get a date from him.

Pal No. 2 knows a boy friend who she lives in the same town. She has had a couple of dates with him. She would like to have more, but don't know how to attract his attention for more dates. He is two years her senior. She hasn't seen him lately.

We both would like your advice.

"TWO WONDERING PALS."

There is no sure way to attract a boy, my dears, so all I can tell you is to be interested and friendly. It is a girl's privilege to invite a boy to call, but it is not a good thing to do if he doesn't seem particularly interested in her.

"MADE A NEW PERSON OF ME"

Pittsburgh Lady Freed of Aches, Pains and Indigestion by Ten Herbs.

"Ten Herbs made a new person of me, and I shall always be a great booster for your medicine," was the statement of Mrs. Louis Rudolph, 2629 South Eighteenth Street, South Side, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this popular medicine to crowds of people.

MRS. LOUIS RUDOLPH

"I used to suffer with headaches, dizzy spells, stomach trouble and pains in arms and across back," Mrs. Rudolph continued. "I had vomiting spells and severe headaches for years. Sometimes even the smell of food would turn my stomach. It seemed as though there were something heavy in my stomach all the time. At times I felt so bad that I had to lie down.

"Ten Herbs made a wonderful change in me. I do not have any more pains in my arms and back. I am not troubled with those vomiting spells or sick headaches. My stomach is in splendid condition and my appetite is fine. My bowels are in better condition than ever before. I am glad to give Ten Herbs a public endorsement."

According to certified statements of thousands of men and women, here and elsewhere, Ten Herbs gives relief from indigestion, biliousness, dizziness, spots before the eyes, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, constipation and other suffering and discomfort arising from sluggish stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

This great natural medicine has got to be good—it must possess the power to make one feel like himself again—make one eat better, sleep better, feel better and work better, or people would not go on buying it in such amazing quantities. Ten Herbs is proving a veritable sensation in this city. Try it if your stomach, liver, kidneys or bowels are not working the way Nature intended them.

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample given.

How I get whiter washes
—with this famous hard-water soap

FOR the whitest week's wash ever—I use Rinso in my washing machine.

This granulated hard-water soap makes our water soft as rain, and gives thick, safe suds that stand up until the wash is done. It's all I need—no bar soaps, chips, powders or softeners. Just Rinso!

Dirt, stains and grease float right off in Rinso's marvelous suds. Imagine—even boiling isn't needed, my clothes wash so white and sweet.

Now I know why the makers of 32 leading washing machines say, "Use Rinso!" I'm never without the BIG package any more. You can get it from your grocer.

Intestinal Stasis

Keeps thousands "half-dead"

"HALF-DEAD"—is that the way you feel? Headachy? Nervous? Irritable? Sleep poorly? Then, most likely, you, too, are a victim of—intestinal stasis.

Intestinal stasis means your digestive region is asleep on the job. The intestines are not eliminating waste material—poisons are forming—and spreading through your system.

To end intestinal stasis—take Zilatone. Not a habit-forming preparation—but a safe, complete treatment—based on Nature's laws. Zilatone stimulates natural flow of bile—activates the pancreas—banishes poisons—and does even more. Tones stomach—purifies blood—increases appetite. Soon you feel healthier, stronger, vigorously alert and wide-awake.

Start the Zilatone treatment today—costs only 60c at any good druggist. Money back if not satisfied.

Zilatone is recommended and sold in this city by all May's Drug Stores and other live druggists.

HERE IS INSTANT RELIEF FOR DEAFNESS
Head Noises, Ear Aches

Roaring and hissing sounds, discharge, pains, sensitive and tender ears, all ear drum trouble. You will be surprised how quickly Aurine will help you. You may be a chronic long-time sufferer, you may have tried many things without relief, but do not give up hope before you know what Aurine Ear Balsam can do for you. Dr. Edward Kolar, M. D., said, "Aurine helped cases I had given up as hopeless. A truly remarkable scientific remedy."

Stop paying high prices for earphones, stop buying expensive treatments and enjoy the glorious relief that more than 100,000 others have found in Aurine. A few drops in each ear and relief comes instantly. Mr. R. P. Maxwell, a well-known Deputy Sheriff, says, "Just started using my second bottle and am glad to state that I can now hear my watch tick. Today was the first time, this summer, I heard the church bell ring." No matter how stubborn or what your trouble is, you must try Aurine. No risk, no chance, no doubt, Aurine must do the work or cost you nothing.

STAGE AND SCREEN ACTIVITIES DETAILED IN PICTURES AND GOSSIP ABOUT PLAYERS

News About Local Amusements Combined With Stories Concerning Stars and Film Productions

STANLEY TO OFFER "MIRACLE WOMAN"

Pittsburgh's chief theatrical mystery at this time appears to be who is "The Miracle Woman" that the Stanley Company of America is bringing to Pittsburgh. But the mystery will be solved next week, Monday to be exact, for the widely heralded "Miracle Woman" will appear in person on the stage of the Stanley Theater. She will be featured in the presentation, "Venetian Nights."

SOME LEADING MEMBERS -:- OF NEW STOCK -:- OPENING NEXT WEEK

Harry Bannister is leading man of the Nixon Players, who open their summer season in the Nixon, Monday, May 21.

Katherine Wilson will play the leading feminine role in "The Man Who Came Back," initial play of resident company in Nixon.

Josephine Whittell is among those rehearsing now for the first presentation of the latest stock organization for Pittsburgh.

Fred Sullivan is to play roles of prominence in the productions staged by the permanent company in the Sixth avenue theater.

NIXON PLAYERS PREPARE

Monday night, May 21, the Nixon Players, now rehearsing, will open the summer stock season in the Nixon with a comedy drama by Jules Eckert Goodman, "The Man Who Came Back." Harry Bannister and Katherine Wilson will play the leading roles, the cast including Josephine Whittell, Louise Quinn, Kathryn Card, George Macready, Howard Freeman, Fred Sullivan, Frank Reymond, Joseph Thayer and Jack Hayden. The seat sale opens Thursday.

Edwin Vail, stage director of the George Sharp Players, in the Pitt, will appear in mystery play, "Wooden Kimono," beginning Monday night, May 21. This thriller played two weeks in the Nixon in December, last.

Jacqueline Logan, who plays the role of Magdalene in "The King of Kings," will be the most widely viewed leading woman of the screen by the time the photoplay ends its world tour. The Biblical film, which is being shown twice daily in the Shubert Alvin, is playing in Europe and prints are being prepared for exhibition in 27 countries. This picture will remain for one more week. Seats will go on sale tomorrow morning.

The Arkansas Travelers, Weaver brothers, announced as the headline attraction in the Davis next week, are said to be the original handsaw musicians. They have a line of comedy characterizing the rube type.

Legion Band Plays on Talmadge Film Set

To instill the real martial spirit in 1,200 soldiers appearing with Norma Talmadge in her latest picture, "The Woman Disputed," Director Henry King procured the services of the fife and drum corps of an American Legion post to play during the marching scenes. Veterans of the American and practically every European army are working in Miss Talmadge's feature at the United Artists studio. The story is laid on the Austrian-Russian border during the World War. Norma's supporting cast includes Gilbert Roland, leading man; Arnold Kent, Gustave Von Seyffertitz, Olga Baklanova, Michael Vavitch, Marion Templeton, Boris de Fas, Howard Davies, Joseph Mari, Carl von Haartman, Jackie Combs and scores of others.

Talking Photoplay Idea Divides Movie Capital Into Two Camps—One Praising; Other Condemning

By REGINA CREWE

(Copyright 1928, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

LOS ANGELES, May 16.

HOLLYWOOD is becoming more and more sharply divided into two camps. One is loud in its praise of the talking picture idea. The other, though not so loud, is equally emphatic in condemning the innovation. Perhaps the most enthusiastic singers of sound film praises are the Warner Brothers, who are "Vitaphoning" many of their most important productions. Fox has been confined to short subjects or sequences more in the nature of novelties. Paramount has a sound contrivance of its own, and now First National announces that it will produce that hectic drama, "The Squall," with all its stage lines synchronized to pictures through the medium of the Firnatone.

On the other hand, such skilled brains as that possessed by Ernst Lubitsch, the Metro director, fail to conceive how the use of sound to reproduce dialogue in pictures can aid the new art in its forward progress. The opposition considers that the introduction of sound in the "silent drama" is but a poor compromise with the stage. And, whereas the motion picture is an entirely new and distinct form of artistic expression, to mingle noise with its shadowy sequences will destroy its strength, its illusion, and result in a hybrid, fifty-fifty sort of thing, which is neither stage nor cinema.

The Warner picture, "The Lion and the Mouse," to be shown within a few days on both coasts, contains lengthy Vitaphone sequences—more than any picture yet produced. The reception of the picture by the public should—and doubtless will—go a long way in aiding the movie magnates in making a decision as to how much sound is ideal in motion pictures.

Marion Nixon is one of those whose contracts expire in June. Marion is at present with Universal. But next month she will be among the free-lancers. There seems to be a very definite indication that the big companies are signing fewer contracts, depending more and more upon selecting players from picture to picture from the hundreds of capable screen players who have no set affiliation.

H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, seems to be a movie fan. At any rate he has made the princely gesture of lending his immense Canadian ranch to the British-Canadian Pictures, Ltd., as location for a film to be titled "Retribution." Barbara Kent has been rented out by Universal to play the leading feminine role. So all that Barbara has to do is to cross her fingers and wish that the Prince makes one of his frequent visits to the ranch before the film is finished. And then—who can tell! Neal Hart has been engaged to direct the picture.

Although May McAvoy will leave Warner Brothers when her contract expires, there is still time left for several pictures. One of these—the next—will be "Terror," and that very excellent trouper, Alec Francis, will be in the cast. Yes, most of it will have Vitaphone accompaniment. At present, almost the entire Warner organization is concentrating on "Noah's Ark," which looms "bigger and better" as the picture progresses.

It looks as though Jimmy Hall and Ben Lyon may have the opportunity to play a few more juvenile roles, after all. For "Hell's Angels" has progressed sufficiently to permit Greta Nissen, the vivacious viking, who is the girl in the show, to leave Hollywood for New York next Monday. And if nothing happens, I understand the picture will actually be ready for release in the fall. By the way—and this is no press agent yarn—both Ben and Jimmy have spent enough hours in the air to qualify for pilot's licenses, and the health of both youngsters has been endangered more than a few times in order to secure shots which cannot fail to thrill you.

The Milton Sills' starring vehicles for the season have been tentatively titled "Captain of the Strong," "The Eagle's Trail," "The Spotter" and "Hard Rock." Let's all hope that at least one of them gives Milton a decent story. He needs one.

Whether or not you think Harry Langdon's pictures are funny, Harry thinks they are. Harry practically directs all the action in his films. At present he is making a picture with the working title of "The Volunteer." He was on the set today, looking like a model for "What the well-dressed movie star will wear"—brown, belted coat, soft white hat, and all that. The sequence showed the interior of a bedroom. It was what they call a "break away" set which means that all the furnishings are so contrived that they fall apart at a given moment. The gag is that a blast in the neighborhood wrecks the room, and when the various assistants pulled the wires that do the trick, Harry's laugh could be heard above all the noises in the studio. Harry may not be his own severest critic, but he is surely his own most appreciative audience.

Colleen Moore on Voyage to Hawaii

Bound for a brief vacation in Hawaii, Colleen More is now aboard the liner Malolo, having sailed from San Francisco upon the completion of her latest starring picture for First National, "Happiness Ahead."

Miss Moore, who is accompanied by her mother and father, plans to be away from Hollywood three weeks, this trip being her first visit to the islands. She will visit Honolulu, Hilo and other nearby points of interest before returning direct to Los Angeles.

This vacation is well earned, for Miss Moore appeared in two pictures with only a short rest between them. She completed the stellar role in George Fitzmaurice's production "Lilac Time" two days before camera work commenced on "Happiness Ahead."

During her absence Producer John McCormick is making preparations for her next starring vehicle, "Oh Kay," an adaptation of the stage success of the same name. Mervyn LeRoy will direct.

Players in Circus Get Roles on Screen

Hollywood was the winter home—and a profitable one—for many circus performers during the so-called "off season" for the folk of the big top. Acrobats, trapeze artists, bareback riders, clowns and others, who usually are without work from late fall until early spring, found employment in several pictures based on circus life.

The biggest of these productions is "4 Devils," F. W. Murnau's huge undertaking, in which Janet Gaynor, Charles Morton, Nancy Drexel and Harry Norton are featured as aerialists. They perform against a background of real circus life.

EMPLOYE DIES IN FALL UNDER CIRCUS WAGON

ERIE, Pa., May 16.—Injuries received when he fell under a circus wagon yesterday caused the death of Arthur Powers, 45, an employe of the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus. Powers died in an Erie hospital. He was a resident of Huntington, W. Va.

BENEFIT PLAY SWELLS RIDGWAY LIBRARY FUND

RIDGWAY, May 16.—More than $1,000 was added to the local library fund as the result of two benefit performances staged Saturday and Monday by the Borough Library Association. The library drive is being supported by business men and all civic groups of the community.

EMILY DAY -:- Through Disappointments to Love -:- "CONSTANT FLAME"

SOME ADVICE!

Mrs. Day, mother of Emily, thought Marty was just right. She started to tell her daughter just what her opinion was, but Emily—well, she has her own opinions in "The Constant Flame," brilliant and romantic serial beginning tomorrow in The Sun-Tele. Winifred Van Duzer wrote it.

AND MARTY!

He was planning to become a lawyer and, as he told Emily, she was amazed. She listened with interest, for she liked him, and felt grateful to him for his many favors. These two—Emily and Marty, have interesting lives. Follow them in "The Constant Flame," beginning tomorrow in The Sun-Tele. Real romance!

A KISS!

And after it, Kent and Emily faced a new era. Kent—just what type was he? Find him out in "The Constant Flame," beginning tomorrow in The Sun-Tele. It's considered Van Duzer's best.

TALKING IT OVER!

Kent and Emily sat chatting about this and that. Yes, they have interesting things to say in "The Constant Flame." Pictures above were posed by Louise Gerard Huntington, Miriam Kirkell, Matthew Smith, Jr., and Gordon Anderson, all of the George Sharp company, Pitt Theater.

THE GREATEST ADVENTURE STORY OF MODERN TIMES

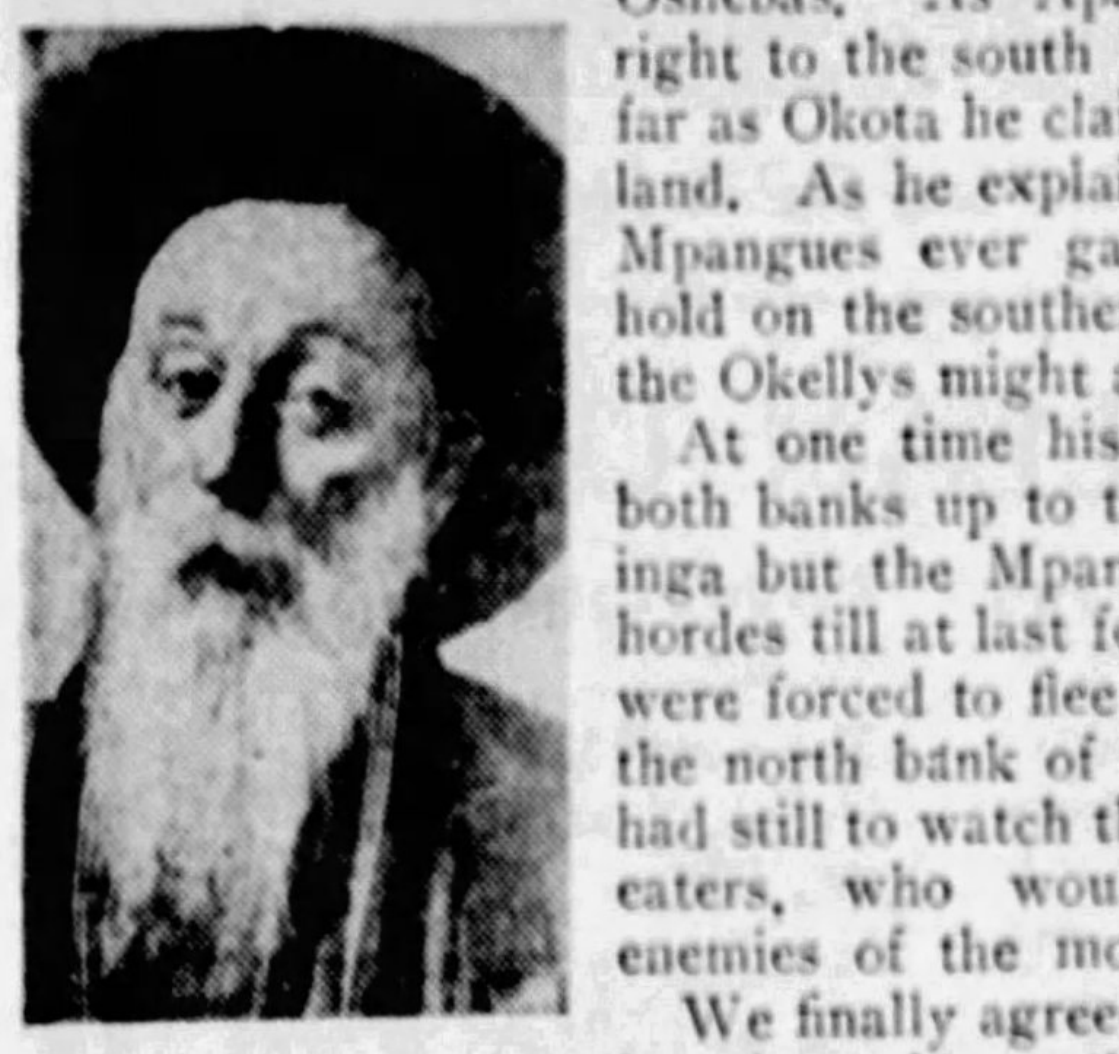
Horn Buys Whole Island for a Bottle of Gin

War Results; He Refuses to Give Up His Post on His Superior's Order

By ALFRED ALOYSIUS HORN
Edited by ETHELREDA LEWIS.

CHAPTER XXXII.

I KEPT the south bank of the river as far as Apaques place, making only three short stops. I spent the night making plans for our mutual defence against the Mpangues and Oshebas. As Apaque had a perfect right to the south bank of the river as far as Okota he claimed also the hinterland. As he explained, if Oshebas and Mpangues ever gained a strong foothold on the southern bank of the river the Okellys might as well move back.



ALFRED A. HORN

At one time his grandfather owned both banks up to the Okotas from Eninga but the Mpangues came down in hordes till at last for safety's sake they were forced to flee from their lands on the north bank of this great river, and had still to watch this cruel race of man eaters, who would always be the enemies of the more peaceable tribes.

We finally agreed that if he was molested on the south bank I would give him all the help I could in reason, as I needed a safe passage at all times for my canoes coming and going from our chief station. And this agreement we kept faithfully.

I also promised to make my headquarters on Isange Island just south of the Acotas and as he claimed this island as his property and he was quite right, I gave him a bottle of gin for it, and he signed a paper making Isange Island my property for all time.

After this was over he persuaded me to stay a full day with him, as he had much to tell me, and we all agreed to take another day's rest with Uncle Apaque, the Napoleon of the Ogowe. He then changed the conversation to De Brazza, who had put in a night with him, and had also offered to take away any of his slaves who wished to go with him, and although he was quite willing and called many of his slaves around him, none of them left him.

He knew that a slave who wished to run away could always do so, so he would never hinder them in any way. He had lost but few during a long life, whilst many fled from other countries and Boliaed Imanda (begged him to accept them as their master). He knew how to get along with them and they were just as free as a free man as long as they were willing to serve him in war time. He had always found them the best of fighting material and good workers as long as they were left to enjoy the fruits of their labor.

He had no Josh House or voodoo in his country and in case of trouble they were tried by their own headmen, whom he held responsible for those under them. Thus he had lots of time to study the doings of both freemen and slaves, and under his rule they had increased and multiplied enormously, so much that he needed a new country, especially land on which his people could cut rubber, which he found was gradually fetching better prices, and supplied them with all the white man's goods they needed.

What Apaque could not understand was the meaning of a French flag, and, of course, it was not my business to explain to him. The very idea of a man spending so much money carrying kicking donkeys and machine guns with him greatly puzzled him and he said, What won't a Frenchman do.

He had visited Gaboon many times going overland, had seen the big mission station and had come to the conclusion that they were a race of people who were fond of wasting their time or were a race of white fools. At this solution of the whole affair we were all forced to laugh and this pleased Apaque.

We all enjoyed our visit and it was late when I went to sleep in his apartment as he was fond of telling me the various episodes of his life when he had been generalissimo of his father the Paramount Chief of the country.

He had also hunted ivory for many years and would take a large regiment of men with him and hunt the country and not only did they rely on what they killed for food but always brought sufficient dried game back with them to supply their wants during the rainy season. This he said was the grand secret of creating a good army and he surely had one.

In all his battles with the tribes both near and far he had always made them fear him. This he said had made them secure in the land they lived in. And no tribe had ever overrun them.

We parted the following morning and were at Samquite long before sundown. We made a fond goodby to old Samquite and in a few days we pulled up at Isange Island where I made a fortified post at the east end of the island. This being finished I laid out my large stock of goods for trade and I had not long to wait before the Mpangues and Oshebas commenced to flock in.

I made it a strict custom that they all gave up their arms and allowed no one in the stockade carrying them. They did not like this for a while, but they got quite used to it in a short while, as I allowed no trouble of any kind to take place on the island.

The Mpangues and Oshebas came

PRESIDENTIAL POSSIBILITY

Dost know by sight this man? Perhaps you do, perhaps you don't, and if you do perhaps you're wrong. He's a possible candidate for the presidency of the United States as convention dates draw nearer. There isn't here the slightest hint of his identity. The Sun-Telegraph is printing a series of "possible candidates," Democratic and Republican and otherwise, always withholding the name until the following day. This man's name tomorrow!

TUESDAY'S "POSSIBLE CANDIDATE" WAS FORMER SENATOR GILBERT N. HITCHCOCK, NEBRASKA, DEMOCRATIC SENATE LEADER UNDER PRESIDENT WILSON.

FIND WEST GUILTY

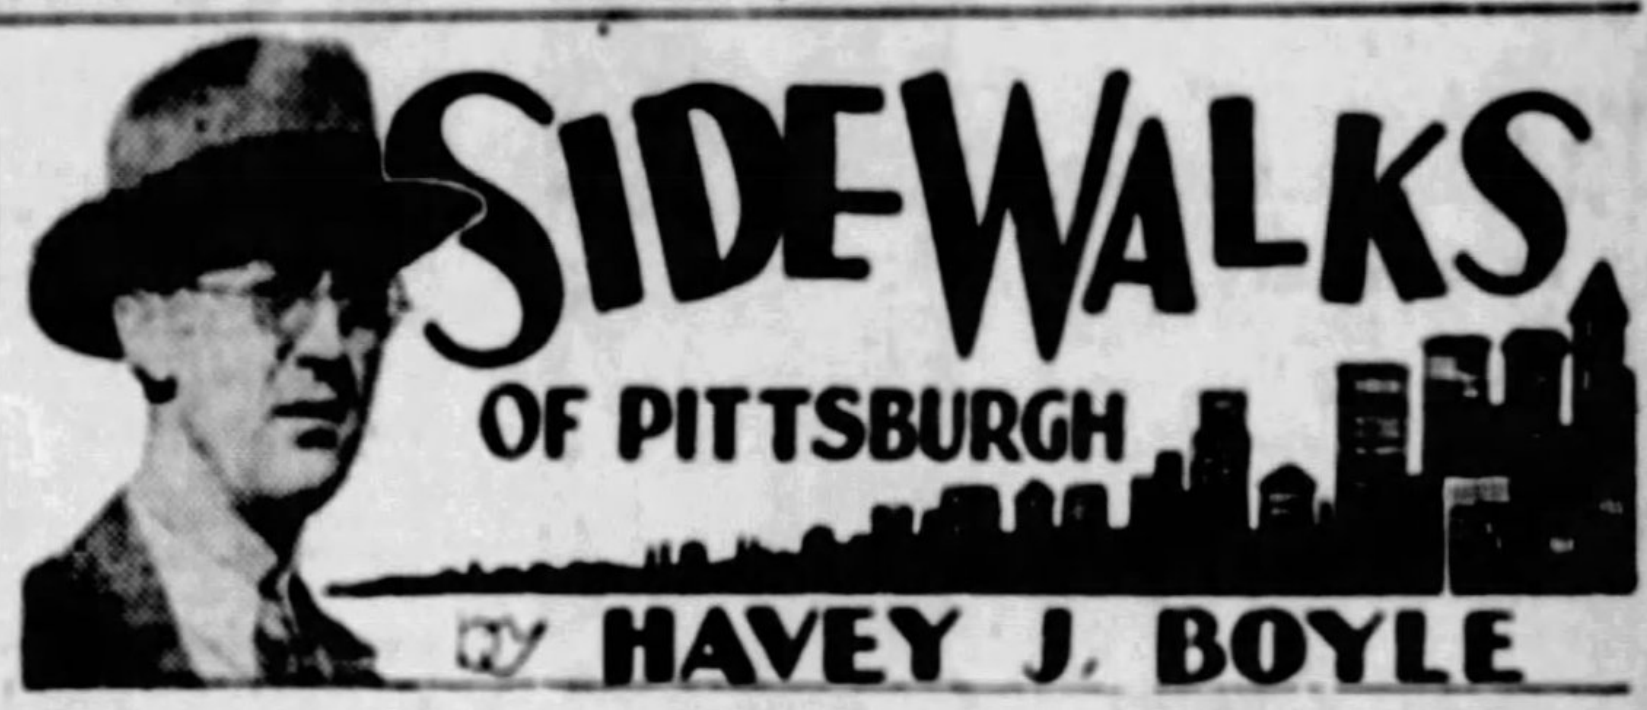
Frederick West, 20, of Fairmont, W. Va., was found guilty of robbery by a jury in Criminal Court today in the $2,400 Aldine Theater holdup last December 14.

Miss Marie Bauer, of Fairmont, was the principal witness for West in his alibi defense. She testified yesterday that West had called at her home the night of the holdup. She left immediately after testifying to participate in a West Virginia beauty contest.

Boasting of the holdup led to West's arrest in Bellaire, O., testimony revealed. His confession was introduced. It was charged he and an accomplice, one of them masked, entered the office of the theater at the close of the night performance, and with revolvers, held up G. C. Murphy, assistant manager.

80 CANDIDATES SEEK U. S. JUDGESHIP HERE

More than 80 names have been suggested for the vacancy in the United States Court here caused by the death of Judge W. H. S. Thomson, it was said today at the office of Senator David A. Reed. Senator Reed said he hopes to have the appointment made before the end of the present session of Congress. An effort may be made to have the Allegheny County Bar Association and other organizations confer in an effort to recommend one of the applicants.



SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

By HAVEY J. BOYLE

FRANK BRAYDEN, the advance man for Miller's 101 Ranch show, came through Pittsburgh to herald the wonders of the Miller wild west opus. He used an expression, likely common in circus circles, but new here, at least. It was a term synonymous with "velvet," in the sense of clear profit. Asked how business was, Mr. Brayden said: "We had them on the straw in Cincinnati." That meant that all the seats had been sold, all possible standing room had been sold, and extra places for the customers were provided by laying straw in front of the regular seats, whereon the customers squatted. In the circus realm, putting them "on the straw" is the way of saying the house was packed.

The circus season offers many grown-ups a chance to slip back a few years and strike an attitude that convention decrees must be hidden most of the time.

It is a theory here that while most of us say we go to the circus to give the children an outing, the real reason is that we go to have a good time ourselves, with such trimmings as ice cream, peanuts and red lemonade, to say nothing of the thrills coming from seeing Jo-Jo, the dog-face boy, the Bearded Lady, the Wild Aztec girls, the sword-swallower and the Blonde in Black.

WHEN the barker of one of the side shows comes out, with cane in hand, and begins: "Now Ladies and Gentlemen, we have the honor, and I might say the privilege, of presenting this evening the Four Hula-Hula girls from that far-off isle in the majestic Pacific," who is it that can walk by with disinterested air?

* * *

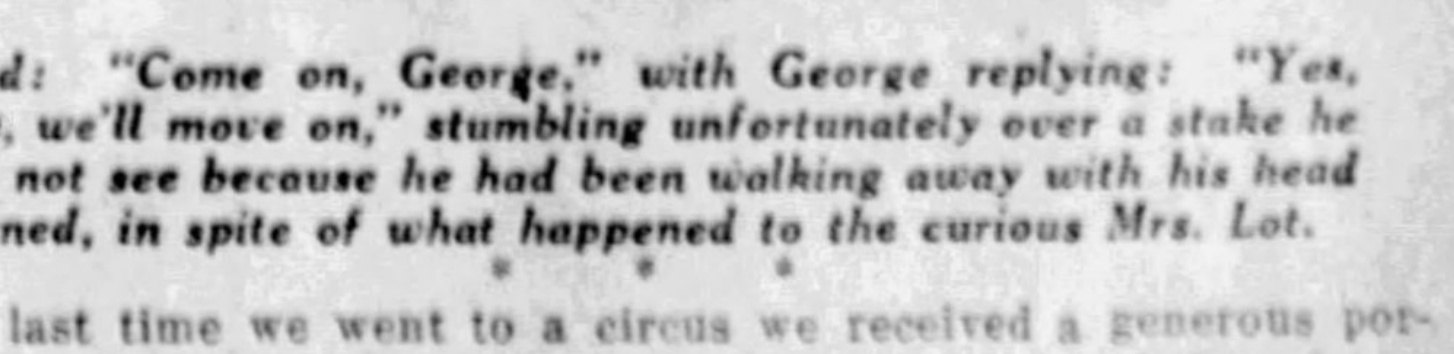
The girls, slightly fatigued from an arduous combination of listening to the old story of the barker and their terpsichorean endeavors within the tent, look less like dusky-hued natives of a tropical isle than copper-painted ladies who possibly saw the light of day for the first time in a place no nearer the tropics than Sheboygan or Hoboken.

* * *

WHO is that can stand unconcerned in front of the elephants and who is non-speculative enough not to ponder whether Jumbo there does or does not remember you from last year when you gave him a sack of peanuts? Who can look at the colony of giraffes without awe and wonderment? The children, being far more practical and philosophical, after having taken a good look at the animals, wish to move on to new wonders, but the parents who insist they go merely for the children's sake get impatient as they are being tugged at by small hands, and often you hear a sedate father say: "Now, Ollie, you just stay here awhile—see the big giraffe." Ollie has had enough, it is plain, but Papa wants to linger awhile and put the responsibility on little Ollie.

* * *

As we remember it, it is not Ollie, however, who does the tugging as the family passes the stand whereon stand the Hula-Hula girls from Sheboygan. In memory there lingers, instead, the picture of the wife of the family group, tugging at a male elbow and saying in tones that drip a pint or so of acid: "Come on, George," with George replying: "Yes, yes, we'll move on," stumbling unfortunately over a stake he did not see because he had been walking away with his head turned, in spite of what happened to the curious Mrs. Lot.



GEORGE COME HERE!

THE last time we went to a circus we received a generous portion of ice cream down the back of our neck, placed there by an infant, who celebrated the occasion with a gurgle that sounded like "Ga-ga." This was in addition to the peanut shells that dropped onto our hat brim from the beard of the man behind.

However, we'll likely go again. The children are fond of the circus.

TRADER HORN'S VIVID STORY

In their canoes to the north side of the island and the Okellys and Oketas who were their enemies used the south side. Thus I made a free trade island and I had a better trade than I expected both in ivory and rubber. I made frequent shipments to Adonimanango and my goods always arrived safely. Apaques people arrived and established a small town near by in the country vacated by the Oshebas. I dispatched traders up country and all did well.

I had news of De Brazza from the Okandas, and he had opposition from the fighting tribes of the Ilige (?) district, but his machine guns and rifles had proved too much for these savages and he eventually arrived with his donkey troop and his liberated slaves at Brazzaville.

Thus all went well for a few months till a large consignment of goods coming up the river to my depot had the misfortune to come up the side of the river inhabited by the Bimvool. All went well till they reached Ngogudsma's town, the head chief of these cannibals. Here they were attacked and the whole of the valuable consignment was captured by this chief.

I heard the news a few days after this event and immediately dispatched news of the occurrence to Sinclair who sent me an answer that the chief had promised to send back the goods intact as well as the prisoners if he, Sinclair, would agree to send me no more supplies and recall me. If not he would not do this.

He threatened to do his worst against him and if necessary he would raise his tribe and attack the chief depot. Sinclair consented to his demands and sent me instructions to come down the river at once and save myself as my accounts were already largely in my favor, and for my sake he would like me to return without delay.

Horn Hangs On

There I was stuck. My pet project for which I had labored hard was smashed and I was obliged to acknowledge defeat. As I had little or nothing left in my store, I made a resolution to ship the balance down the river and thus obey orders, but abandon the post I would not, making the excuse to Sinclair that I had outstanding debts which I would collect in spite of his agreement. And if I had a chance, which I surely would have, I would pay the cannibal chief for his insolence.

I had not long to wait. I collected my outstanding debts and called in my traders who all came down the river in due time and I explained everything to them. All those who wished to go down the river to Adoninango I let go, reserving only such men and canoe boys as were necessary to man my four largest canoes.

I then formed hunting parties and we hunted elephants and other animals on Apaques side of the river. I sent a dispatch to Apaque explaining all and told him to advise me of any move either on our chief trading station or in event of Ngogudema making a move up stream to attack me to let him come as I was sure to give him a beating and was ready for any move he made. This he promised to do.

I had a large quantity of ammunition and my general Iwolo and I planned our mode of battle. One day whilst I was maneuvering my canoes near the island I was surprised to see quite a number of canoes coming down stream, some of them flying the French flag.

Enemy Approaches

I gave them a royal salute and pulling back to the island, the soldier in charge of the party told me graphically of the doings of the expedition under Count de Brazza, which except for the battle with the savages of the Ilige district had been a complete success.

The country he said was quite a good one to live in and all was going well. He had been sent down for supplies and would return when he had them. I now explained what had happened to me and my expedition, he knew I was following De Brazza as quickly as I could, and to be put in such a shape reflected little credit on Sinclair. At this he smiled and said as we were speaking French Il manqua l'audace or some words of this kind but to me the words He had a yellow streak would have sounded much better and given a truer picture of Sinclair.

After he had dined he said he wished he could help me but promised to do all that he could, that to him it seemed impossible that a savage like Ngogudema could do what he liked on the Ogowe. We shook hands after having a parting drink and the young soldier whom I admired went of with his little flotilla rejoicing.

I received a dispatch from Apaque a few days later saying Ngogudema had started up stream with a large number of canoes in two sections and he also heard that he had also despatched quite a large regiment of his warriors by land but did not hear what his intentions were. He would keep me advised however as he was keenly watching from his side of the river.

Two days after this an Inenga salt trader was fired on from ambush on the Mpangue side of the river about 20 miles below Isange Island and had four of his men killed and several wounded and was forced to return to Inenga.

Battle Is On

The ball had well started and I kept well out of sight in the mouth of a creek on the south bank. I had left the island. Here the river was wide and had a big curve to the south and this we had picked out as an ideal place for our battle.

Early in the morning a messager arrived by land telling me that the hostile chief and his canoes were travelling leisurely and would be due to arrive about midday. We kept strict watch and passed our time spinning yarns and enjoying ourselves when our lookout announced the coming of the cannibal fleet. In a little while we had a view of it from our hiding place. On they came three deep keeping near the bank.

My boys were already in the canoes and we had with us two native women, the wives of traders. I thought it was best for them to go to the Okelli village which was not far away and wait till things were over. But they flatly refused they would stay with their men folk. The enemy's canoes were nearly opposite to us. And with the glass from the bush we could see men wearing red feather toppings. One of these was the chief.

A few words to all to obey Iwolo, my general, were all the instructions, and swiftly making for midriver, we turned slightly and stopped still within two hundred yards range and the battle commenced.

TWO STOLEN IDOLS

MYSTERY!! THRILLS! ADVENTURE! LOVE!!!

by FRANK L PACKARD

The Idols Reach Isolated Brother

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

While their schooner is becalmed off Singapore, Capt. Scarface Sweeney and Marlow, the mate, discover a bit of wreckage floating some distance from their ship. Investigation reveals that the "speck" is a fragile bark containing the body of a dead man. Capt. Scarface recognizes the body as that of Tom Kingsley, an old friend and daring adventurer. Mute evidence on the corpse hints at foul play. Two small but very handsomely carved ivory idols are found in the victim's pocket. Scarface believes that these are no ordinary trinkets, and surmises that they have played a grim part in the mysterious tragedy.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IV.

THERE was beauty in the night—a serenity that was almost mystic. The road, in the open spaces between the arched branches of the trees that fringed it on either side, lay white in a flood of moonlight. There was a breeze that, so soft it was, seemed to flutter hither and thither irresponsibly as though it were gossiping and whispering a thousand little secrets to the leaves.

And there was fragrance in the air—the smell of things that grow only in the tropics—like rare incense that was grateful to the senses, and that the nostrils drank in eagerly.

Bob Kingsley whistled softly a catchy little air as he strode along the road. Once he paused in one of the open spaces to stare around and above him—at the cloudless, jeweled heaven with its full moon riding high—at the green of the foliage that in the nightlight possessed a tint of beauty softened, mellowed, that was all its own—at the branches and tree-tops etched with exquisite tracery against the background of the sky.

"Some night! Some night!" he murmured—and, in the sheer delight of it, his great shoulders swung back as he flung out his arms in an all-embracing gesture.

And then for a little while he stood there motionless—like some white statue that, sculptured in tribute by a master hand, had been graven into the night to portray and typify thAt one essential glory of young manhood which lay in the splendor of its physique. His pith helmet, pushed carelessly back upon the head, left no shadows on the face—and the face was clean-shaven and lean, and the dark eyes were steady, and the jaws were square and firm. Almost six feet he stood, power and strength in his unconscious pose, the broad shoulders tapering down to the hips and waist of an athlete. And where the arms were bare, and the open shirt lay bare the throat, the muscles seemed to ripple even in repose.

And then he went on again—but now suddenly he ceased to whistle, and a slight frown gathered on his forehead. He had recalled a remark made to him by Farquhar, a little while ago. Farquhar, who had a small plantation back about three miles inland, and whom he had just been visiting because the man was down with a touch of fever, had merely made the remark in a casual way as they had bade each other good-night.

"I suppose you'll be off for the pearling beds in a few days, Bob, if the old man's fit to leave," Farquhar had said. "You can't wait much longer."

No, he couldn't wait much longer—if he were going at all! That was just it! But the "old man," which was to say his father, Robert Kingsley, was in the throes of one of his bad spells, practically helpless, and showed little or no sign of any immediate improvement. And money wasn't any too plentiful, and the schooner lay out there in the lagoon eating her head off. Well, no, hardly as bad as that! The native crew, only six of them, counting Nanu the mate, didn't cost very much.

Bob Kingsley came to an abrupt halt. He had topped a little rise in the ground, and the lagoon with the open sea beyond had come suddenly into view. Here and there along the beach fronting the lagoon a few lights twinkled from the houses of the little town—but it was not at these that he stood staring now. Out in the lagoon, so plainly defined in the bright moonlight that her riding lights seemed almost superfluous, a steamer lay at anchor.

"Hello!" exclaimed Bob Kingsley in surprise. "The Monotah's in!" And then he grinned. "Business must be mighty poor, or else they've tied her engines down to the bed-plates with an extra piece of string to keep them from falling apart, and have swindled an extra knot or so out of her—the old tub's a good three or four days ahead of even her crazy schedule! Wonder how long she's been in, and if any one has told the old man?"

As he reached the clearing in front of the bungalow, he paused for a moment. The French windows that gave directly on the veranda from the living room were wide open. A lighted lamp stood on the table in the center of the room, and, drawn up to the table, his back to the window, Robert Kingsley sat in a wheel-chair, his gray head bent forward as though intent upon something that lay before him on the table.

A shadow crossed Bob Kingley's face. He was a grim old sort, his father, and always had been—but there seemed somehow now to be a dejected droop to the old man's shoulders that he had never noticed before. Perhaps it was because his father thought no one was looking—certainly, he had never seen his father ever show anything but a stiff upper lip before. Perhaps this had been going on ever since the advent of the wheel-chair. It might easily be that the wheel-chair was eating the heart out of the old man—and the man was getting old.

He crossed the little clearing slowly. No good taking the dad unawares! A man was entitled to his bit of depression in private without being discovered—God knew there was cause for it!

"Hello, dad," he called cheerily from the veranda, "did you know the Monotah was in?"

The form in the wheel-chair straightened up, but did not turn around.

"Been in three hours," said Robert Kingsley gruffly, "and she's sailing again at daybreak. She came in just after you left for Farquhar's."

"And three days ahead of time at last," smiled Bob. "I was wondering when I saw her in the lagoon if she hadn't had an overhaul that would account for it."

Robert Kingsley's back was still turned.

"She had," he said. "She was sold down in Singapore last trip. A new crowd's got her. Don't know one of them."

"Well, that explains the miracle, then," grinned Bob. "When it came to spending money, Capt. Hope—what did they call him?—Pokey Hope—was about as slow in parting with a pound as he was in coming out of the trance he always seemed to be living in. I always thought the old bird took dope. Can't say I'm sorry about the change. We'll get better service." He stepped forward into the living room. "I see you've got the mail," he added, as his glance fell upon some opened letters on the table.

The wheel-chair was swung suddenly around, and, still but halfway across the room, Bob Kingsley found himself staring with a sudden sense of misgiving into his father's face. The tan seemed to him to have gone out of the old man's cheeks, and, where it was not hidden by a grizzled beard, the skin was gray as though with pallor. The lips, tightly closed, were a grim, straight line; and the black eyes under their immense shaggy eyebrows were hard and bitter.

"Your Uncle Tom's dead," said Robert Kingsley tersely.

CHAPTER V.

BOB KINGSLEY stood very still.

"Dead!" He could not have heard aright. It was almost as though some one had told him that this man sitting here in the wheel-chair, his father, were dead. The two were not far apart in his life. There used to be a yearly visit to Kalawa—as a kid—and afterwards, too, for a long time. Not an uncle—a chum. "Dead!" he repeated mechanically.

"Been murdered," said Robert Kingsley stonily.

Bob Kingsley brushed his hands across his eyes.

"My God!" he said in a low voice. "I—I don't understand."

The old man motioned toward the table, as he jerked the wheelchair around again.

Bob Kingsley stepped forward. Some opened letters were strewn about upon the table, and in a row in front of his father lay a revolver, a pipe, a tobacco pouch, a wrist-watch and two small images of carved ivory—like two little white gods. He stared at these for a moment, then glanced inquiringly at his father.

"Scarface Sweeney sent them—found them on your Uncle Tom," explained Robert Kingsley in a toneless voice. "There wasn't anything else. Here's his letter." He pushed a crumpled sheet of notepaper forward. "Scarface touched at Momboa, and Griswold mailed the things."

Bob Kingsley picked up the letter, and began to read it. It was illiterate, and the penmanship so bad that at times, though obviously written with painstaking effort, it was almost indecipherable. It detailed clearly enough, however, the finding of Tom Kingsley's body in an open boat at sea, and reiterated throughout the letter the writer's belief that murder had been done. At the end, Bob Kingsley laid the sheet of notepaper down on the table again.

"It's bad enough," he said in a strained voice; "but, after all, it might not have been murder."

"'Twas murder!" The old man's hands were clenched now. "'Twas murder and 'twas that rat Hsi Yan that did it! Here, read this"—he pushed another letter forward with his clenched fist—"it's from Crowley, who, I don't need to tell you, has the plantation next to Tom's on Kalawa."

(To be Continued Tomorrow.)

To Darken Brown Shoes

If, possibly owing to the light in the shoe shop misleading you, you buy brown shoes of too light a color, it is quite easy to darken them. Rub them with a piece of flannel dipped in ammonia of a medium strength, allow them to dry, and then polish. The shade of brown will have darkened, and a second application of ammonia would darken it further, if desired.

Washinig Stockings

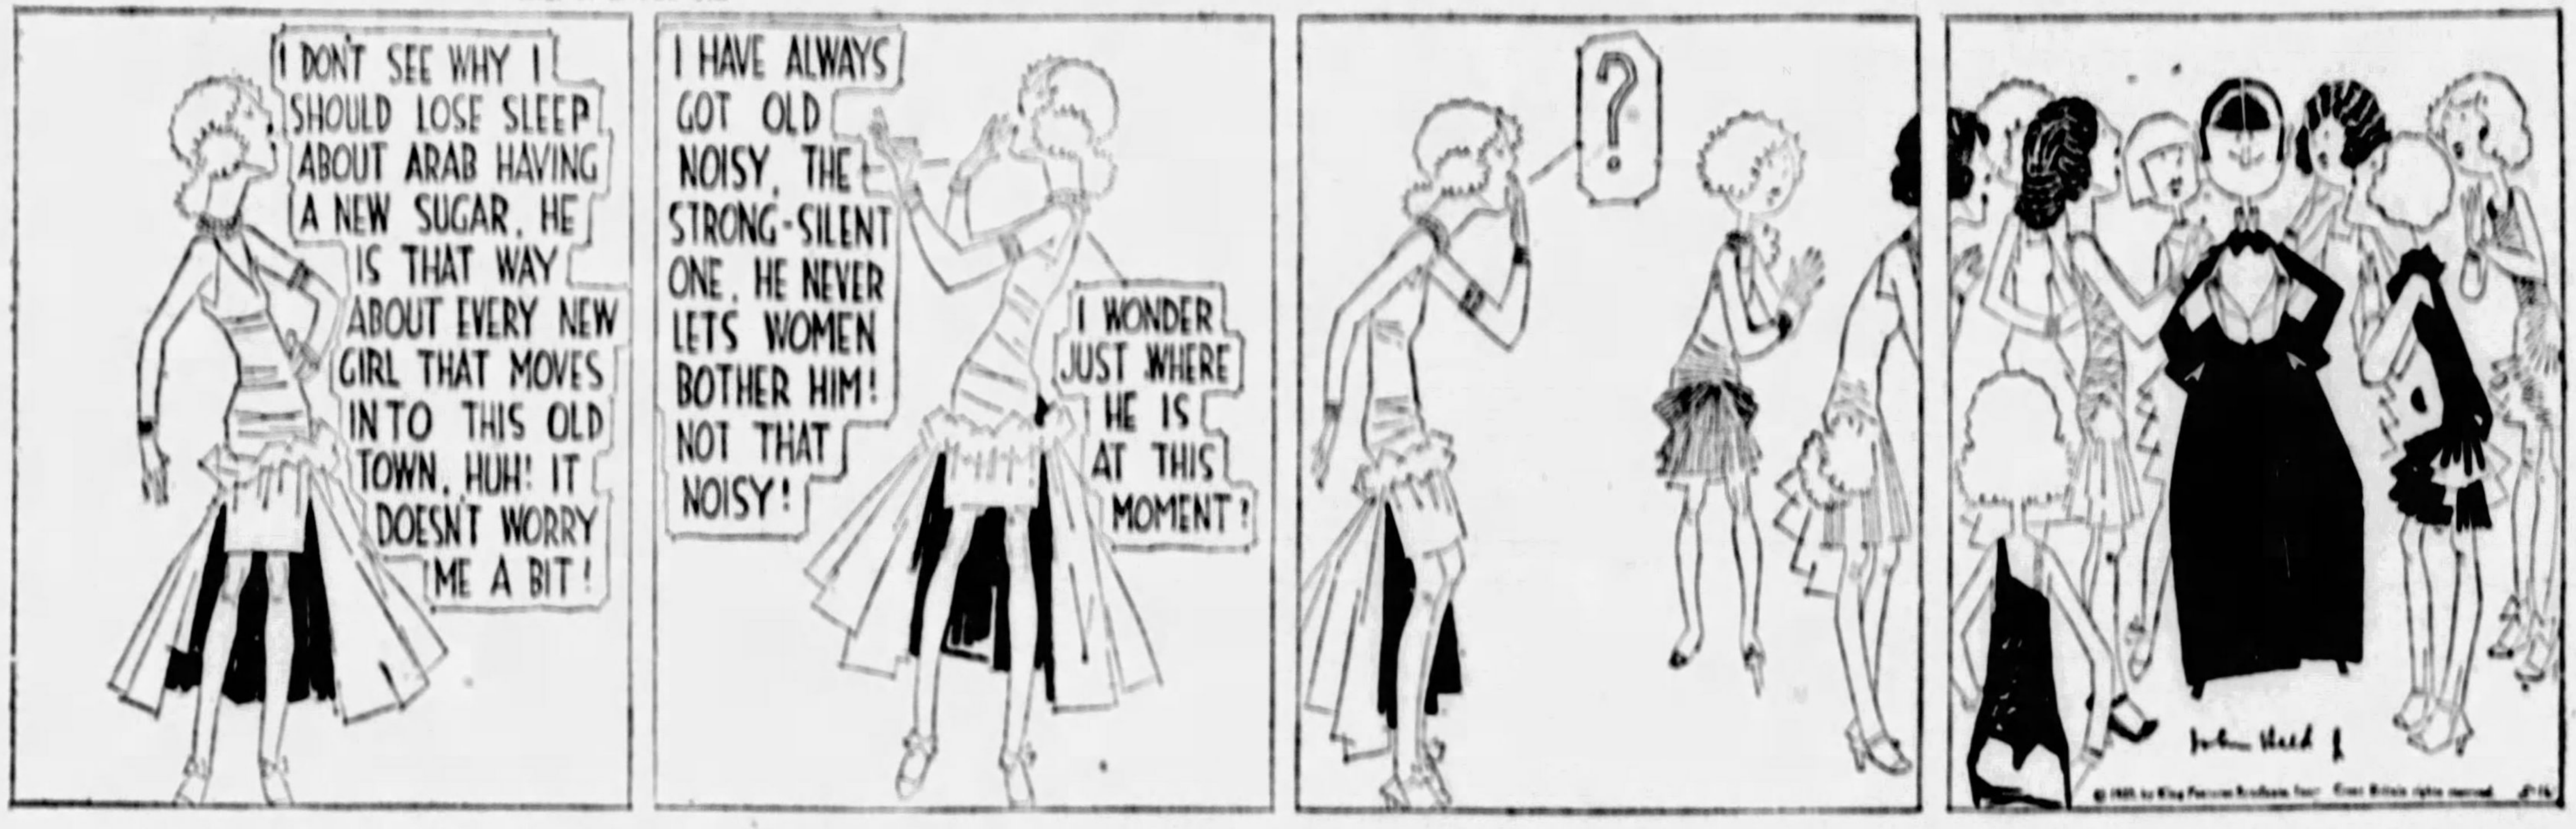
Stockings should be gently squeezed in a lather made by adding soap flakes to warm water, and rinsed well in more warm water with just a pinch of soap flakes. Rinsing is most important. If it is not done well you get a streaky appearance. Having squeezed all the moisture out, from toe to top, smooth each stocking out to its proper shape and hang to dry by the toe.

Merely Margy, An Awfully Sweet Girl

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Story by Lloyd Mayer

By John Held, Jr.



I DON'T SEE WHY I SHOULD LOSE SLEEP ABOUT ARAB HAVING A NEW SUGAR. HE IS THAT WAY ABOUT EVERY NEW GIRL THAT MOVES INTO THIS OLD TOWN, HUH! IT DOESN'T WORRY ME A BIT!
I HAVE ALWAYS GOT OLD NOISY, THE STRONG-SILENT ONE. HE NEVER LETS WOMEN BOTHER HIM! NOT THAT NOISY!
I WONDER JUST WHERE HE IS AT THIS MOMENT?
John Held Jr

"My dear, I'm all hot and BOTHered at this point—I mean I'm comPLETEly BAFfled and nonPLUSSED because the BOY friend situation is ABs'lutely out of conTROL, my dear. I mean what's the USE of being a girl with high IDEALS and a fine CHARacter and all if nobody apPREciates it? I mean I get SIMply SUNK when I sort of think OVer things like that to myself, my dear, because take f'r instance ARab and NOIsy who are youths I'm TERribly FOND of and all, my dear, and who've ALways been terribly deVOted to me and all, my dear—I should think they could underSTAND that no NICE girl necks just indisCRIMinally but I mean the MINute you won't PET, my dear, they go ROARing off with these little FLAPpers and things who will just neck ANYbody, my dear, and are simply proMISe'ours FLIRTS and everything—you know the type! I mean I could sort of understand ARab's doing it, my dear, because he's FRIGHTfully FICKle and all, but I mean I'm TERribly disappointed in NOIsy, sort of, because I mean I thought he had SENSE enough, sort of, to SEE a NICE girl's VIEWpoint about things like that, my dear, but I could ACtually BLOT BEETLES with RAGE at this point, my dear, because instead of CONsecrating on ONE of these POISonous little SHIMmy-fluffers NOIsy has an entire HARem of them pursuing him at this point, my dear, and I mean I'm SO disapPOINTed in him I could NIBble NOODles—I mean I ACtually AM!"

Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

By ADELE GARRISON

AT Lillian's question I sent my memory back over the afternoon of my call at The Larches, when little Mrs. Townsend had commented upon the resemblance of Eleanor Lincoln and the dog Fedor.

"Oh! I know Mrs. Townsend just said the girl was upset at her comment," Lillian went on, "but I noticed you evaded a direct answer to her. And it's your reaction I want, not Mrs. Townsend's. She has a superficial cleverness and she's jumped to a conclusion perilously near the truth, but I couldn't make any deduction from her conclusions."

I flushed with pleasure at her flattering inference and tried to make my tone judicial as I answered.

"There was no doubt about it. The girl was not only upset, but there was real terror in her eyes when Mrs. Townsend spoke of the resemblance. She was heroic—and adroit—however, in her attempt to disguise her agitation. I thought I was the only one who noticed her distress, but from a comment Mary made afterwards, I am sure she observed it, and now we have heard Mrs. Townsend's reaction."

"It must have been pretty apparent," Lillian commented, "and proves conclusively that she was upset. Then of course her sudden retraction of her promise to pose for Dicky, when she found out that he wanted to draw her with her hand resting on the dog's head, cinches the fact that she has some very good reason for not wanting to call attention to her resemblance to that picture, or to her real identity. I'll stake a good deal on one thing, however. If she's involved in what I think she is, it's as an innocent participant. But that won't help her when the Judgment Day comes."

I looked away to hide the question in my eyes, for Lillian's tone as well as her manner told me that she could not or would not explain what she meant by her allusion. The next instant I felt her hand clasping mine warmly.

"Sorry, old dear," she said contritely, "but you know my little ways. I simply cannot tell even you some of the things I'm working on. Besides it would be absurd to fill your ears with guesses which are all I have to offer now. But I want to ask you this. See as much of the young woman as you can and ring me in on it. I want a chance to look her over and study her. Incidentally, I want to watch Phil Veritzen when he's talking to her, and off guard. I don't mean any evening party or afternoon call—but—I don't know how you'd manage it, but couldn't you get them over here for the day sometime soon?"

"I don't see how that could be managed," I said slowly. "But, what's the matter with giving a beach picnic with a pirate steak?"

Lillian jumped to her feet and seizing my hands drew me upright and whirled me around in a dance step.

"You prize of all the world!" she said. "A beach picnic, where we'll all be down at the shore all day and where everybody's sure to be off guard sooner or later! It's the very ticket! I wish you didn't have to give it, though. I don't want it to appear that you're anxious to get them all over here, especially on Mary's account—it looks too much like angling for Noel. You've noticed, I suppose, that the young man has been conspicuous for his absence ever since the night of the dinner."

"Yes," I admitted, "I have, and I share your opinion about appearing to be anxious for him to come back. But if you must have them all together, why—I don't see any other way, only—"

"Wait a second," Lillian interrupted. "I have a scheme."

NOW is the time to rally to the support of the Pirates and extend a helping hand to them—now when they are in their worst plight of the early season.

Wilbert Robinson

It's an easy matter to be a fair-weather fan and shout your head off about the way "our team is going" when everything is breaking smoothly for the one club and it is bowling over all opposition, but the "attaboy" and the old pat on the back are not needed then so much as they are needed at a time like the present.

The Bucs have been beaten three times in a row, equaling their longest losing streak of the year, and have been pushed into sixth place by Wilbert Robinson's warriors. That shows the queer turns that are possible in baseball, as before the series with Pittsburgh Brooklyn lost five games in a row and dropped nine of 11 straight contests.

ADMITTING that the Pirates have not been playing like the champions who won the pennant last year, and that the pitching and catching has been far below par, it does not follow that they are going to continue in such a slump. The crippled pitching and catching departments have been the cause of much of the trouble, and naturally the work of the other players has been affected.

But baseball is full of ups and downs. Don't forget that the speeding Cubs lost six out of seven games before they began their present winning streak, nor that the Giants, who were being hailed as champions a short while ago, have lost four games in a row, one more than Pittsburgh has dropped, and have been beaten seven times in the last 10 games.

Fortune will change for the Bucs, too, and they'll soon be on their way upward again. The quickest way to bring it about is to cut out the calamity howling, get behind the team and help it to keep up its morale.

ALL honor to the Cubs for their great work in registering 10 consecutive victories, but it doesn't necessarily mean that they are going to walk away with the pennant. Long winning streaks in the first part of the season are something on the order of a habit with the Bruins. Last spring they won six out of seven at one stage, then they copped six straight, later they achieved 12 victories in succession, or two more than they have won up to date, and shortly after that they copped nine straight decisions. They won 51 of their first 80 games for a percentage of .638. But the pennant race is a test of 154 games, which is rather trying on infields that have never been through the mill, and when the season of 1927 closed, Chicago was in fourth place with a percentage of .556. But, as stated above, all honor to Joe McCarthy and his fast-going pastimers for their long streak of success, and thanks to them for knocking off New York four times in a-row. The clean sweep against the Giants is apt to help the Pirates in the long run.

OFFICIAL announcement that Washington has asked waivers on George Sisler indicates that the once mighty star of the Browns has reached the end of his rope and that the curtain is about to be drawn on a career that in spite of all its brilliance will always be associated in baseball records with one of the most notorious "steals" in the history of the game.

George Sisler

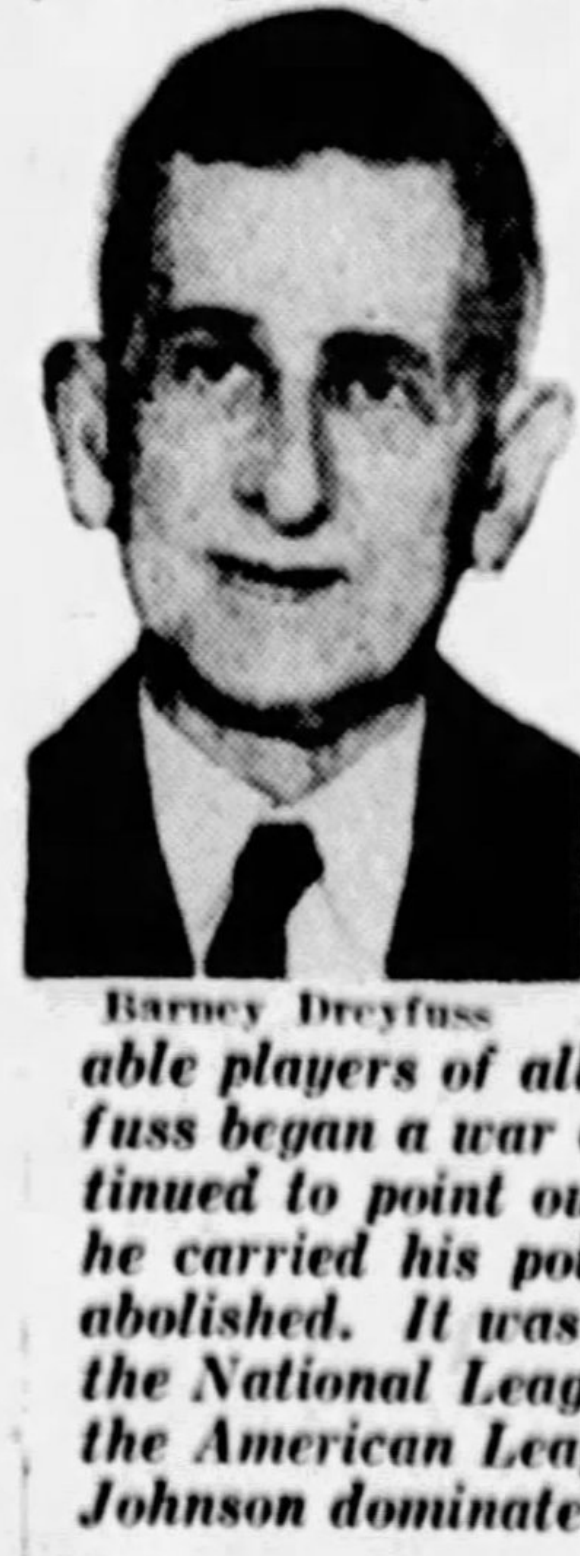
By all the rules of fairness and sportsmanship, Sisler belonged to the Pittsburgh club, and it is safe to say that if Commissioner Landis had then, as now reigned over organized ball, the player never would have worn an American League uniform.

FOR it was not a mere promise or anything of that sort that bound Sisler to Pittsburgh after the local club purchased him from Columbus in 1912. HE ACTUALLY SIGNED A CONTRACT to play for the Pirates, but declined to report, played independent ball in Barberton, O., and then went through a course at the University of Michigan in 1912, 1913, 1914 and 1915.

MEANWHILE some one had evidently got to Sisler, and the young man, though then 22, set up the claim that his contract with Pittsburgh was not legally binding as he had signed it while he was a minor.

Every member of the then three-cornered National Commission expressed the opinion that Pittsburgh had first right to the player's services under baseball law, and to give the Pirates a legal claim to Sisler it was decided that all of the other clubs in the two big leagues should be warned to keep "hands off" the player while the Buccaneer management signed him to a new contract that would be legal.

HOWEVER, Ban Johnson apparently neglected to notify some of the clubs in his league, or, if he did notify them, at least one of them paid no attention to the edict, for when Pittsburgh tried to get a legal contract with Sisler, President Dreyfuss found that he had been offered more money without the Bucs being given a chance to bid and had signed with the St. Louis Americans. Just how the verdict was reached by three men who had previously expressed the opinion that Sisler was Pittsburgh's property, fair-minded fans never have been able to understand, but in 1915 an amazing decision was handed down awarding Sisler to the Browns. That's how Pittsburgh came to lose one of the most valuable players of all time. Then and there Barney Dreyfuss began a war on the National Commission and continued to point out the unfairness of the system until he carried his point and had the three-man system abolished. It was contended that it was impossible for the National League to get justice in any dispute with the American League, the charge being made that Ban Johnson dominated Garry Herrmann.



Barney Dreyfuss

AND now the player whose action in signing two contracts caused years of squabbling in the big leagues and finally led to the downfall of the National Commission and the placing of Judge Landis at the head of affairs, is passing on.

IT'S rather an unusually early ending, too, as modern baseball careers go, for it was only last March that Sisler turned 35, and only six years ago he led the American League in bat-

THERE'S HITS IN THEM ORBS!

Close-up of the keen batting eyes of Del Bissonette, new home run star of the majors and a potential Babe Ruth.

FORMER PITCHER MADE OVER INTO GOOD FIRST BASEMAN

Bissonette, like Babe Ruth, is a reformed pitcher. He had a try-out with the New York Yankees several years ago and was farmed out and starred for York in the New York-Pennsylvania League and then with Jersey City in the International League. From Jersey City he went to Buffalo, where he hit .365 and led the Bisons to a pennant victory last season. He has been a revelation with the Robins this year. Like Ruth, Bissonette was a left-handed pitcher in the beginning. Ruth was shifted to first base and then to the outfield because of his hitting. Bissonette was forced to give up pitching because of an arm injury, which may prove to have been a blessing in disguise if he develops into as big a hitting attraction as the Bambino, the King of Swat Himself.

Playing his first season with the Brooklyn Robins, who conclude a series with the Pirates here today, Bissonette is leading the National League in home runs, with six. He is one of the sensations of the early part of the campaign.

'PHIL CLUB HERE FOR CORSAIR SERIES

PITTSBURGH is entertaining three big-league ball clubs today, but the game scheduled between the Pirates and Dodgers was postponed on account of rain.

Perhaps the village wags will take issue with the statement concerning the three big-league teams, inasmuch as the Phillies are the third team referred to.

Be that as it may, the Quakers came into our city unannounced this morning and they did not have to get off at the freight station either, for didn't they trim those ambitious Reds yesterday, thereby making it possible for the fast-going Cubs to tie for the leadership of the league?

MRS. HURD ONLY U. S. SURVIVOR ABROAD

HUNSTANTON, England, May 16.—(AP.)—Glenna Collett, former American champion, was eliminated in the fourth round of the British women's open golf championship today by Miss Mabel Wragg, Yorkshire champion, 3 and 2. Two other American contenders also were eliminated. Miss Joy Winn defeated Miss Elizabeth Curtis of Clinton, Ia., 6 and 5. Miss Molly Gourlay, English champion in 1926, defeated Mrs. Stewart Hanley of Detroit, 7 and 6.

Miss Collett's defeat left only one American woman in the championship, Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, of Philadelphia, who as Dorothy Campbell won the championship in 1911. Mrs. Campbell Hurd was born in England.

Mrs. Hurd defeated Miss Aline Dobson, a veteran English player, 5 and 3, in the fourth round and then, in the afternoon, advanced into the sixth round by overwhelming Miss Doris Chambers, former British women's champion, 6 and 5. Most of the latter match was played through a blinding sleet storm.

GLENNA STARTS POORLY

The weather today was the worst since the start of the tournament. A biting Nor'wester brought a pouring rain which turned the course into a veritable quagmire.

MANDELL 6-5 CHOICE TO BEAT M'LARNIN

NEW YORK, May 16.—(AP.)—A rush of west coast support sending the odds down to 6 to 5 on the champion, indicated today that Jimmy McLarnin, Los Angeles slugger, would be close to an even choice when he seeks to wrest the lightweight crown from Sammy Mandell at the Polo Grounds tomorrow night.

Until the McLarnin money began pouring in Mandell had ruled a 7 to 5 favorite. The McLarnin backers were asking 2½ to 1 that the coast star knocks out the champion. A bet of $1,000 at these odds was reported by one Broadway firm.

While Mandell was confining his activities to some road work and enough exercise to keep his muscles limber at his training camp in Orangeburg, N. Y., the challenger unexpectedly put on the gloves and boxed four fast rounds with Ritchie Randolph, a sparring partner, at Pompton Lakes, N. J. Both plan to come to New York tomorrow in time for weighing-in in the afternoon.

Basing his estimate on the advance ticket sale, Tex Rickard said more than 60,000 persons would see the fight of 15 rounds, or less. McLarnin will try to become the seventeenth lightweight champion of the world.

When Benny Leonard retired in 1925 to take his place beside Jack McAuliffe, the first and three other undefeated lightweight kings, he opened the gates for fighters like LEFTHAND pitchers are taming the Pirates so frequently this season that one might be excused if he were to ask if the Oaklanders are somewhat of a setup for the southpaws. They are not exactly that, although Herb Pennock, in the third game of the World Series, made the National League champs look like easy pickin'.

ball men who laugh to scorn the idea that a lefthand batter is weak against the lefthand pitcher. They will back up their arguments by pointing to Ty Cobb, Joe Jackson, Fred Clarke, Babe Ruth and other fine batsmen who swung and still swing from the left side of the plate.

IN 1914 George Stallings used the switch system of outfielders successfully. George had three righthand and three lefthand batters for his pasture plots and he used them accordingly. The idea of making batters conform with the style of pitching has grown to such a degree that nearly every manager is swayed to a large extent by the identity of the man on the mound.

Clarke and his co-stars claimed a good batter should be able to hit any kind of pitching. In the present Pirate lineup the two Waner boys stand out to prove Clarke's assertion. But the picture may be turned when we consider Earl Smith and Johnny Gooch. It is not hard to see the discomfiture of these two .300 batters when they are called on to swing at the southpaws.

AND, as the Bard of Avon stated, there's the rub. Look at the clubs which have catchers driving in plenty of runs and you are likely to see a winning team. The Pirate receivers do not drive in runs consistently and, of course, there is a dearth in runmaking in this part of the batting order.

You might say that an argument of this kind infers that the players of today are not as clever as they were 20 years ago. Well, it's everybody for himself so far as that point is concerned, but if you will journey into leftfield for a moment or two you will see how far the game has progressed in one angle of cleverness.

A REGULAR patron of Forbes Field declares that the whole National League has not one high-class leftfielder to put on display. That's pretty strong language, but whom would you nominate as a good all-around leftfielder?

Can you think of one who can carry the bat of Jimmy Sheckard, Fred Clarke or George Burns? That may be a bit hard for the advocates of the present-day stars to laugh off and after they have let that sink in sufficiently, let them try to name three present-day Regulars who are the equal of Wagner, Clarke or Carey in doing a smart trick to score a run that would win a ball game. Eddie Roush is still cutting up like the old time stars, but there are few Roushes left.

ROUSH bunted safely with two men out and a man on a third while the Giants were in town. The play was so unusual that many wondered what it was all about. The same act was not so rare years ago. But in those days the players spent more time discussing smart stuff and less in outside pursuits.

SANDE NOT TO RIDE MARTIE FLYNN

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 16.—(AP.) — Bobashela, of B. B. Jones' Audley Farm, turned in one of the most sensational workouts, for the condition of the track, ever timed at Churchill Downs, this morning, when he stepped a mile in 1:41 2-5 under his full derby weight.

Martie Flynn ran a mile in 1:48 1-5. It was definitely announced today that Earle Sande will not have the leg on the Moore colt in the Derby.

The track was heavy, following light rains yesterday and last night, but Bobashela, son of Ormondale-Trappoid, showed a decided liking for the going. He was timed for the quarter in :23 4-5, half in :48 1-5, five-eights in 1:01, three-quarters in 1:14 1-5. The workout was impressive compared with the time check on other Derby candidates this morning.

Distraction, hope of Mrs. H. C. Phipps, also liked the going. He was timed for a mile and an eighth in 1:57 and galloped out the Derby distance in 2:11 2-5. His time for the mile, in quarters, was: :25, :49 4-5, 1:16 and 1:43.

Typhoon galloped a mile and a quarter in 2:15 1-5.

A. C. Schwartz's Sortie was not impressive in his trial. The son of On Watch appeared overtrained. He went a mile in 1:46 2-5, driving.

Cartage went a mile and an eighth in 1:59 and galloped out the quarter in 2:15.

Don Q covered the Derby distance in :24 2-5, :52 3-5, 1:19 4-5, 1:46, 2:14 1-5.

E. B. McLean's Toro went a half mile in :50 2-5. The son of The Porter will be given a trial over the Derby distance tomorrow.

ting and equaled the highest average ever made in the loop, the mark of .420 set by Ty Cobb in 1911. Sinus trouble kept him out during 1923 and weakened his playing afterward. Sisler also led the league in batting in 1920 with an average of .407. He holds the American League record for hits in a season, 257, and the distinction of having batted safely in the largest number of successive games in that circuit, 41.

Miss Collett encountered the greatest difficulties during the gale on the fourth and fifth holes. By the time the sixth was reached the rain had stopped, but there was no sign that the wind would let up.

Miss Collett missed a two-foot putt at the short seventh. She lost the hole with a 5 to her opponent's 4 and was 2 down again.

Miss Collett was 2 down at the turn. The eighth was halved in 6's and the ninth in 5's.

Miss Collett sank an eight-foot putt to halve the ninth, with Miss Wragg's ball hanging on the lip of the cup. Miss Collett was freezing cold.

The tenth hole was halved in 5's.

Miss Collett went 2 down at the eleventh. Putting badly from 20 feet, she was two yards off the line and her next shot was short of the cup. Miss Wragg chipped from the edge of the green and was down in 5. Miss Collett took 6.

Miss Wragg picked up on the twelfth, giving Miss Collett the hole in 3, and making the American 2 down. Miss Wragg had been in two bunkers and had taken 5 shots without getting on the green when she picked up.

The thirteenth hole was halved in 6's, Miss Collett sinking a 6-foot putt.

The American girl, steadying her play, drove to the fourteenth green and barely missed a 20-foot putt, while Miss Wragg chipped and then sank a 5-footer for a half in 3's, still leaving Miss Collett 2 down.

The fifteenth was halved in 5's, Miss Collett sinking a 12-foot putt.

With her efforts at the fourteenth and fifteenth in vain and facing an uphill fight for the last three holes, the American girl slipped at the sixteenth, getting a 4, while her British opponent was down in 3, taking the match.

Glenna Collett To Forsake Links, Said

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 16.—(INS.)—Glenna Collett, just today eliminated from the women's championship play in England, is seriously considering forsaking of the links, except as a pastime. Miss Collett is known here to be intensely interested in the real estate business and it is thought highly probable that she will devote her full time to that pursuit within a few months. Her father, George Collett, dropped the hint today.

She already has tasted the sorrows and joys that are the rewards of those who sell real property. In Westchester county, New York, according to stories here, there is a matter of 175 acres awaiting her powers of persuasion to the end that titles and deeds may change hands.

GIRLS TO BEGIN GOLF TOURNEY

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER.

More than 100 girls will begin play tonight in an indoor golf tourney on the course of National Indoor Golf, located at Sixth and Smithfield streets, according to Manager Martin.

They will qualify at nine holes for places in flights of 16, and then continue at match play. It is expected the tourney will take the better part of a week to be run off.

Suitable prizes have been put up for the winners. The victors in the first division will be awarded a handsome pair of golf shoes; a golf bag goes to the second flight winner; a beautiful sweater to the third, and a brassie to the fourth.

Stanley Curry, the course's new pro, is on the job and will be on hand to help with the scoring.

GIRLS TO COMPETE AT STADIUM TODAY

Unless the light rain increases in volume Pitt's second annual play-day program, this afternoon in the Pitt Stadium, will be held as scheduled, according to an announcement this morning by the Pitt authorities. One hundred and eighty girl athletes, representing nine schools, will take part in the festivities.

Following the various events, the girls will be taken to the Heinz House for a banquet.

DORVAL SPILLS DOPE

CHICAGO, May 16.—(AP.)—Napoleon Jack Dorval of Emporia, Pa., took Otto Von Porat, Norwegian heavyweight, for a 10-round bicycle race last night and won a fight. The defeat ended Von Porat's string of consecutive knockout victories.

YANKEE PROS TRAIL BRITONS

LEEDS, England, May 16.—(AP.)—W. G. Oke, Great Britain, led the qualifying round of the Yorkshire Evening News 1,000 guineas professional golf tournament with a score of 69. Three other British players, C. A. Whitcombe, H. A. Gaudin and James Bradbeer, are tied for second place with 70's.

The American entries all were some distance behind. Bill Mehlhorn and Larry Nabholtz took 78 each and Jose Jurado, the Argentine, 77.

After the second round today, the low 32 players will participate in match play for the prize.

The weather was bitterly cold with a half gale blowing. Again the little Buenos Aires pro triumphed for a time over the weather for he was out in 36, but had two 6's coming home.

PAYNE RETAINS DERBY LEAD

ERIE, Pa., May 16.—(AP.)—Twenty-two hours ahead of the field, Andrew Payne, of Claremore, Okla., rested here last night with the 55 bunioners still in the running in C. C. Pyle's cross-country derby.

Payne, with an elapsed time of 476:57:40 for the 2,890.9 miles traversed since the derby entrants set out from Los Angeles, March 4, kept his lead of 21 hours, 59 minutes, 27 seconds over John Salo, Passaic, N. J., with whom he jogged on even terms over the 48.5 miles from Ashtabula, O., to Erie.

Ed Gardner, Seattle Negro, set the pace for the day when he covered the distance in 6:09:30, an average of approximately seven and one-half miles an hour.

The derbyists pushed on today for Jamestown, N. Y., 63 miles closer to the final goal—New York.

NOW a new Swiss food-drink . . . that gives you INSTANT pep and energy when you're low

It's not only brains, but the pep and energy to carry things through, that win success today. That's why busy, successful people everywhere now drink Ovaltine daily.

For this new Swiss food-drink picks you up in a natural way, whenever you feel below "par."

Every glass is a meal in itself. In easily digested form. Also helps to digest other foods you eat. Thus it supplies your system with energy-producing nourishment—almost instantly. And in this way it ends "let-down" periods.

Millions of people use Ovaltine regularly. At soda fountains. In their offices. At home. Over 20,000 doctors recommend it.

Drink a glass of Ovaltine when you feel tired. Served at all of our fountains. Or you can easily make it at home. We have Ovaltine in 4 different sizes for home use.

THE Allegheny County League season was ushered in last evening with a host of celebrities attending the opening-day ceremonies at Homewood, where the Homewood-Brushton club defeated Beltzhoover, 11 to 7, and at Dormont, where the Dormont club vanquished its visitors, 9 to 6. The opening day festivities at Homewood saw Mayor Charles H. Kline tossing out the first ball.

Ed Barney and Heinie Boll stood out in the battle at Homewood, the former hitting three doubles, while the latter connected for a pair of two-baggers.

Leo Carroll was too much for Bellevue in the North Borough's opener, his work after relieving Hurley checking the Bellevue attack. Cagni's home run with two on base played a big role in the victory. Ralph Waner was the fielding star of the game for the winners.

Local sandlots big game tonight will find the Homestead Grays with a galaxy of stars camping for the first time in many moons at Sullivan Field, where the Negro cracks will meet the St. Johns City League nine in a twilight game.

The Strip team has been having wonderful success in the early games of the season, and their loyal followers are wondering just how they will fare against the wrecking crew that stops them all.

Realizing that good pitching might hold the Grays, it seems likely that Lefty Tice will get the assignment to work against Beckwith and his comrades. This Beckwith boy will make a big hit with the fans out Liberty avenue way, for he sure can hit that ball. When the Grays are hitting they form some combination for the average team to beat.

One game is scheduled in the City League tonight. The battle on the North Side will be on when the North Side Civics cross the way to battle with the Pleasant Valley nine. Things usually happen when teams from the North Side meet, and the fans see a real ball game.

When are managers going to get hep to themselves and refuse to play on diamonds that home teams have made no effort to get into shape?

A bumpy diamond and not a mark on the field nearly caused one of the biggest games in the district last Sunday to finish in the second inning. Lack of lines cause questionable decisions and that hurts the game.

The opening game of the Philadelphia Company League will be staged at Mellon Field tomorrow night with the Pittsburgh Motor Coach nine hooking up with the Duquesne Lighters.

E. W. Oeserreich will be on hand to throw out the first ball. Wheezy Davis will be on the rubber for the Light boys and Butch Henline will do the receiving. The game will be called at 6:30 sharp.

Cities Pledge Huge Fund

NEW YORK, May 16.—(AP.)—Charley Paddock, whose amateur status has been a subject of consideration by the Amateur Athletic Union, has a clean bill, so far as the American Olympic Committee is concerned at the present time.

This was indicated today after a session of the committee yesterday, at which Paddock's case was discussed, especially as to the possible effects of his motion picture-personal appearance tour on his amateur eligibility. No official statement of the committee's view was forthcoming, since the matter already is in A. A. U. hands, but officials reflected the opinion that Paddock has as yet done nothing to jeopardize his standing.

Paddock, however, has been advised to return to Los Angeles to compete in the Southern California Olympic tryouts on June 16, in spite of his previously expressed desire to remain in the East.

The committee has decided to hold the final tryouts for the decathlon, 400-meter hurdles and 400-meter run at the Sesqui-Centennial Stadium, Philadelphia, July 3-4.

Financial reports to the committee indicated that $350,000 of the $400,000 required for sending the American team to Amsterdam either has been subscribed or guaranteed by athletic interests in the larger cities of the country. New York City is expected to contribute $150,000 through various sources. Other quotas, much of which already has been underwritten, include: San Francisco, $26,000; Los Angeles, $50,000; Boston, $50,000, including receipts from final trials; Atlanta, $10,000; Pittsburgh, $7,500; Washington, $5,000, and New Orleans, $2,500.

JACK JOHNSON FAILS IN COMEBACK TRY

KANSAS CITY, May 16.—(AP.)—Jack Johnson's second bout in his announced comeback campaign has forced him from the ring temporarily with an injured hand and left him charged with another decisive defeat.

The former heavyweight champion, who claimed to be as fit at 52 as he was when he started fighting about 30 years ago, found the going too hard in his scheduled 10 round fight with Big Bill Hartwell, Kansas City, Mo., Negro, here last night. After six rounds in which Hartwell landed a punishing left seemingly at will, the veteran Negro announced he could not return to the ring because of a broken hand.

Several weeks ago Johnson was knocked out at Topeka, Kan., by Bearcat Wright, Omaha Negro.

WATTS TRACKERS WIN GRADE SCHOOL MEET

sium and working out for 20 minutes. He punched the bag, tugged at the pulleys, did some snappy shadow boxing and otherwise conducted himself as any boxer in training. Later the word went around that he wanted sparring partners for his workout today.

It also developed that Dempsey was in long distance communication with Tex Rickard for some time last night.

Dempsey was reported to have told a close friend in Los Angeles that "if Rickard meets my terms I'll fight Tunney in September."

Several times in the last six months Dempsey has often repeated declarations that he was through with the ring.

RUNNER ELLSWORTH HONORED AT DINNER

A gathering of some 70 friends honored Rod V. Ellsworth of Monongahela, one of the runners in the C. C. Pyle Marathon, at a banquet tendered him by the Elks lodge of Monongahela in its clubrooms last night. Bill Busch of Millvale, another entrant in the race, was among the guests, and, with Ellsworth, recounted some of the hardships encountered in the grind.

Attorney C. O. Devore of Monongahela was toastmaster. Other speakers included: Mayor John C. Stahlman of Monongahela; George S. Connell and Phelps Sample of the Donora Herald-American, Frank Lane of the Daily Independent of Monessen, Bob Wiper and Lloyd Flint of the Daily Mail of Charleroi, and Harry Keck and Tom Birks of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. Singing and dancing also were a part of the program. Ellsworth was presented an Elks' tooth watch charm by his brother lodge members.

WEST PENN SHOOTERS TO VIE TOMORROW

The May tournament of the Western Pennsylvania Trap Shooters' League will be staged on the Greensburg View Gun Club grounds tomorrow. The shoot will convene at 9 a. m., and is open to all amateur trapshooters.

The Homestead District Gun Club, located on the West Run road, will be the site of a trophy shoot in honor of Ralph Watson, superintendent of the Homestead Steel Company, Saturday afternoon. The program will consist of 100 targets and will begin at 2 p. m. Attractive trophies will be awarded the winners of the various events and all trapshooters will be permitted to participate.

The members of the South Hills Sportsmen's Association will open their new shooting grounds Saturday afternoon with a trophy shoot. The new layout of the club is located on the Brownsville road, near the South Hills Country Club.

Nats Fail to Get Waiver Price for Sisler

WASHINGTON, May 16.—(AP.)—Waivers have been asked on George Sisler, once considered the best first baseman in baseball, and no American League club wants him at the waiver price of $7,500.

Announcement that Sisler was no longer wanted by the Senators has been made by Clark Griffith, president of the Washington club and in turn came a statement from President Barnard, head of the American League, that there were no claimants for Sisler's services. If no deal is made involving the player and Griffith does not decide to keep him, he must be given his unconditional release.

Sisler has been in the big leagues more than 10 years, breaking in with the St. Louis Browns in 1922, and as a 10-year man is entitled to his release as a free agent.

Misfortune for Sisler came when he was seemingly at his best. He had sinus trouble and it affected his eyes, necessitating a layoff of a season. Later, however, he was manager of the Browns.

He was purchased from the Browns by the Washington club after the close of last season, the reported price was $15,000.

Rain Keeps Bucs Idle

and Cardinal star, and one of the fleetest players in the game when he played regularly, is the new pilot of the Quakers. Always a popular star, and smart, Shotton has the Phillies hustling, but his task is not a rosy one considering the lack of backing that is the lot of a Philly pilot.

The cellar champs, however, were singing the praises of one Frank Hurst, when they reached town. Hurst, recruit first-sacker, who came to the Phillies as a bi-product of the Jimmy Wilson transfer to the Cardinals, drove a homer into the distant right-field bleachers of Cincinnati to win the first game the Quakers have taken on the present invasion.

With Remy Kremer and Jim Elliott primed for action the Buccos and Robins saw today's contest go by the boards on account of wet weather. The game has been moved back to Saturday, July 21, at Forbes Field when it will help to make up a double-header.

THREE GAMES CARDED

The Phillies are here for three battles with the Pirates, the first to be played tomorrow afternoon. After the Saturday clash the Buccos will depart for Cincinnati where they will take on the spirited Rhinelanders in four games on successive afternoons. They will then return to the Oakland orchard to cross bats with the Cubs in three contests.

Indications this afternoon were that Uncle Robbie and his Dodgers would leave town without making a deal with the Pirates.

Donie Bush made an effort to get action with the manager of the Robins, but nothing came of the negotiations. Robbie is willing to trade Pitcher Jess Petty, suspended lefthander, and Bush would like to land Petty. The Pirate manager also sought one of the Dodgers' right-hand hitting receivers.

"Looks like the trade stuff between the Pirates and our club is all off," remarked Robbie good-naturedly. "Donie and I had a conference but we did not get within 40 miles of a deal."

No club in the country can "look good" when its hitters are not hitting and its pitchers are being bumped. The Pirates are in that classification these days, but the worm may turn any time. In yesterday's fight with the Dodgers the above description fits the Buccos as they were smeared 16 to 3, by Uncle Robbie and his sometimes dashing athletes. It was the third straight victory of the Dodgers over the Oaklanders.

Doug McWeeny held the Bushwhackers to seven hits yesterday while the enemy was collecting 16 safeties off John Miljus, Walter Tauscher and Lester Bartholomew. There was no doubt about the batting skill of the Robins as they rode to victory. They probably would have crowned any pitcher who faced them, so deliberate and merciless was their stride at the plate.

BLAKE HURT

CHICAGO, May 16.—(AP.)—Fred Blake, member of the Chicago Cub hurling staff, has joined the injured list and will not be able to pitch for several days.

Which Lines of Business Offer Best Opportunities?

—By B. C. FORBES—

THIS is the season when alert executives are getting into touch with schools, colleges and universities to book up the best of the June graduates.

Every year a larger percentage of college graduates enter business rather than the professions. One thing already established is that the more successful the boy is at school the greater his chance for succeeding in business. Employers know this. Hence their eagerness to employ the flower of the new crop of graduates.

ONE student graduated several years ago with an extraordinary variety of distinctions. He led in scholarship, he led in athletics, he led in social activities, he led in popularity. In fact, there was scarcely one honor which was not conferred upon him. I asked him how he accounted for his extraordinary achievements. Here, in effect, was his reply:

"Most young men feel that their career doesn't start until after they leave school or college. I reasoned out that my life and my life's work really began, not when I left school, but when I entered school. I have regarded my college years, not merely as a means to an end, but as something vitally important in themselves—as part and parcel of my whole life. If other students haven't been as fortunate as I have been in the way of results, it is largely, I think, because they haven't regarded their college years as a real and important part of their life's record."

THE question very frequently comes to the writer: "What line of work offers the greatest opportunities?"

Perhaps the best reply to that is, "the line to which you feel most strongly drawn."

But it is a tragic fact that thousands upon thousands of college students give not a single thought to what they shall take up when they start earning a livelihood. Therefore, when you ask them, "what would you like best to do?" the disappointing reply too often is, "I don't know. I haven't thought about it. I haven't any preference."

Any young man who reaches graduating age without having pondered seriously the kind of work he would like to do in the world betrays lamentable shortsightedness.

HOWEVER, let us face the facts as they are. To those who feel no specific "calling" or "mission," what lines of business hold out unusual opportunities?

In one sentence, I would reply, "the newer industries and the newer forms of doing business."

THE spectacular Belgian millionaire whose visit to this country has been attracting so much attention, dropped the intimation that much of his fortune had come from artificial silk. One of the largest modern fortunes in Europe, that of the Courtaulds, has come from rayon, and one man in that newer industry tells me that it has already created an astounding number of millionaires.

Unquestionably, the motor industry holds the record as a millionaire-maker during the last fifteen years. And all indications are that this lusty giant is only in its youth.

The oil industry, although no longer young, is still productive of many large fortunes. Like mining, it is attended by risks, speculation and emphatic reward—either good or bad.

The whole world of electricity holds fascinating possibilities. During the coming generation it unquestionably will produce millionaires galore. The electric light and power industry is one lucrative branch. Radio is, of course, an off-shoot of the electric industry. Inventions of many kinds spring from the same source.

Chain store merchandising has already created a large quota of millionaires and is destined to create many, many more. And I rather think we are entering upon an eye-opening era of chain banking. Indeed, the chain principle will by and by run through our whole economic life.

Aircraft is only beginning to bud. Before many years have passed it is bound to blossom. Each year brings an increased number of successes in the realm of advertising.

SUCCESS, however, depends less upon the line of life entered than upon the zeal and energy and enterprise and ability with which it is pursued. Opportunities do not of themselves make millionaires. Millionaires have to make opportunities.

'NERVES' START STOCK SALE DELUGE

NEW YORK, May 16.—(AP.)—Growing fears that speculation on the New York Stock Exchange was running out of bounds led to a heavy selling movement today which cut down or wiped out many of the earlier gains. The reaction followed another sensational buying movement in the airplane stocks, which carried Wright up 30 points to a new high record at 244 and Curtiss up 22 points to a new peak at 181. Early gains in other speculative issues ranged from 1 to 10 points.

So great was the volume of trading that the ticker fell 50 minutes behind the market by early afternoon, total sales in the first three hours running above 2,500,000 shares.

Call money renewed at 5½ per cent and appeared to be in plentiful supply at that figure, but a distinctly firmer undertone was apparent in the time money market.

American International corporation, which soared 5½ points to a new high record at 119½ in the morning, broke to 109 by early afternoon. American Linseed fell from 106⅜ to 100 and Radio from 205¼ to 196¼. Similar recessions took place in other pool favorites. Adams Express, American Zinc preferred, Montgomery-Ward, Kroger Stores, Cudahy Packing, Hudson and American Smelting sold 3 to 8 points below yesterday's final quotations.

Steels, public utilities and sugars showed the best resistance to selling pressure. Oils failed to make any appreciable response to the sharp decline in crude oil production last week, and coppers, which had been in brisk demand on the recent stiffening in commodity prices, ran into heavy profit-taking.

The speculative mania has assumed such gigantic proportions that several of the conservative commission houses urged a scaling down of long commitments until the market has had an opportunity to strengthen its technical position which is believed to have been weakened by the rapidity of the recent advance.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, May 16.—The cotton market opened steady today at an advance of 1 points to a decline of 2 points. Further buying developed on the central belt rains, but offerings increased after the call and prices eased off to 21.11c for May and 20.79c for October, or about 12 to 15 points net lower. There was evidently realizing and perhaps some selling on expectations of a favorable weekly report from the weather bureau, but trading was only moderately active, and the market appeared to be waiting for further weather and crop developments.

Private cables said continental buying of distant months in Liverpool had been offset by liquidation with sentiment mixed, but rather a better cloth inquiry from India and China.

The references to poor germination or poor stands in the weekly report of the weather bureau brought in some covering by early sellers during the forenoon. The market, which had sold off to 20.77c for July and 20.67c for October, rallied with July selling up to 20.89c. At midday prices were holding within a point or two of this figure and within 8 or 10 points of yesterday's closing quotations. Trading was comparatively quiet.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Horne Stock Snapped Up.

Introduction of the new Joseph Horne Company stock in the open market met very favorable response today and there was an immediate demand for the stock at $45 a share as compared with price of $38 a share at which it was offered by J. H. Holmes & Co. and Lerman Brothers. Shortly after the market opened the available supply at 45 was quickly taken and an upward movement carried the price still higher. This is the first opportunity the investing public has had to acquire any of the Horne securities, the company having been very closely held in the 79 years of its existence here. Capital reorganization has been effected and the present setup consists of $7,500,000 of 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock (par $100) and 240,000 shares of no-par common. The company's net profits for the fiscal year ended January 31, 1928, were $1,226,396, equal to $3.23 a share on the common. The previous year's profits were equal to $3.81 a share. The balance sheet as of January 31, 1928, shows net tangible assets of $17,955,216. Current assets amounted to $9,151,430 as compared with current liabilities of $1,616,073. Of the current assets $1,894,897 was in cash.

Anaconda Demand Broadens.

Buying of Anaconda for some time h been credited to important banking inte ests, but it is understood that consider ble profit taking has come from this sour in the past two days at the advanc levels. Improvement in the copper ma situation has been a factor in bringi Anaconda into public favor. Ability r cently to go into new high territory al caused a demand from followers of t chart theory. Everything seems to be fa oring the copper stocks, which were in t dumps up to a year or ago. Consumpti of copper at present is larger than it ev has been before in history, and, judgi from the development of electricity an power, this demand is likely to contin for a long time to come. Producers b lieve consumption will increase to a poi that will make it necessary for the co companies to add to their production.

Investment Inventory

The business man finds the periodical inventory necessary to know just where he stands. The same holds true in proper investment management. How long since your investments were reviewed?

Have you checked up on the status of any callable or convertible bonds you hold? Is every bond you own one you would buy with funds available at this time? Do you really know the status of your investments?

For safety's sake your securities should be reviewed and analyzed periodically. For profit's sake, too. For this purpose the facilities of First National Bond Department are available without charge.

The movement of fruit and vegetables at the local wholesale produce district was fairly active today. Several changes were made in the quotations on fruit and vegetables.

The butter market was easy. Cheese was steady and eggs were firm. No change was made in the quotations on these markets.

Car lot supplies were liberal, a total of 618 cars being on track. Included in the arrivals were 3 cars of apples, 3 cabbage, 2 cantaloupes, 1 cauliflower, 2 celery, 2 lemons, 2 lettuce, 13 onions, 4 oranges, 20 potatoes, 1 sweet potatoes, 6 tomatoes, 10 pineapples and 1 peas.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, May 16.—Better weather conditions both over the spring and the winter crop belts gave the wheat market an early trend downward today. Fairly general rains, likely to prove of considerable benefit, were reported, and further showers were looked for. Opening unchanged to ⅛c lower, wheat later showed a general setback. Corn, oats and provisions were also easier, with corn starting unchanged to ⅛ off and afterward declining all around.

On today's wheat price downturns, ascribed to general improved weather conditions, houses with connections Northwest became buyers at times. The buying appeared to be based on assertions in some quarters that moisture over large areas had been barely sufficient to lay the dust. A dispatch from Bradley, S. D., for example, said that unless a soaking general rain came soon, South Dakota would raise only a light small grain crop at best.

Rallying power developed in the corn market after values had undergone an early drop because of rains and mild temperature. A subsequent upward swing was associated with reports from many correspondents that corn and oats were being shipped into Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota, the entire local supply having been exhausted.

The following grain quotations on the Chicago Board of Trade are reported by A. E. Masten & Co.:

HORNE COMMON SHOOTS UP

Prices were firm, but business was dull on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today. Recent market leaders were quiet, but most of them seemed firmly established around the best prices of the current trading.

Lone Star Gas was handled again around 52, the price at which it has been "pegged" for a week or more, while Standard Sanitary fluctuated fractionally above 42. Some of the professional traders who had been operating in these issues recently turned their attention to the new Joseph Horne common on the curb where active dealings in the stock carried the price up well above the figure at which it was offered by the banking syndicate.

May Drug Stores was in good demand, but the stock continued to reflect the scarcity which became evident a few weeks ago when a mild buying wave put the price up about $4 a share. There is no official news on May, but the street is of the opinion that it will be merged into a larger chain sooner or later.

Heavy industrial issues were dull with prices showing practically no change. Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt was a little above the current support price, 55, while United Engineering was quiet around 45.

THE PACKARD EIGHT is available in forty luxurious models at a wide range of prices—from as low as $3450 to $8725 at Detroit

Doubled Demand for the Packard Eight

JANUARY 1st the prices of Packard's own Custom Eight models were substantially reduced.

March 1st Packard announced a complete line of Standard Eight cars at prices below the custom range.

In less than four months since the first of these announcements the Packard factory has been forced to double production on Packard Eights to satisfy the demand for America's finest car.

Not alone is this a tribute to the remarkable new values offered by the Packard Eight. It is a tribute to the position held by the Packard Eight in the minds of motorists everywhere—the recognized leadership among all fine cars which the Packard Eight has so justly earned.

In introducing the Standard Eight, Packard only met an existing desire among motorists for the great Packard Eight power plant, and the advanced Packard Eight chassis with its "Instant" lubrication system—without, of necessity, custom bodies. And the public has been quick to respond.

When may we place one at your disposal for whatever demonstration you prefer? When may we tell you about our liberal, business-like payment plan and what your present car is worth?

WOMEN, 6 MEN ARRESTED

Extremes in seizures were reported made by Federal prohibition agents who late last night raided the dwelling at 140 Moultrie street. In the raid the agents confiscated, they state, 102 gallons of moonshine and a pint of wine. Mrs. Joseph Faulkonis, 66, reputed occupant, was the only person home when the agents made their visit. She was arrested.

Jumping from an automobile truck he had been driving, an unidentified man escaped from prohibition agents early today in Fifth avenue near Shady avenue. The machine contained three cases of beer. The pursuit began when the truck driver started to speed away after the agents had hailed him at Fifth and Murray Hill avenues.

Other places raided, seizures made, and those arrested, according to the agents, follow:

Saloon at 1274 Ridge avenue, three quarts moonshine, 100 gallons wine, three pints ale, Felix J. Semask, Harold E. Barley.

Saloon at 3151 McClure avenue, four gallons moonshine, five gallons wine, Edward G. Benevent, John Dooley.

Dwelling at 308 Sunnyland avenue, 10-gallon still, 30 gallons moonshine, Mike Yootetick.

Dwelling at 48 Daily road, Brentwood, 50-gallon still, 11 barrels mash, 60 gallons moonshine, Joseph Barkus.

FREE EX-POLICE IN RUM CHARGE

Their plea of being arms of the law when arrested by prohibition officers for violating the liquor law won a verdict of acquittal for William F. Flood, former police chief of Bidgeville, and Martin Rognoff, in Federal Court today.

The two were tried for conspiracy in operation of a still in a house in Virginia avenue, Avalon. They were arrested when they visited the house in February, 1926, but contended they were about to raid the place themselves. Mary Stein, owner of the property, pleaded guilty to violating the prohibition laws, some time ago, and was fined.

ASKS $20,000 FOR FALL DOWN ELEVATOR SHAFT

A fall down an elevator shaft in an apartment building as the conclusion of a social call upon friends, was made the basis of a $20,000 damage suit filed in Common Pleas Court yesterday by J. P. Ritzel. The suit was filed against Laura B. Ryan, owner of an apartment building at 3220 Ellsworth avenue. Ritzel claims that he visited friends on the third floor on February 1, 1927. He says that when he was leaving the third floor hall was so dimly lighted he could not see and walked into the open door of the elevator shaft, falling to the basement.

OPPOSE GOVERNMENT OWNED NITRATE PLANT

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., May 16.—The board of governors of the Investment Bankers' Association of America at a spring meeting here yesterday unanimously adopted a resolution opposing government utilization of Muscle Shoals property in the manufacture of fertilizer to be sold at retail.

"We feel that for the government to go into the business of manufacturing and selling fertilizers would be unfair competition with established private enterprise," said the bankers' resolution opposing the Senate joint resolution No. 46 as proposed to be amended by the recently submitted report of the House committee on military affairs.

BEAVER COUNTY WAR VET KILLED IN MINE

BEAVER, Pa., May 16.—Frank Daniels, Beaver county World War veteran, was killed instantly yesterday when trapped under a fall of slate in an Ohio township mine. Daniels and John Beaver, the owner of the mine had just entered the pit when a section of slate of the mine roof crashed, burying Daniels under tons of slate and earth. Beaver who was about 20 feet ahead escaped injury.

REAS DIVORCED

MRS. MARGARET MOORHEAD REA

Henry Oliver Rea treated her cruelly, Mrs. Margaret Moorhead Rea, Sewickley, charged in the divorce suit in which she was victorious today. Judge James B. Drew awarded her freedom. The Reas are among the most prominent in exclusive Sewickley society circles.

RISKS ARM FOR CHOKING LION

OAKLAND, Cal., May 16.—(AP.)—"Princess" is frolicking around the Nannetti home here as usual today only because her mistress was brave enough to risk the possible loss of an arm to save the beast's life.

"Princess" is a huge lioness, pet of Mrs. Nancy Lee Nannetti for several years. Last Saturday a thin splinter of bone became lodged in the animal's throat, causing her great pain and almost choking her. The big cat, thoroughly domesticated, came whimpering for aid to Mrs. Nannetti, who sought the help of veterinarians. None of them would risk working on the lioness.

Forcing open "Princess'" mouth, Mrs. Nannetti thrust her arm down the lioness' throat until she could feel the bone splinter. Although "Princess" by closing her jaws or even drawing away, could have mangled Mrs. Nannetti's arm, she submitted patiently. Mrs. Nannetti was unable to draw the splinter out, but finally dislodged it so that it made its way into the animal's stomach. The cat's relief was instant, and she showed her affection in truly feline fashion, fawning on her mistress and licking her hand with her tongue.

Later a veterinarian removed the bone from the animal's stomach.

FIRE IN BAKERY HALTS TRAFFIC

Downtown traffic was delayed almost half an hour last night by a fire in the basement of the four-story building occupied by the Federal System Bakeries, 435 Wood street. The fire, which originated in the basement, was extinguished before any damage resulted.

A fire of a menacing nature was extinguished last night by firemen who had been summoned to the Waverly oil works, Fifty-fourth street and the Allegheny Valley Railroad. The blaze broke out near an oil still, but was extinguished before reaching inflamable materials. There was no damage.

A fire of undetermined origin which broke out in the home of Mrs. Anna Mears, 426 Clarence street, caused damage estimated at $700 last night. The fire started in the rear of the first floor and ate its way almost to the roof. The house is a two-story and attic frame structure.

NORTH SIDE WOMAN, SON BITTEN BY DOG

Mrs. Ada Voorhees, 28, and her son James, 7, were bitten by a pet dog yesterday in their home at 115 Madison avenue, North Side. Patrolman Harry Williams was called and he shot the dog, afterward turning the body over to the West Penn Hospital for examination. The woman and her son were treated for wounds on the hands and arms.

Mr. J. B. Shea, President of Joseph Horne Company, has summarized in part his letter regarding the Company as follows. Copies of this letter may be had from the undersigned upon request.

BUSINESS

"The Joseph Horne Company is the oldest department store in Pittsburgh. It was established in 1849, by and under the name of Joseph Horne, who shortly afterwards was joined by C. B. Shea and A. P. Burchfield as partners. Continuous control by the same families through succeeding generations has made for a permanence of policies and has served to identify the store, throughout its community, as one of standards and traditions.

The store's volume of business has more than kept pace with the growth of the community, having increased from $4,294,062 in 1901, the year of incorporation, to $20,697,231 in 1927. The business throughout its 79 years has maintained the position of Pittsburgh's leading high-class store and enjoys a high reputation both with its public and with the trade.

A new corporation, Joseph Horne Co., will be organized and will acquire, by merger, all of the assets subject to the liabilities, of the present companies, Joseph Horne Company and the Joseph Horne Land Company, a wholly-owned subsidiary, which has heretofore held title, free of any lien or encumbrance, to all of the real estate of the Company.

PROPERTIES

The enterprise had its beginning in a single room of about 30 x 120 feet. The store now occupies three-quarters of an entire block, at the intersection of two of the city's principal business thoroughfares. It has a total street frontage of 985 feet. The buildings average seven stories in height with a floor space of 510,000 square feet. In addition, two floors, with a total of 30,000 square feet, are leased in a building opposite. A new nine-story service-warehouse building, now being erected and soon to be ready for occupancy, will provide 425,000 square feet of floor space and will thus release large additional space for selling in the store.

PROFITS AND BALANCE SHEET

The combined net profits of the Joseph Horne Company and subsidiary company after making adequate provision for depreciation and after deducting Federal income taxes at 13½%, as certified by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., were as follows:

Year ended Jan. 31	Net Profits (as above) Applicable to Pfd.	Applicable to Common after Pfd. Div. Req.	Per Share Common Stock
1925	$1,200,[illegible]1.19	$750,471.19	$3.12
1926	1,309,3[illegible]8.60	859,358.60	3.58
1927	1,366,624.06	916,624.06	3.81
1928	1,226,396.97	776,396.97	3.23

The balance sheet of Joseph Horne Co. as at January 31, 1928, giving effect as at that date to the proposed organization of the new Company and other transactions in connection therewith, as certified by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., shows net tangible assets of $14,955,216.83. Current assets amount to $9,151,430.00 as compared with current liabilities of $1,646,073.61, a ratio of over 5.5 to 1. Of the net current assets of $7,505,356.39, $1,894,897.24 was in cash.

POLICIES

The store's merchandising policy demands complete stocks of medium and better grade merchandise, and places importance on style leadership. Seconds and sub-standard or imperfect merchandise are not bought, sold or advertised. The store is a regular and consistent advertiser, combining style and price appeal with greater emphasis on regular year-round business than upon special sales.

The present trend away from sale stores and sensational price appeal and toward businesses with established standards of quality and value greatly favors the growth of the Joseph Horne Company business, which has been outstanding and consistent in these policies."

Application will be made to list this Common Stock on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange.

SAVINGS & TRUST CO. of Pittsburgh
FOURTH AVENUE AND WOOD STREET

OLDEST TRUST COMPANY IN PITTSBURGH
ESTABLISHED 1867

Capital, Surplus and Undivided Profits, $13,100,000

THE Peoples Savings and Trust Company of Pittsburgh, through resources and affiliations, is an important factor in the financing of numerous and varied interests, whose combined activities contribute to the business prestige of Pennsylvania and adjacent states.

It seeks opportunity to enlarge its sphere of usefulness by establishing contacts with going enterprises, whose past records and future prospects justly entitle them to operate on a larger scale.

The Peoples Savings and Trust Company specializes in long term credits for plant extension, enabling increased production and greater operating economies.

It can furnish additional working capital by converting floating indebtedness into long term obligations at a fixed rate of interest.

It can finance the refunding of existing high interest bearing bonds and other securities, at the prevailing lower rates.

It recognizes the growing trend for business to consolidate, in the interest of greater economy and broader markets, and will lend practical assistance in this direction when justified.

It will underwrite bond issues for the securing of new capital for legitimate purposes.

It recognizes that the development of its own institution depends upon its alertness to meet adequately the rapidly increasing credit requirements of Pittsburgh's industrial empire.

SCHOOLS TO AID 'JAYWALKERS' DRIVE

More than 149,000 school children in Allegheny county, beginning May 20, will take part in the activities of Pedestrian Week, sponsored by the Better Traffic Committee for the education of "jay walkers" and others on foot who violate traffic laws. Safe walking is regarded as no less important than safe driving and in cooperating in the campaign the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council is focusing the attention of the public on pedestrianism in an effort to reduce traffic accidents.

"Cross at the Crossings" will be the slogan dinned into the ears of all users of the streets. The entire downtown section will be so marked that only those who cannot read will have an excuse for pleading ignorance to the regulations. In 173 traffic fatalities last year it is pointed out that at controlled crossings there was not a single fatality. The majority of pedestrians injured were run down between street intersections.

CREDIT BODY WINS CUP

Election of directors, and announcement that the cup offered by the National Association of Credit Men to the Class A association reporting the largest gain in membership was won by Pittsburgh, featured last night's annual meeting of the Credit Association of Western Pennsylvania, held in the Pittsburgh Athletic Club.

The directors elected included President Sidney B. Congdon, who presided; Perdey O. Eitel, Eugene Jones, Cyrus Lewis, S. Cadman Orr, W. H. Sanner and James Turnbull, the last named two representing the Uniontown and Johnstown offices, respectively.

The credit protection committee reported 21 convictions in fradulent bankruptcy failures, the recovery of property valued at more than $190,000 and 104 fradulent cases handled in this district. In the nation-wide campaign there were 400 convictions and 1,100 indictments. Mr. Eitel, chairman of the membership committee announced the Western Pennsylvania association was only surpassed in membership by New York.

C. E. Willis addressed the Credo Club of the credit body on "Intelligence" at the noon gathering in the Chamber of Commerce.

SONGSTRESS WORKS AS "AD-TAKER"

SUN-TELE SOLICITOR

Frances White, character songstress on the Pittsburgh stage for the week, has joined the Sun-Telegraph's telephone sales division as an 'ad-taker.' A 'smiling voice,' she proved, works well in business. Miss White, let it be known, 'got results.'

SINGER BECOMES WANT AD-TAKER

Miss Frances White, Broadway character songstress, proves that the "smiling voice" was as effective in business as on the stage. She visited the Telephone Sales Division of The Sun-Telegraph Classified Department yesterday and joined the ad-takers.

After a few moments of instruction on the operations of the switchboard, Miss White called Mr. Morris of the Commonwealth Real Estate Company. She pointed out a few advantages of the The Sun-Tele Classified Ads and suggested that he place an ad in the Real Estate columns. Her first call was successful. Mr. Morris authorized her to insert an ad for seven days.

Mr. Duppstadt of the Studebaker Sales Company was her next prospect, and in a few minutes his advertising was scheduled. After this demonstration that the smiling voice wins, Miss White left her role as ad-taker and returned to the Stanley Theater, where she is appearing this week.

RETAIL COUNCIL TO HEAR U. S. EXPERT

How Uncle Sam is looking into the problem of retail distribution with a view of advising manufacturers, wholesalers, retail merchants and consumers as to better methods of buying and selling, will be described tonight at a dinner of the Retail Council of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce by Dr. F. M. Surface, assistant directotr of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

Uncle Sam hopes that the investigations and experiments may result in producers getting more for their products while consumers will pay less, according to Dr. Surface. The plan is one of Secretary Herbert Hoover's pet ideas and the government agencies are conducting a nation-wide investigation to recommend more efficient and economical methods of distribution. During the day Dr. Surface conferred with officers of the Retail Merchants Association.

COUNTY G. O. P. MEETING CALLED FOR SATURDAY

The meeting of the Republican county committee will be held Saturday afternoon, May 26, in North Side Carnegie Hall, County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong announced today. Armstrong declined to state whether he is a candidate for re-election as chairman. There is a possibility that Senator James J. Coyne, chairman of the city committee, will call a meeting of his body at the same time and place.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS.

Office of Treasurer of Allegheny County, Room 107 Court House Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

May 1, 1928.

In pursuance of the 21st section of an "Act relating to Allegheny County," approved the 1st day of May, 1861, and of the amendment to said section, approved the 30th day of March, A. D. 1866, I do hereby give notice that the duplicates for the several wards of the cities of Pittsburgh, McKeesport, Duquesne and Clairton, boroughs and townships, will be open, and I will be prepared to receive the county, poor, road, bond interest, personal property and park taxes for the year 1928 on May 1st. Said taxes may be paid during the months of May, June and July at 5% discount, during August at face, 10% penalty being added on and after September 1st.

Statements will be furnished promptly upon written request, if given name, location by ward in the cities of Pittsburgh, McKeesport, Duquesne or Clairton, or by boroughs or townships. If statement of Personal Property or Occupation Tax is desired, please give street address also.

Use of the mail is advised for requesting statements and in making payments of taxes. Remittance may be made by bank draft, certified check, or postoffice money order, (payable to John Francies, County Treasurer) accompanied by stamped and addressed envelope for return of tax statement or receipt.

WHAT'S ON THE AIR

IF YOU are a lover of opera, your radio dial will prove an open sesame tonight. There will be at least two tabloid versions of operas. In addition, there will be a Victor Herbert musical show and numerous selections from operas and musical comedies.

Genia Zielinska, coloratura soprano, will sing the role of Amina in the tabloid version of Bellini's "La Somnambula," which will be broadcast by the National Grand Opera Ensemble, through the Red Network, including WCAE, at 10:30 o'clock. Other members of the cast will include Katherine Palmer, soprano; Paula Hemminghaus, contralto; Julian Oliver, tenor, and Nino Ruisi, bass.

Audrain's light opera "Olivette" is the operetta in miniature to be broadcast by WJAS and associated Columbia chain stations at 9 o'clock. This operetta, although tuneful and full of comedy, is very rarely done on the American stage, or in broadcast circles.

Victor Herbert's musical play, "When Sweet Sixteen," with Jessica Dragonette, soprano, in the leading role, and Harold Sanford as musical director, will be presented as the Philco Hour through KDKA and other stations associated with the Blue Network at 9 o'clock.

"Memories of Musical Comedies" will be offered during the Columbia Phonograph hour, to be heard over WJAS at 10 o'clock.

A mosaic of light operas popular in 1918 will be presented to radio listeners during the Goodrich hour through the Red Network, including WCAE, beginning at 9:30 o'clock. The program will be presented by the Goodrich Silvertown Cord Orchestra and quartet, and Caroline Andrews, coloratura soprano.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Sir—

I am a city detective. Yesterday the chief handed me an anonymous letter from Tampa, Fla., which said: "If there has been anyone missing in your city in the past year would advise you to look under an old warehouse, don't know where." Imagine my embarrassment, on looking under an old warehouse (I don't know where), not to find any missing person there.

WHO COULD TURN DEAF EAR TO THEIR APPEAL?

"Tell Us How to Get Job on Newspaper" Is Cry of Unemployed.

In our experimental laboratories we are doing many interesting things. Above is one of our pupils. Her name is "Joe."

We are going to do something in a Big Way for the unemployed.

Every day some jobless person sends in a pathetic letter something like this—

"I would like to get a position on a newspaper, preferably writing a humorous column. Can you help me?"

We can—and will.

We have just acquired a ten-acre site in the Adirondacks for our pencil and eraser plant. We will sell pencils and erasers to our students at practically cost.

Soon our flour mills will be going full swing, so we can make our own paste and negotiations are under way to purchase one of the biggest scissor factories in Pittsburg, Ohio.

Our training is as personal as possible. Often we give a student the best years of our life. If you are interested, please fill out, without obligation, the following blank—

Bond Issue to Help All

Roads and Bridges for Rural Residents—Town Hall for City—Airport for Both

The County Commissioners, hearing delegations representing boroughs and townships seeking aid in road and bridge building, to be included in the proposed $40,000,000 loan to come before the voters in June, find the demand for improvements extends to all parts of the county. Citizens from scores of communities have been presenting their claims for recognition—a healthy sign of public interest.

The people as a whole now realize that the best roads that can be built are becoming increasingly essential, and they naturally feel that the lack of them is a reflection upon the localities in which they live. They show commendable progressiveness in going before the commissioners to tell them what should be done.

The visits of these committees likely are straws indicating that the approval of the bond issue is assured, as far as road and bridge improvements are concerned. That is an encouraging reflection of the trend of public spirit. Such improvements perhaps will be the first consideration of those in rural districts. As they expect help, they should be prepared to give it.

For instance, residents of the City of Pittsburgh, although realizing the value to them of improved roads anywhere in the county, likely will consider the airport and the town hall matters of greater importance from their local viewpoint. We need the roads and bridges, the airport and town hall also.

Let all in the county remember that when the loan comes to a vote.

Mare's Nest No. 113,000

Senator Heflin Speaking.

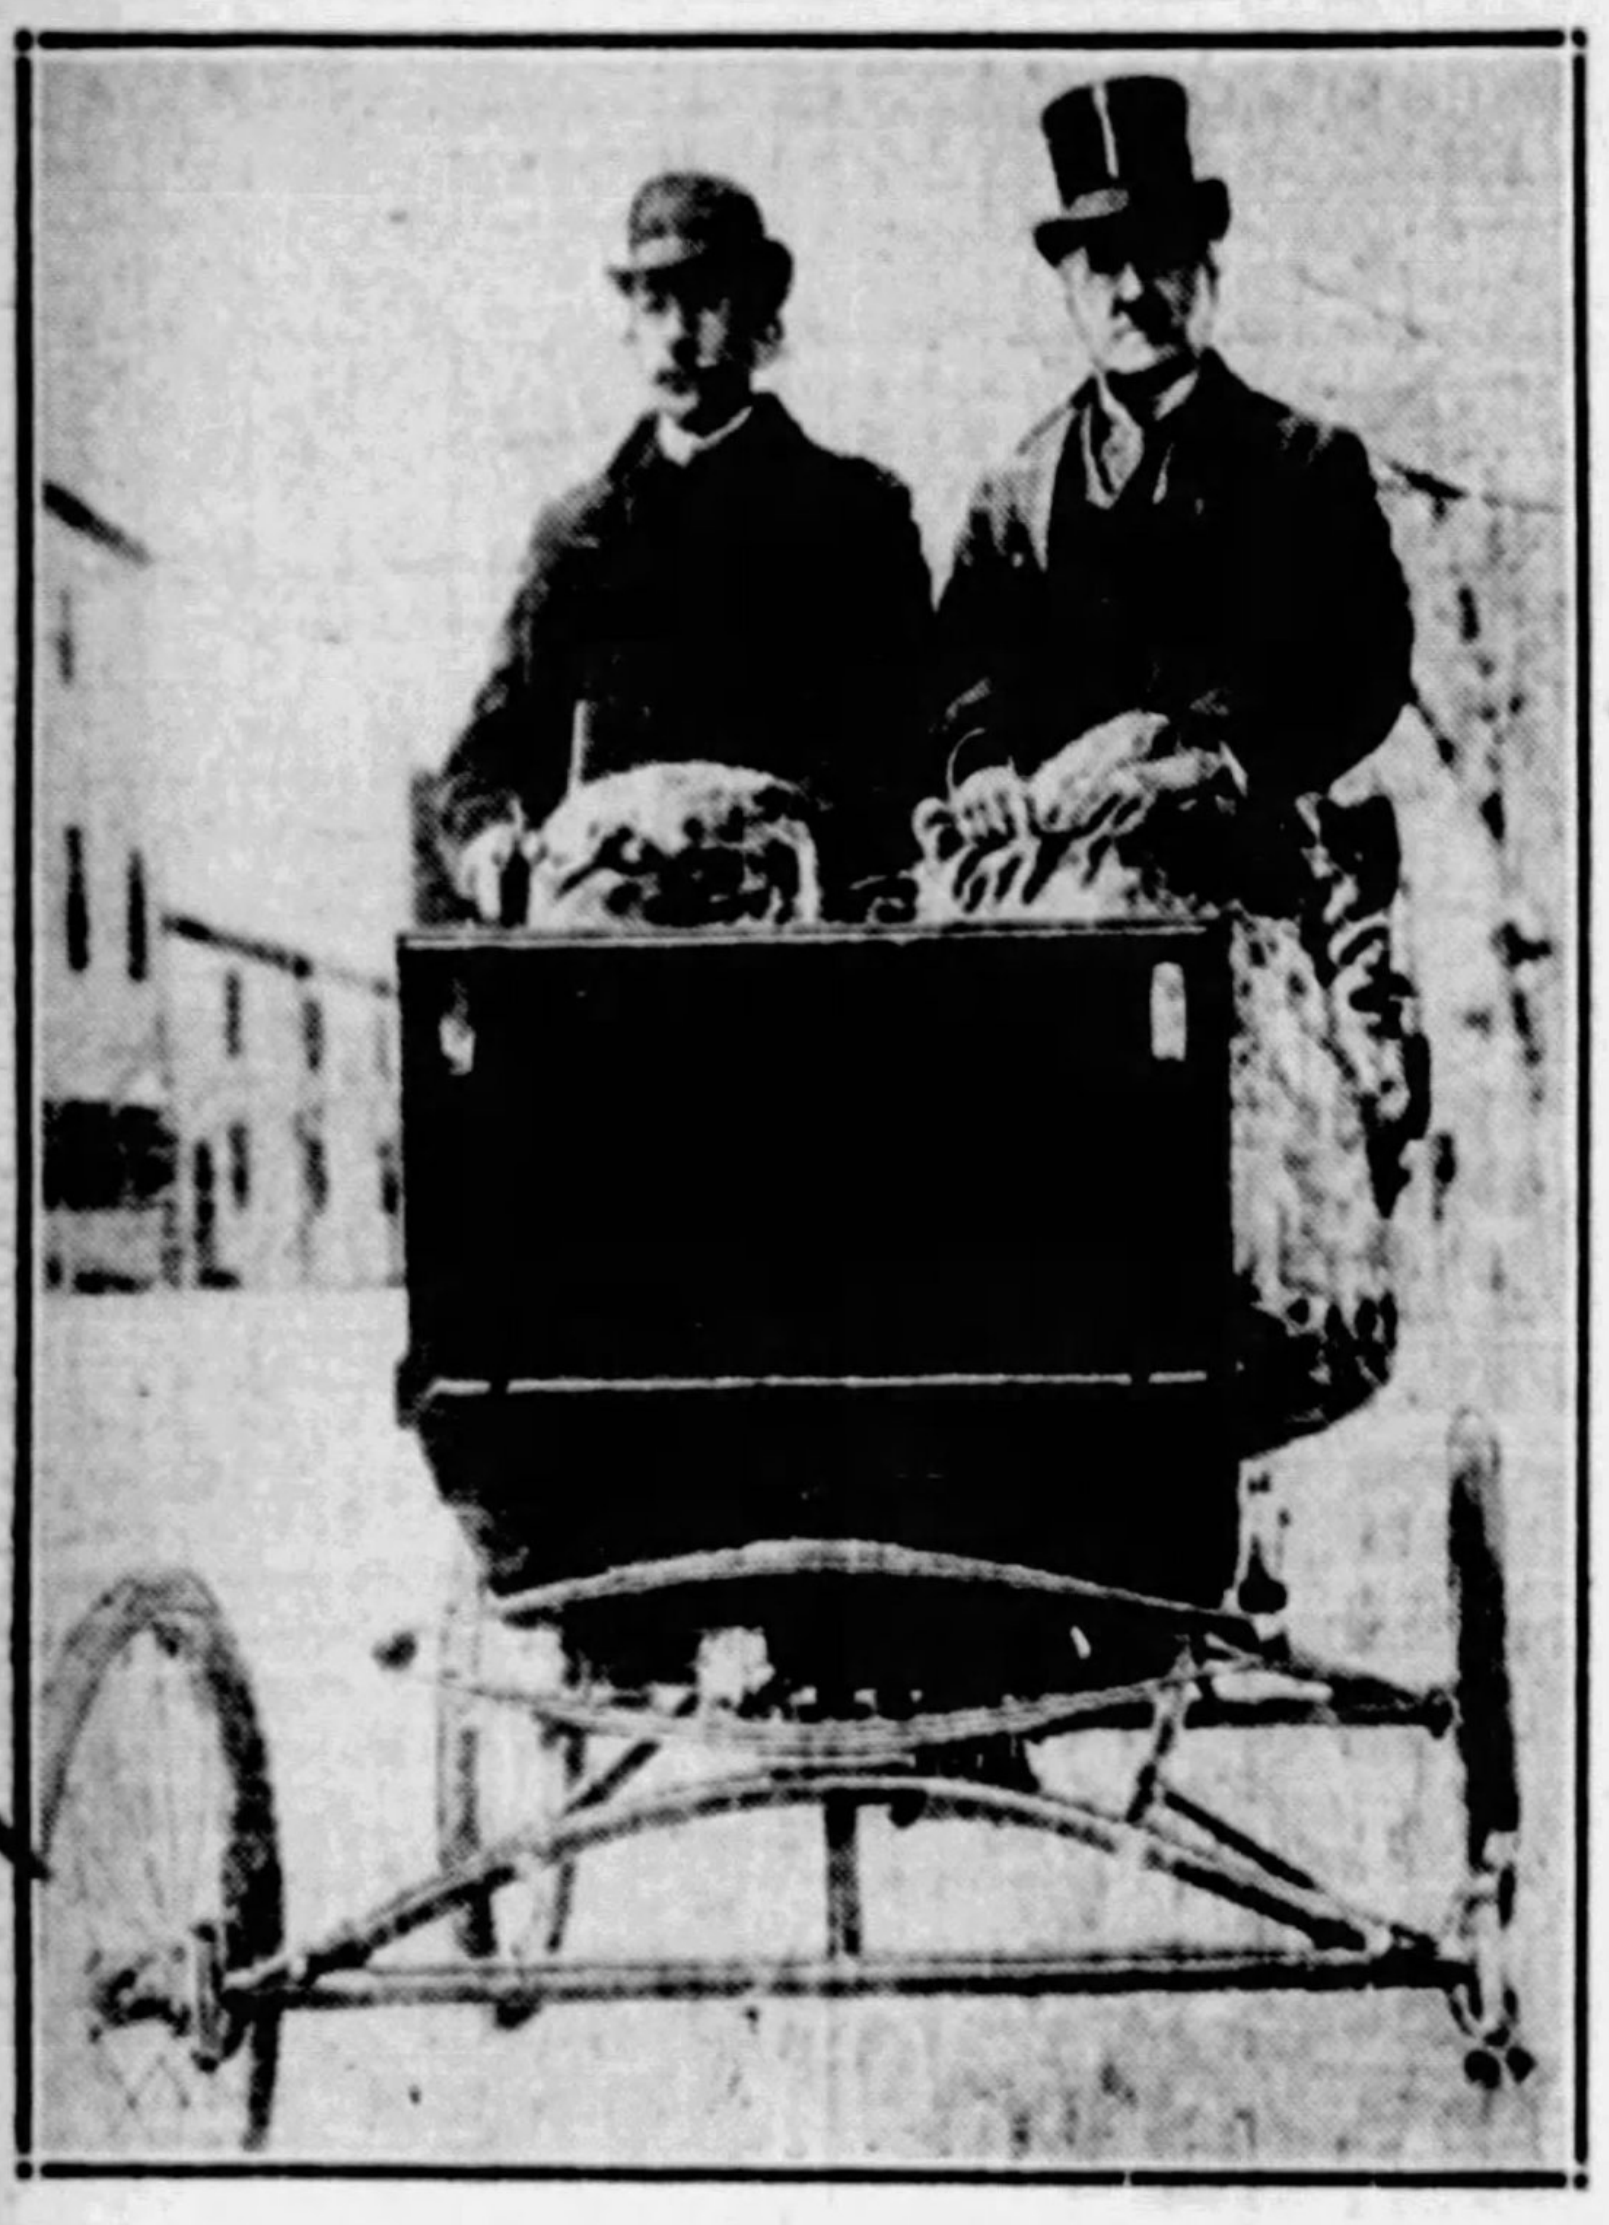
Senator Heflin, of Alabama, who recently made Governor Smith's nomination a certainty, discovers a new mare's nest. He says: "The Roman Catholic flag has been hoisted above the United States flag on American battleships," and he wants that stopped.

You can't STOP what didn't happen. Since 1780 the church pennant, representing all denominations, has been hoisted "at the pinnacle of hoist and over the ensign during divine service on vessels of the navy."

Mr. Heflin would prevent "flying a foreign flag above the United States flag." The church pennant, which has nothing to do specifically with Catholicism or Protestantism, is supposed to be the flag of God. You can hardly call that a "foreign" flag, and you wouldn't put anything above it. Or would you?

Old Men Will Be Interested

And Some of the Younger



WHEN THE AUTOMOBILE AND CHAUNCEY DEPEW WERE YOUNGER

This picture shows Chauncey M. Depew, long before the age of ninety-four, at which he died recently, trying what he called "a new kind of transportation."

He had been a railroad man, playing many parts in railroad work for years, when the driver of this automobile took him for a ride.

Depew was already white-haired when the automobile was young, for he had been a friend of Abraham Lincoln in 1860.

In spite of his age, the automobile interested him, and he welcomed it.

He kept his mind open to new ideas and therefore he was YOUNG, in thought, when in years he was old.

Those too young to remember this early type of automobile will notice with interest how hard it is for men to get away from old customs.

English railway carriages are still built in imitation of old stage coaches. You enter at the sides, sit on seats facing each other, one seat toward the engine, always.

In the early days of railroading the rich man took his coach body off its wheels and axles and put them on the railway train, while he sat in his own coach, pulled by the locomotive.

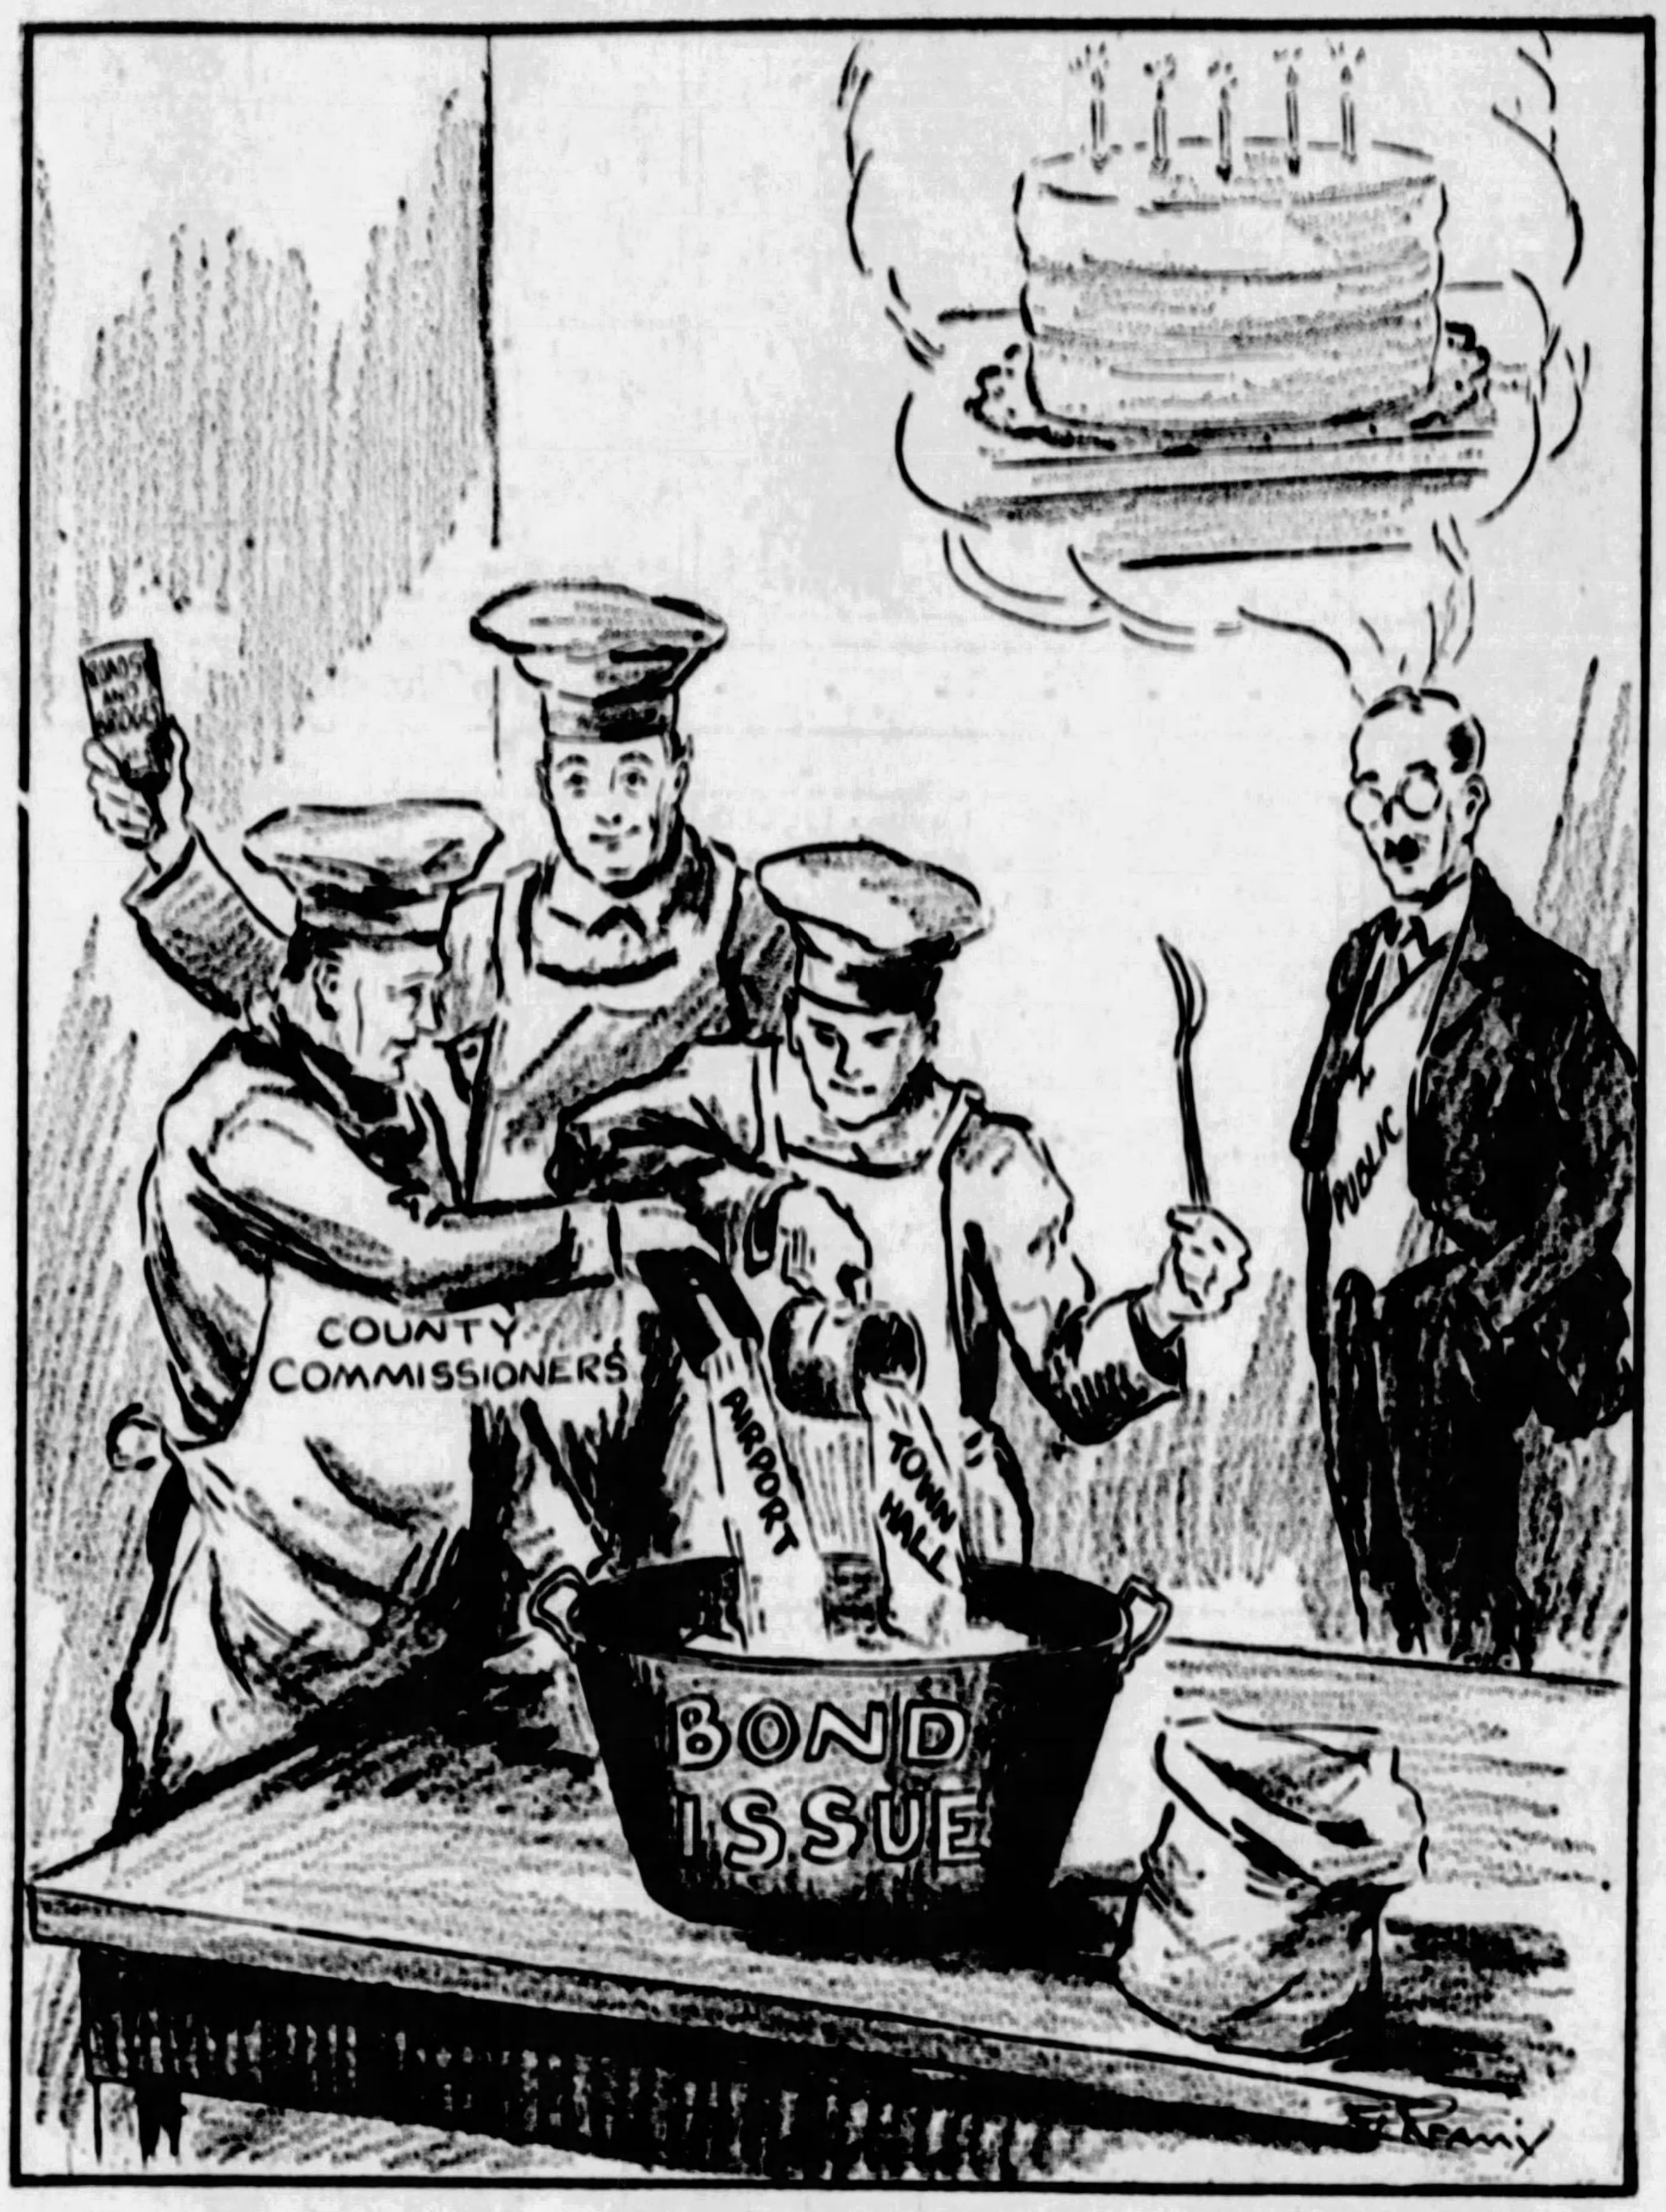
In this American "new transportation contrivance" you see preserved the characteristics of the old American buggy, including the useless "dashboard." That dashboard was needed, on a buggy, to keep the horse from splashing mud in the face of the driver. It wasn't needed on automobiles, but for years each automobile had its dashboard.

Then the dashboard was taken from the front and transformed into mudguards on the wheels.

How quickly time passes, how quickly things change.

Keep your mind open to the new thought and stay young.

HE KNOWS IT WILL BE GOOD



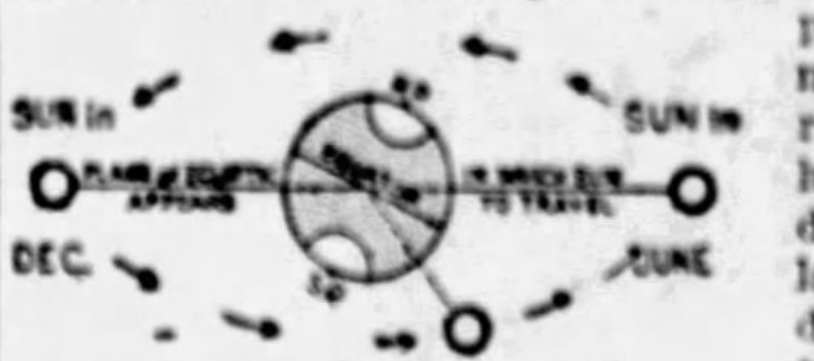
Garrett P. Serviss Says:

The Summer Days

"What happens when the sun crosses the equator, as on March 21, the vernal equinox? Does it affect the weather?—R. J. C.'

NOTHING happens except that at the instant when the center of the sun is exactly on the equator the sunlight extends, geometrically, from the North Pole to the South Pole, and "day" and "night" are equal everywhere on the earth. Disregarding the fact that this condition lasts only for an instant, and also disregarding refraction, we are accustomed to say (and it is true enough for ordinary purposes) that on the day of the Vernal Equinox the sun rises at 6 a. m. at all places in the world and sets at 6 p. m. And the same thing happens at the Autumnal Equinox in September, when the sun crosses the equator again on its way back into the southern hemisphere.

But after the sun sets north of the equator the days in the northern hemisphere begin to grow longer in proportion to the nights; i. e., the sun rises at an earlier hour on successive days and sets at a later hour. This diurnal increase of the length of daylight continues until the Summer Solstice, June 22, when the difference between day and night reaches a maximum. But this difference is not the same in different latitudes.



Sun in March and on opposite side in September

As we go north the length of daylight increases, until along the Arctic Circle, at the solstice, it crowds out night entirely, and the day lasts twenty-four hours. Within the Arctic Circle day then becomes "perpetual," increasing, however, in length until at the North Pole it lasts continuously for six months, or from the Vernal to the Autumnal Equinox. In other words, after the sunlight reaches the North Pole on crossing the equator in March it never quits it until it recrosses the equator in September.

The refraction of the air which seems to lift the sun above its real place when it is rising or setting prolongs its visibility beyond what it would geometrically, and thus still further lengthens the period of daylight.

You may like to study for yourself this picture showing the relation of the equator and the poles to the position of the sun at the equinoxes and solstices.

The crossing of the equator by the sun does not immediately affect the weather, but, of course, the sun brings a higher temperature, following more slowly in its train, as it rises higher and higher above the equator. The temperature changes linger behind the sun because the earth and the air and water heat up gradually, and gradually also they part with their stored heat at the close of summer. There can be no general gain of temperature until the amount of heat daily furnished by the sun exceeds that radiated away at night.

Little Courtesies

IT IS the little thoughtful things you do as you go on down through life that count the most.

Waiting for an opportunity to do something big and unusual in its nature is not a good policy.

In the first place you may not be able to do big things.

And again you may not have an opportunity.

Perhaps you think because you have so little money that it is impossible for you to do anything worthwhile for anyone.

But some of the most appreciated courtesies are personal matters.

Things that demonstrate a spirit willing, nay eager, to brighten the lives of people.

You think the little you could do is insignificant.

But someone is needing just the kindness you could give.

Perhaps in your own household there are those who are suffering for a kindly word and you are so busy pitying yourself that you don't give it.

If you wait for something big in the way of charity and kindness you will rob yourself of much pleasure and others of attention they would appreciate.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

In May

MY books all lay
Untouched today,
No wise man's words I pondered;
For just outside
In mellow tide
The sun his glory squandered.

Rare books which hold
Deep thoughts and old
That with great truths are reckoned
Will long endure,
But spring's bright lure
Is fleet; today she beckoned.

In May I learn
How life's fires burn
From every bird that passes;
In May I read
The daisies' screed,
Scrawled gaily through the grasses.

Tales that are Told

Then He Remembered

A CELEBRATED composer who had written a very successful "Romeo and Juliet" opera was paying his first visit to Stratford-on-Avon and being shown the memorials.

Suddenly he interrupted his friend's description of an old-world cottage.

"Shakespeare?" he queried. "Who was Shakespeare?"

The other was flabbergasted.

"My stars!" he exclaimed. "Didn't you set his 'Romeo and Juliet' to music?"

"Oh-h! Now I remember," replied the composer. "The librettist, eh?"

Lathered Language

THE two women had met whilst shopping in the village stores, and the first was relating an extraordinary accident which had occurred that morning.

"My dear," she began, "a really dreadful thing happened at breakfast this morning. My husband, you know, is very fond of those cornflakes, and, unfortunately, I gave him a saucerful of soapflakes by mistake."

The other was intrigued.

"Did he get very angry?" she asked. "Was he mad?"

"Was he mad?" echoed the first. "I'll say he was mad. He was foaming at the mouth."

Spoilt Her Sacrifice

UNEXPECTED company had turned up just in time for dinner, and little Lucy was told privately that she and her mother would have to have oyster soup without oysters.

The child was very flattered at her share in this splendid sacrifice to hospitality, and was apparently disappointed when she found one small oyster in her portion.

Holding it up in her spoon, she turned to her mother and in a stage whisper inquired:

"Mother, shouldn't Mrs. Mop have this oyster, too?"

Easy Enough

IT SEEMED that his health was in a bad state and, dispensing with a general practitioner, he went straight to a specialist.

"There's nothing really wrong with you," said the man of exorbitant fees. "Your nerves are a little frayed, perhaps. What you need is a holiday away from your friends in some quiet, restful spot."

The patient sighed regretfully.

"I shall be able to take the cure," he said miserably. "I'm a lighthouse-keeper."

Still Conscious

THE principal speaker at the dinner was a bore. One of the guests fell asleep. The chairman tapped him lightly on the head, but he dozed off again.

At last the snoring became audible and the chairman applied the hammer more heavily.

"Go on," was the sleepy remark, "hit me harder. I can still hear him."

A New Line

"WELL, the fact is my name is not Gibson," said a noted personage to a commercial traveler he had met in his hotel. "You see, I'm traveling incog."

"Really?" replied the commercial. "I'm traveling in pickles."

Horse Before Cart

"PUBLIC Opinion Will Stop War," says Dr. Butler.

It will if war is every stopped. It is the only thing that can stop it.

For it is public opinion which either forces war or backs it when it has begun. It rarely halts it.

But public opinion is more than fleeting emotion. When public opinion has ripened to the point where, throughout the enlightened nations, it deliberately insists upon setting up other means than war for deciding international differences, the problem of organizing those means will not be beyond the capacity or desire of statesmen.

The trouble with so many sighers for Utopia is that they want to set up the machinery and pledge its use before there is enough matured opinion to sustain it.

That does not bring peace. It is more liable to bring pledge-breaking.

More couples apply daily at the Little Church Around the Corner to be married than any other place in Greater New York. It is the metropolitan Gretna Green and the sidewalk in front is always strewn with rice and the gutters dotted with old shoes. While there are many marriages there, there are many disappointed couples turned away. Every prospective bride and groom is questioned carefully by the good Dr. Ray. More than a marriage license is required. He must be convinced the couples are alive to the sacred responsibilities and not responding to an impulse or they must go elsewhere.

Roger Wolf Kahn continues his jazz orchestra activities. At the writing he is taking a flyer into vaudeville. Those who thought his quixotic venture was the passing whim of a millionaire's son have found that not the case. In the beginning he is said to have borrowed an amount from his father to launch his musical career. This he paid back in a thoroughly business like way and he now has a comfortable bank balance acquired solely through his own efforts.

Young Kahn's gaudy night club was assumed to be a mere playpretty for him to toy with. His fathers' social prominence presaged a brilliant patronage. But it didn't click and the youth immediately put up the shutters rather than suffer further losses.

A Broadwayite with one of those hang-overs seldom seen, save in the Museum of Natural History under glass, walked into a cafe the other afternoon around 4 o'clock for breakfast. As he waited with his throbbing head sunk in his hands, a waiter dropped a tray of dishes with a resounding clatter. The dejected patron motioned for the proprietor and inquired feebly: "Would it be possible to have the waiter do that again? I want to feel his murder was justifiable."

Nature's Way

By DR. FRANK CRANE

When we get aphides on our rose bushes or worms on our tobacco leaves or moths in our orchard we use all kinds of poison spray.

This is man's way of controlling the pest, putting out poison, just as we poison rats or mice or other pests.

Nature's way of controlling the rats is by multiplying the cats and terrier dogs. Nature's way of controlling pestiferous insects is to multiply birds and other insect eating creatures.

The most vigorous insect eater that we know of is the bat.

He is not a pleasant sort of animal because he lives in dark places and flies by night, and there have been lots of naughty stories told about him.

All the same he is nature's means of reducing insects, and the conclusion of scientists is to the effect that if we are going to get rid of the codling moth and other pestiferous insects, the best way to do it is by multiplying bats.

We have clung to the poisoning business because there seemed to be no other remedy, but experimentation has proved that there is another remedy more in harmony with nature.

It has shown, also, that poison is injurious to the tree and to the fruit, also that it destroys the natural enemies of the codling moth. The spray residue has been declared injurious to health and almost impossible to remove.

Clogging the pores of the leaves interfers with the function of the leaf and makes smaller and inferior fruit.

Also spraying is expensive.

That the bat is the natural enemy of the codling moth in the apple-growing districts is known, because it can be found in every place where apples are grown.

The coddling moth was named after the "Codling apples" of Europe and introduced into the United States some time before 1750. It is the most serious insect pest which the apple grower of the United States knows. Its scientific name is "Carpocasa pomonella L." It is grayish brown with dark brown spots near the tip of the forewing; the wing span is three-fourths inch.

Nature has a way of balancing her different forms of life. When insects were created and the night-flying kind was brought into existence there was also created a predaceous night-flying parasite. Undisturbed, the insect eater would limit the number of insect pests.

The Secretary of Agriculture says, "We must rely upon natural enemies for the most efficient control. It would be worth enormous sums of money if the codling moth could be eradicated from any region."

By erecting bat roosts many districts in Texas have been rendered sanitary, as the bat eats the mosquito. Now it is proposed to put up bat roosts in the Yakima Valley in Washington and let the bats delimit our insects for us.

Right Angles

Move Up

YESTERDAY four friends of mine showed up.

Number one was the well-upholstered manager who was Janus-faced. With one face he looked to organization and did it like a general. With the other face he watched management and Napoleon might have applied as his understudy.

He moved up to retirement, whatever that may be. It may be limousines and launches or capital and combines. But anyway he wrapped up all of his financial worries in a wad and threw them in the waste basket. He's only a youngster yet as men go and now till old Sharon dips his oar my friend may try a hand at dream realization.

Number two had been serving as ambassador in a distant city and his sagacity and diplomacy were as irresistible as the smiles of Venus. Now he moves into the swivel chair of the manager. He was faithful over few things; now he shall be ruler over many. And incidentally a few very comfortable digits will be added to his monthly stipend.

Number three I have known best of the fortunate quartet. And I marveled not when I heard of his promotion. His mind is a Damascus blade and his judgment belongs on the supreme bench. His sense of the analytical is uncanny and he bandies deals in millions with the ease of a vocalist running the high C's.

He has been redubbed business manager and decorated with all the appropriate chevrons of authority and responsibility. To me he is a special wonder because the figures that business men juggle so dexterously drive me to grape juice. My friend can make a feather bed of deals and contracts. To me that would be nettles and siren blasts.

Number four cuts another notch in his gun because he has bagged the erstwhile job of number three. He is one of these big comfortable fellows clipped from the pages of a book on psychoanalysis. There is no worry in his lexicon nor hurry in his cosmos. He smiles and jokes his way through business mazes. And I have even heard him say damn on occasion.

They all moved up because they were ready. They had no noses to waste on grindstones of the immediate. They kept an optic cast ahead. Their readiness consisted in knowledge that didn't need to be conditioned. They found their former jobs in clay and left them in marble. No luck favored them and no pull helped them.
